Seek to Start Soak-Thrifty Taxes Sept. 1

Roosevelt and House Members Clash
on Provisions—Inheritances
Are Endangered.

Washington, July 23.—Staggering taxes on inheritances, even those as low as $10,000, were agreed on Tuesday by the house and means committee as it struggled with President Roosevelt's demands for "soak the thrifty" legislation.

Despite drastic schedules tentatively agreed on, the committee's statistical experts revealed they would yield the federal treasury only 100 million dollars annually.

Simultaneously it became known the administration is pressing to have the proposed taxes made effective Sept. 1 and that there is such sharp division of opinion between the committee and the president a conference may be called.

Brain Trust Victory.
The inheritance tax schedule as agreed to Tuesday was looked on as a victory for the administration "brain trust."

The tentative inheritance plan would grant a $50,000 exemption for blood kin with the tax starting at 4 per cent on the next $10,000. It would run to 75 per cent on 10 millions or more.

For non-relatives, the tax exemption inheritance would be only $10,000. No rates have been agreed on in this bracket, but it is understood they will be stepped up over those for blood relatives.

Yield Is Divided.
Committee experts divided the estimated yield from the two groups at $92,500,000 for blood kin taxes and $6,800,000 for non-blood kin.

There has been little discussion on income surtax rates, but it is believed the major increases will come on incomes beyond $150,000.

Chief conflict between Presidential views and those of committee democrats are on the graduated corporation tax.
