THREE INJURED IN CRASH

North Platte.—Three persons were injured when the car in which they were riding struck a tree at an intersection in the residential district Monday afternoon. Mrs. R. E. Fall suffered cuts and bruises and a shoulder wound which required nine stitches to close. Mrs. Ray Thrasher, driving, and Frances Thrasher received cuts and bruises. All three are of North Platte.

The Thrasher car struck a tree and overturned when Mrs. Thrasher attempted to miss a truck driven by W. W. Beckley of Cozad. Beckley said he thought Mrs. Thrasher had intended to turn the corner. He was not injured.

ADMITS KILLING OF FATHER

Marshfield, Mo.—Lloyd Robinson, 18-year-old farm youth of near Marshfield, stood nervously before Circuit Judge C. H. Skinner here and pleaded guilty to murdering his father, Robert Robinson, 50, June 3. His mother, Mrs. Mary Robinson, 49, and their family physician, Dr. W. F. Schlicht of Niangua, also indicted will not be arraigned until Wednesday morning. Judge Skinner deferred sentencing Robinson until after the other two had entered pleas. Should he testify against them, it was pointed out, his sentence probably would be lightened.

CASH OF TREASURY IS LOW

Washington.—A 500 million dollar loan was asked by the treasury in the first new deal borrowing since the 1936 financial year opened just a week ago. For this half billion the government offered to pay 1 3-8 percent interest, a rate described by officials as unprecedentedly low for a similar issue. The securities put on sale were 4-year 5-month notes, dated July 15 and maturing Dec. 15, 1939. The loan asked was the first portion of more than 4 billions in new money the government must borrow if it spends the $8,520,000,000 estimated by President Roosevelt for this year and collects only $3,991,000,000 in estimated receipts.

Preparedness for heavy work relief expenditures was believed a factor in the financing. It was the first time new money had been borrowed in large sums since December, tho there was a 738 million refunding operation in June. Undersecretary Coolidge, in announcing the operation, said no especial significance should be attached to the issue. "Our cash is low," Coolidge said, "and this seemed a good market to get the money."

LIBERALS END ROUND TRIP

New York.—Fifteen zealous young American liberals, fresh from a Cuban detention camp, landed at the foot of Wall street to gaze upon banners proclaiming, "American capital is destroying Cuban liberty."

Hard on their heels as they strode down the gangplank in the role of deportees from the island republic was a Cuban industrial magnate, Frank Stinhardt, one of the objects of their spleen. He was all smiles, no conversation.

The group made a round trip from pier 13 East river to pier 13 East river by way of Havana in just a week. They sailed last Saturday with the announced purpose of investigating political and social conditions in Cuba. Cuba found them "undesirable aliens," marched them forth with to the Tiscorna detention camp—where the fare was unpalatable and the beds hard, they complained—and reshipped them north after seventeen hours of grilling.

SCENIC ROAD TURNED DOWN

Alliance, Neb.—Advocates of a contemplated three states highway system are considering making new efforts toward securing the project, after receipt of word that the proposed roads apparently had been refused federal approval. The network of highways would have carried travelers from Denver north thru Nebraska's panhandle and Alliance, and on to the Black Hills.

A group in the three states, headed by L. T. Poole of Sidney, president of the Denver-Black Hills Highway association, has been promoting the roads for several years. The proposed roads would link two of the scenic spots of the west, the Colorado Rockies and the Black Hills, and for this reason advocates had felt sure the project would be included among those receiving federal aid. New efforts for the highways will be started immediately, it was indicated by Poole and Earl Mallory of the Alliance chamber of commerce.

FARM INDUSTRY RECOVERS

Chicago.—While one army harvested the nation's crops, another estimated at 60,000 strong by trade authorities worked at top speed to supply the heaviest demand for farm implements in five years. Continuing the big gains it registered last year, the farm equipment industry was termed by its institute to have approached currently within 5 to 10 percent of normal employment.

The farm equipment institute regards the average for the years 1928-29-30, the year before, of and following the industry's recent sales peak, as its normal.

"Our employment now," said a representative of the institute, "is 45 to 50 percent in excess of that a year ago. Hay making and grain harvesting machinery are in especially good demand."

BISHOP CALLS ON POPE

Vatican City.—Pope Plus received in private audience Bishop Louis B. Kucera of Lincoln, Neb., who reported along general lines the religious progress achieved in his diocese since he was appointed five years ago. The bishop talked with his holiness twenty minutes concerning religious topics. The bishop said the pope asked him about the economic situation in the diocese, and expressed great concern and sympathy for the unemployed. The bishop presented Rev. Father Francis Toney of Chicago to the pope, who imparted the apostolic blessing.

Steps to Avert Too Great Boom If It Breaks Out

U. S. Government Fortifies Against a Runaway Market Like That of 1929.

Washington.—Slowly the Roosevelt new deal leadership is hammering into shape its additional levers designed to aid in controlling the widely discussed "coming American boom"—if and when it materializes. Amid some forecasts of brightening business prospects, two of the most important levers bearing the new deal stamp, the utilities and the Eccles bank bills, took on more definite form in congress the past week. Both trace their heritage directly back to the last big boom, the speculative exuberance which found its main outlet in the stock market in 1928 and 1929.

Some new deal exponents see them as logical stepping stones from the earlier milestones in the Roosevelt administration's program of financial reform—the securities act of 1933, the stock exchange control measure passed last year and the banking act of 1933. At any rate supporters of the utilities and the credit control bills have dipped deeply into the lessons of the post war boom days, and the subsequent crash as a background for proposals to strengthen the federal government's hands against a recurrence of speculative abuses.

Recall Last Big Spurge.

The utilities bill, finally approved by the house, minus its famous "death sentence," particularly recalls the last spurge of the bull market. It was the utility holding company shares which started in the final rocketlike ascent of the market in the summer of 1929. The shorn by the house of its mandate for elimination of "unnecessary" holding companies, supporters of the utilities bill contend it would go far to prevent a return of speculative abuses. They view it as the completion of a circle of regulation which began with the passage of the securities act two years ago. Champions of the Eccles bill also have capitalized on events in the last boom and talk of another wave of credit inflation to push their favorite measure through congress.

Some of the financial heads in the new deal family have been emphasizing that the materials for an unprecedented expansion of credit—and fuel for a business boom—lie dormant in the nation's great stock of gold and silver, the liquidated condition of the banking structure and accumulated demand for goods. The monetary metal supply has increased rapidly while the bank bill has been plodding on its congressional course. It now exceeds 10 billions. The federal government remains the chief user of available credit. Some business observers, however, profess to see indications of a turn in the credit trend.

As it emerged from the senate subcommittee, the Eccles bill had been toned down considerably. Nevertheless, it would put broader powers in the federal reserve board to use central banking levers to check credit inflation. Its leading proponents hailed the senate draft as a recognition of the principle of centralized monetary control.

PRESS WINS COURT FIGHT

Topeka.—The Kansas supreme court held that newspaper have the right to discuss the records of public officials and to call attention of voters to facts they believe to be true relative to candidates for public office.

The court reversed judgment of the Riley county district court in awarding Hurst Majors, former mayor of Manhattan, $1,750 damages against Pay N. Seaton. Majors asked $30,000 damages for attacks made on him by the newspaper during his campaign for street and utility commissioner.

In laying down its ruling, the court said: "In connection with the coming municipal election, it is the right, if not the duty, of the publisher of the newspaper of the city, to call to the attention of the citizens facts which he honestly believes to be true, together with such comment thereon as is reasonably connected therewith, for the purpose of enabling the electors to vote more intelligently at the election, and if done in good faith, the publication is privileged even tho some of the statements may be untrue or derogatory to the character of the candidate."

Nehawka

John G. Wunderlich and wife were visiting last Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. C. A. Rosenkrans, in Plattsmouth.

Miller Christensen and family were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marler last Sunday, enjoying a sumptuous dinner there.

Earl Troop, who is employed by a contracting firm operating a dragline outfit at Paxton, Nebr., was a visitor at home over the week end.

Tommy Troop has been assisting Contractor J. A. Scotten with the construction of a bridge near the home of E. G. Ruffner, for the county.

Misses Violet, Helen and Almira Rodeker, of Halsey, Nebr., spent the past week as guests of their friend, Miss DeLene Carper, of Nehawka.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Lloyd and daughter, Dorothy, were guests last Sunday at the home of Mrs. Laura Fleischmann, where they enjoyed a sumptuous dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fleischman and children were visiting last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Engelke, residing some six miles west of Murray, where they enjoyed a sumptuous dinner.

W. H. Kruger, manager of the service and bulk station of the Trunkenholz Oil company here, was a visitor in Union last Monday morning, taking over a truck load of gasoline and kerosene, which he delivered to the company's station there.

Miss Cathleen Rood, of Burr, who has been visiting here with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Neils Anderson, for the past two weeks, returned home with her parents and other members of the family who came over Sunday for a short visit.

The American Legion Auxiliary ladies recently purchased a stove for use in preparing dinners, and found it to be in need of repairs, whereupon John G. Wunderlich tore it apart and repaired the leaking joints, placing it back in condition to render efficient service.

Enjoyed Party at Church

The congregation of the Otterbein church north of Nehawka gathered at the church with well filled baskets and celebrated the Fourth with a patriotic program and later all enjoyed a very fine supper together at the church.

Rev. Engebretson Very Poorly

While Rev. Engebretson has been off on account of ill health, the services have been conducted by Mrs. Engebretson, both at the Nehawka church and the country church. It is hoped that Rev. Engebretson will be improved soon to a point where he can resume the duties of his pastorate.

Improving the Streets

The streets of Nehawka are being placed in good condition through the doing of considerable grading, prior to the spreading of several carloads of gravel thereon. The heavy rains this spring not only washed away much of the gravel but cut the roadways considerable and it has been to correct this that the present work was undertaken.

Spent Sunday Here

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Steffens of Lorton, parents of J. H. Steffens and Mrs. Albert Anderson, were visiting in Nehawka last Sunday, guests of their children here, being accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schroder and their daughter, Joan, of Enid, Oklahoma, who are spending some time in this vicinity. Frank Horstman and wife and their daughter, Gertrude, of Talmage, were also among the guests at the Albert Anderson and John H. Steffens homes for the day.

Tells of Iowa Flood

Mr. and Mrs. Arno Wessell and their little daughter, of Des Moines, were spending the Fourth of July at the home of Mrs. Wessell's parents in Omaha and came to Nehawka on last Friday, visiting at the home of Mr. Wessell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wessell until Sunday morning, when they departed via auto for their home in Des Moines. Arno tells of the waters overflowing the Des Moines river so that it was hup deep to the automobiles in the city of Valley Junction, which is a suburb of Des Moines, located to the west and south of the town further up the river.

Attended Bankers Meeting

Biden Hall of Snobomish, Washington, was a visitor in Nehawka for a short time last week, being a guest at the home of his brother, Charles Hall, and also renewing acquaintance with other friends and relatives here. Mr. Hall had been in attendance at a bankers' meeting in Chicago, where he met a large number of bankers from the east who were interested in learning about conditions in the west, especially through Washington and Oregon, and he was able to inform them that things there are in much better shape, with prospects of a return of general prosperity—the thing all of us are looking forward to.

Busy with Harvesting

Melvin Sturm, who has a very nice crop of small grain, has begun harvesting the same and has had a number of workers in the field shocking the bundles as they came from the binder. It won't be long until he will be ready for the threshing crew.

Has Car Damaged on Highway

Eugene Hicks was in Nebraska City last Saturday night, and as he was en route home, had his car run into from the rear by a car driven by a Fort Crook soldier, who was also driving north on Highway 75, the accident occurring but a short distance out of Nebraska City. The windshield in Mr. Hicks' car was broken from the force of the impact, as was also the rear glass and much other damage done the car. Mr. Hicks asked that the driver of the other car be made to pay the damage and says if this is not done he will have the law invoked. The soldier, who was said to be under the influence of liquor and who told Nebraska City police officers he was sure the car was parked on the road when he hit it, was placed in jail to await settlement for the injuries and damage. Mr. Hicks said they were driving along about 25 or 30 miles an hour, when the other car came up from behind and plowed right into them.

American Red Cross Active

The Cass County Chapter of the American Red Cross has an enrolled membership of some 600 persons and maintains nine branch chapters in the county, one of which is located in Nehawka. Others include Alvo, Manley, Murray, Mynard, Plattsmouth, Louisville (with the largest enrollment), Plattsmouth, South Bend, Washburn and Weeping Water.

The officers are as follows: Miss Augusta Robb, of Union, chairman; Mrs. Henry A. Tool, of Murdock, secretary; Mrs. Ray Norris, of Weeping Water, Home Service chairman; Miss Alpha Peterson, of Plattsmouth, Junior Red Cross chairman; A. H. Duxbury, of Plattsmouth, chairman of Veterans' relations. The First Aid instruction chairman is inactive, and there is also to be appointed a new chairman of Disaster Relief.

The Cass County chapter and its various branches have met the call for relief, both locally and state and nation-wide in a splendid manner, and also have other projects to which they are devoting their efforts. One of these is the maintaining of swimming and life-saving instruction during the coming few weeks along the same general lines as were followed last year, when a large number were taught the rudiments of correct swimming and others who could swim were qualified for junior and senior lifesavers.

Among other things which they have in mind are: Increase in membership, enlisting more people in the work; Enrollment of each school in the Junior Red Cross; Extension of aid to ex-service men and their families; Teaching of every child to swim, and the making of qualified life-savers out of qualified swimmers. All of these objectives are most laudable and it would be well for every resident of Cass county to support the program by being enrolled as a member at the small cost of $1 per year. All who can in any way aid in bringing about these objectives, will find their help greatly appreciated.

RFC HEAD ADVISES RAILS

Washington.—Reconstruction Corporation Chairman Jones said the pending senate investigation of railroad financing should have no effect on carrier reorganization plans now in progress.

He asserted most of the faults of railroad operations and financing already were known and that they would be borne in mind in any plan with which the corporation had anything to do.

The chairman added one of the prerequisites of corporation aid in reorganization proceedings would be that the expenses be reasonable, both as to attorney's fees and the expenses of bondholders' committee.
