AVOCA NEWS

H. M. Lum was a visitor with relatives in Verdon last Sunday. Elmer Hennings and family were enjoying a visit last Sunday at the home of his parents, N. F. Hennings near Louisville and say it did rain there for sure.

H. M. Lum was called to Lincoln last Saturday where he went to attend the funeral of the mother of a cousin who had died in the west and was being buried at Lincoln.

Last Sunday water from the rain ran through the basement of the home of Dan Sudduth to the depth of six inches, they not being near the creek, but received only the excess of the water from the roadway.

Enjoyed Celebration Tuesday.
The people of Avoca who have from time immemorial celebrated the Fourth of July on July 21st, this year being no exception, celebrated the day properly in the street of Avoca with speeches, music and a general good time and sure they did have cats, ice cream and other things. There was singing on the streets and a few games of kittenball between the Avoca team and the team from Murdock. In all a very good time was had.

The Rain Last Sunday.
Sure there was a rain on last Sunday and a very copious one at that, in that it was lighter if we may call it that, but probably to say it was less heavy would be better. One and seven sixteenths inches fell in town while a few miles west over four inches was reported.

The creek south of town was on a rampage and a number of people went down to see the raging torrents among which were Supt. and Mrs. Larson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morley, and as well George Meyers and Oscar Zimmer. As the waters began to rise rapidly the two former couples turned around and drove to higher ground but when George Meyers assayed to do the same his engine killed and before he could get the unruly motor to working the water had enveloped it and continuing to rise flowed through the car and covered the headlights and radiator. George and Oscar slipped out of the car and with the Sunday garments had to wade with the water up to their breasts to get to land. The white trousers and white shoes of Oscar Zimmer were not fit to go to a wedding when he got out.

The flood left two feet of water and six inches of mud in the barn of J. F. H. Ruhge. W. H. Bogard had to move his chickens to higher ground and take his car from the garage, but it receded before it would have gotten over the car. Wm. Kepler lost eight head of calves and steers while a neighbor lost three. One farmer whose cattle were marooned on a high point of ground cut the wire fencing and turned them into a corn field thus saving them. Wm. Hollenberger says the water was higher than he had seen for 40 years and W. H. Bogard said he had resided in the same place for 35 years and this was the worst. The logs which floated away came from the pasture of Fred Marquardt.

RELIEF ALLOTMENT OF $200,000 MADE FOR FLOOD REGION

Lincoln, Neb., July 1.—Nebraska today was notified of a grant of 200 thousand dollars for flood relief work during July by the federal emergency relief administration.

The total grant to the state for the month was 916 thousand dollars. Rowland Haynes, FERA administrator for Nebraska, who recently resigned, had asked 975 thousand dollars.

The grant included the following allotments: 429 thousand dollars for general relief; 200 thousand dollars for flood relief; 250 thousand dollars for the "stricken agricultural areas," and 37 thousand dollars for transients.

The total is $273,242 less than that for June.

The allotment today was the first definitely earmarked for flood relief.

HEAVY GUARD FOR HITLER

Munich.—Extraordinary heavy guards were placed about Adolf Hitler, who came here to attend three Nazi functions. Storm troops and police stood close together along the streets Hitler used. For the first time the Austrian legion, composed of Nazi refugees from the neighboring country, was used for guard duty. A year ago the leader flew here from Berlin to deal with Capt. Ernst Roehm, storm troop leader who died in the Nazi "blood purge."

GERMANY MAY ENLIST FOREIGNERS IN ARMY

Berlin, July 1.—A decree by Adolf Hitler whereby the ministry of war is given permission to enlist foreigners in the Germany army was announced today.

The measure affects "persons who for some reason are not German citizens and Germans living abroad who want to serve the reich."

Librarian Home from a Trip to National Meet

Miss Verna Leonard Has Splendid Time in Session of National Association at Denver.

The American Library Association is the world's oldest and largest library association; founded in 1876, and having an international membership of more than 12,000—These members include library trustees, librarians and laymen interested in library work.

Fortunately, for those in the midst of this, 57th annual conference was held in Denver, and my good fortune to be able to attend. More than 2,200 were registered.

Headquarters were held in the Cosmopolitan Hotel, and all general sessions in the large Broadway Theater adjoining, where with the aid of the microphone every word was distinctly carried to all parts of the building.

The general sessions took up such matters as the library's obligation to its patrons; advisory reading, helps for study clubs, student helps and every phase of library work from the binding of books to the development of research and general routine work, as one librarian very aptly said: "The books do not order themselves, prepare themselves in the accessioning, and cataloguing department, and jump on the shelves ready for the patron" all of which must be done before they are ready for circulation.

Two one-hundredth anniversaries significant to American libraries were celebrated; that of Andrew Carnegie who gave sixty-five million dollars to endow three thousand libraries in all parts of the United States and in whose honor a luncheon was given where Chas. H. Compton, president of the ALA presided and was the principal speaker. In his address he said foreign nations had advanced far beyond us in library development; "when we know there are forty-five million persons in the U. S. are without library service distributed as follows: Colorado 44%, Kansas 53%, New Mexico 67%, Utah 32%, Texas 65%, Nebraska 50%, Wyoming 4%, which he said could be reached through federal aid, why hesitate to make this request."

In London there has been established a central students library that makes books available to students in the most remote parts of England. The other anniversary to be observed was a dinner given in the Brown Palace Hotel, in honor of the one-hundredth birthday of the first free children's library in Arlington, Mass. The guests of honor were Anne Carroll Moore, who is recognized as an outstanding authority on children's literature in U. S., also Monica Shannon, who in the afternoon, received the Newberry Award for the most distinguished contribution to children's literature during the year, the award is chosen secretly and announced at the A. L. A. conference. Miss Elizabeth Briggs, Cleveland, Ohio, presented the medal in a most gracious speech to Miss Shannon for her book "Dobry"—The awarding of this Newberry award is always made a very special event and largely attended.

The very splendid exhibits from publishing houses, library supply and equipment concerns is very interesting, the lists of books distributed will be helpful to us. One of the most unusual exhibits was the one brought from England by F. R. Mansbridge, consisting of one hundred books which were printed by the Cambridge University four hundred years ago, thru permission of Henry VIII, at a time when governments frowned on printed matter. These books are so precious that they are allowed to be displayed only on very special occasions. In this country they have only been shown in New York and Philadelphia, and now in Denver which will probably be the last time in this country. The titles of these books were compiled in a small booklet and distributed to librarians and may be seen at the library for anyone interested.

One of the most important subjects to come before the conference was that of seeking federal aid, the decision to seek such aid had been made at last year's convention in Montreal to procure 50 to 100 million dollars. However after much heated debate, and what for a time threatened an open breach the question was deferred for another year, which was a victory for those wanting "to keep the library out of politics."

A visit to the branch libraries, thru the courtesy of Miss Cook, supervisor of branch libraries in Denver was most interesting. The very lovely Ann Platt Dexter library built on the Ann Hathaway style, Eugene Field in Washington Park, which was the home of Eugene Field in pioneer days and transplanted to Washington Park by an admirer, and the Byers library built entirely by CCC workers. The interior is especially beautiful, being painted by a Colorado artist in conventional design.

It is a wonderful inspiration to attend an A. L. A. conference, to hear nationally known speakers, such as Chas. H. Compton, St. Louis; Robert Lester, secretary Carnegie Corp., New York; Arthur Bostwick, St. Louis; F. W. Faxon, Boston; Chas. E. Rush, Yale Uni.; S. B. Mitchell, Berkeley Uni., and many others. The contact with those who have made library work a lifetime study is an experience that will never be forgotten.

Chicago, Ill., July 1.—Nebraska agricultural prospects and general conditions are much improved according to Colonel C. B. Robbins, manager and general counsel of the American Life convention. Colonel Robbins based his report upon recent conferences with Omaha and Lincoln executives.

HIGHWAY ACCIDENTS TOLL

Chicago.—Death racing against its all time record of 36,000 people killed in traffic accidents last year, was almost even at the 1935 half-way mark. Preliminary estimates indicated that highway accidents took more than 15,000 lives during the first six months of 1935, only a few hundred less than during the same period of 1934. Up to the first of June figures compiled by the National Safety Council showed the 1935 death list had reached 12,050, only 550 below that of last year. The difference, officials of the council said, is about the number normally killed every July 4.

Blame for a part of the heavy accident toll was laid by officials of the safety council to increased operation of automobiles. The slight decrease in auto deaths was credited to widespread municipal and state safety campaigns, stringent enforcement of drunken driving laws, and the passage of drivers' license laws in several states.

FRESH FLOODS VISIT JAPAN

Tokyo.—Flood waters in western Japan attacked on a new front when the river Chikugo, in Fukuoka prefecture, swollen by sixty hours of rain, raced thru the city of Kerume and neighboring villages, inundating 60,000 homes and buildings. An estimated 300,000 persons were forced to flee their houses or take refuge on roofs or in upper stories. Because ample warning had been given it was believed the casualties were slight. The total known dead in the two days which floods and winds attacked the industrial heart of the empire was 53. Fresh floods swept north Kyushu prefecture. There was no report of casualties from Kurume and it was feared the list of victims would grow.

Dispatches said there was orderly evacuation of scores of thousands from low lying sections of Kurume. As the waters rose, residents took refuge in temples upon higher ground.
