Angelina Mangronite

"I'm glad I killed her," asserted Angelina Mangronite, 15-year-old Philadelphia girl who told police a pitiful story of being compromised by her victim's brother and then being forced to marry another man. She claimed to have shot Mrs. Dorothy D'Augustino to death when the latter continued to abuse her.

ETHIOPIAN ARMY DRILLED

Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.—Voluntary part-time military training for every male Ethiopian got under way as officials asserted this empire, if need be, could put an army of 800,000 well-armed men in the field.

Echoing Emperor Haile Selassie's oft-repeated statement that Ethiopia would be ready to fight "if forced to defend her independence," the officials said arms and equipment would show "incomparable superiority" over that the Ethiopian had at Addis.

(An ill-armed and ill-equipped, though numerically superior, Ethiopian army of about 100,000 men smashingly defeated an Italian expeditionary force of 13,000 at Addis on March 1, 1936, killing an estimated 7,000 white and native Italian troops and taking some 3,000 prisoners.)

Ethiopia's army of 800,000, the officials said, would consist of 26,000 expertly trained infantrymen, 700,000 ordinary infantrymen, and 80,000 cavalrymen organized on the old feudal basis.

(Italy, which for months has been shipping men and munitions to her east African colonies, is expected to have about 225,000 soldiers and workmen there by September, in addition to native troops. Military observers do not expect any hostilities before September, when the rainy season ends.)

FIRST LADY SPARED BLOW

Tiffin, O.—An attempt to criticize Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in a report of a special committee of the Ohio synod of the Reformed church met with a quick rebuke from delegates on the floor of the convention.

The report "lamented the growth of the cigarette habit," and "deplored the precept set for young people by the first lady of the land." The report was challenged immediately from the floor and its approval was held up until the clause referring to Mrs. Roosevelt was deleted.

the flood to anyone who has not personally viewed the damage it wrought over that widespread area.

School Meeting Held

The annual school meeting of District No. 36 was held June 10th at the high school in Greenwood.

Receipts for the past year, including a balance on June 10, 1934, of $468.06 cash, amounted to $9,166.74, while expenses for the past school year amounted to $7,913.30, leaving a balance of $1,253.44. In addition to this, half of the high school tuition money for the past year, amounting to about $600, had not been received from the county superintendent, and the school board had a letter from County Treasurer John E. Turner stating that by Sept. 15 our school could expect to have some $2,500 additional tax revenue, so when school begins in the fall there should be a balance on hand of somewhere around $1,500. With this amount and taxes for next year's levy, which was set at $8,000, the tuition, state apportionment, fines, licenses, etc., will bring the grand total to around $14,000.

The real expense last year was but $7,656.09, the additional $257.21 representing unpaid warrants carried over from the prior year and interest thereon. The vote to set the levy at $3,000 was carried 13 to 7.

A discussion was brought up by Chairman John E. Lambert on the matter of building an auditorium this year and patrons of the school district who were present at the meeting were asked to voice their opinion on the matter. Greenwood is sorely in need of such a building to hold school functions and the school board has information they can get a federal grant of from 30 to 45 per cent of the cost, this being in the form of an outright gift.

Approximate estimates of the cost of erection of an adequate auditorium show the sum needed to be around $11,000, and if they are able to secure the maximum 45 per cent grant, that would bring in almost $5,000 of the needed money, which with the healthy financial condition of the district at the present time would permit erection of the building and payment therefor in cash, without having to resort to bonds or any additional tax levy.

It was voted to call a mass meeting to be held tonight (June 24th) at 8:00 o'clock at the school house, when the matter will be laid before
