

Nehawka

The Farmers Oil company received a car load of gasoline Monday, which was unloaded into their tanks.

Warren McGuire and wife, of Nebraska City were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Burton last Sunday evening.

Anton Rys, of Plattsmouth, was a visitor in Nehawka last Monday and was looking after some business matters, conferring with Herbert Kuntz. John Chambers and wife, of Omaha, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lemon for over the week end, where they enjoyed a very pleasant visit.

Mark Burton and family were at Murray Sunday evening where they were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Jacob Stones, son-in-law and daughter of the Burtons.

C. Steffens and wife, of Lorton, spent a short time in Nehawka last Sunday evening, being guests at the homes of J. H. Steffens and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson.

The Nehawka schools will open on Monday, September 2. Everything is in readiness for the opening with the exception of the room used by the Agricultural class and that is being painted by Caretaker Mark Burton.

The Men's Brotherhood, of the Methodist church, which has a membership of something over a half hundred men of the community will not meet until in October, the weather being considered too warm for holding of summer meetings.

James J. Pollard and wife, while riding about last Sunday evening, made it a point to go past the new oil well site, where the derrick has been completed and everything is in readiness to "spud in" as soon as some additional machinery now on the way, arrives. It is an unusual sight to see an oil well derrick in this part of the country and many journey to the scene to look it over.

Communion and Baptism

At the regular services held at the Methodist church here last Sunday, communion or the Lord's Supper was administered and the baptismal rite was also conferred on a son of Robert Taylor and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wessell.

Spoke at Beaver Crossing

Commander "Bill" Kruger of the 12th Nebraska district, American Legion, accompanied by the family, drove to Beaver Crossing last Sunday to attend the picnic and supper being given there by the Legion, and at which Mr. Kruger made an address, stressing the importance of membership and other matters. They returned home late that night, coming thru rain part of the way. Mr. Kruger is making it a point to visit each post in his district at regular intervals, which takes considerable traveling about, as the district comprises Cass, Otoe, Lancaster and Seward counties.

Visiting in Missouri

A. B. Rutledge departed Saturday night for Fordland, Mo., where his father, C. A. Rutledge, 88 years of age, resides. The father has been ill for some time and on account of his advanced age continues in rather feeble condition. The son planned to remain there for some time, visiting with the parents, assisting in the care of his father and looking after business matters.

Saw Many Interesting Things

The three Nehawka men, D. C. West, George Hansen and Bobbie Wunderlich, who made a trip up into Canada, a distance of some 1,500 miles from here, have returned home in a very enthusiastic state of mind over the many beautiful sights they had seen. Mr. West had land interests to look after in that part of the country, while Mr. Hansen went to visit with friends and Bobbie Wunderlich went along as driver of the car and to see the wonderful country.

They were especially pleased with Lake Louise, one of the beauty spots of Canada. They passed through Yellowstone park on their way, finding it very interesting but quite tame as compared with many of the sights of the northland. You can get some idea of the grandeur and beauty of this country by looking at the pictures Mr. West has brought back with him.

They had no car trouble and covered plenty of miles each day, finding the roads generally good everywhere they went. Much different than a dozen or so years ago, when a trip of a few hundred miles was a hazardous undertaking, conditional on weather, as there were few hard surfaced roads and little if any paving outside the larger cities and territory nearby.

Dislocated Hip Joint

Mark Burton and family visited in Nebraska City last Saturday, where they visited Mrs. Burton's relatives, especially one sister, Mrs. Elton Gilman, who recently suffered a severe fall that caused dislocation of her hip joint. They found her in bed, with a 20 pound weight suspended from her foot in order to hold the joint in proper position while it knits, and she will have to remain in that position for some time, which is not very pleasant in this hot weather.

Home from a Wonderful Outing

The ten Boy Scouts who accompanied Superintendent E. C. Stimbirt, their Scoutmaster, on a trip to the Rocky mountains, returned home last Sunday, a somewhat tired but happy and enthusiastic group of American lads. They were also accompanied on the trip by Glen Rutledge, Nehawka editor, and by the father of Mr. Stimbirt, who they picked up at Inland on the way out. The trip took them to Denver, Colorado Springs and many other interesting places in that part of the west. They were especially pleased with their visit to the Royal Gorge, which is so immense they were surprised and astonished. One of the boys says it was large enough that if used for a pit silo it could easily hold all the corn, hay and alfalfa being grown in Nebraska this year. Anyhow, the boys had a fine time and saw a great many interesting sights, did some mountain climbing, enjoyed the cool weather and returned home with plenty of pep and enthusiasm, as well as a widened knowledge of the country through which they passed.

The boys who made the trip are Burnell Adams, Jack Wunderlich, Ivan Hansen, Marion Hoback, Wesley Stone, George Pauls, Harold Bates, Lester Shradre and Eugene Nutzman, of this vicinity, and Billie Rosenkrans, of Plattsmouth.

Fred Nutzman Interviewed

The Omaha Drivers Journal-Stockman recently interviewed Fred L. Nutzman, well known farmer of this vicinity and former legislator, who was on the market with livestock and what he had to say about the triple A program has been given widespread publicity in the daily press of the state. "There has been too much so-called helping the farmers in recent years," declared Mr. Nutzman. "The farmers don't need or want help. All they want is to be left alone to conduct their affairs as they see fit. They say that farmers are 100 per cent for the AAA program. In our part of the state they are not. We had a meeting of a group of 65 or 70 representative farmers and when we took a vote that group was 100 per cent against the AAA.

"For a long period of years the government spent millions in educating the farmers. He was taught how to knock out bugs and pests; how to increase the fertility of the soil; how to boost production. Now, they've gone to the other extreme and are spending more millions to induce him to reduce production. We can't raise too much. If we produce and don't consume, we still have what we produced, whereas if we do not produce we have nothing. The scheme does help the thousands it creates administrative jobs for, but it does not help the farmer.

"There were a third less signers for the corn hog plan in that vicinity this year than there were a year ago. While many look at it in the light of 'getting while the getting is good,' and take advantage of the opportunity to get all the government's money they can, others are averse to taking the bootleg money as they call it. They'd rather produce and sell their product than get money for not producing.

"The vote on continuance of the plan was a farce. Signers were given pink slips and nonsigners white slips. Then the white slips were thrown out and only the pink slips counted. Even so there was only a scant margin of votes in favor of the plan. That was just as if in the election of a county sheriff all votes but those of the bootleggers were thrown out."

Fred C. Ayres Chosen to be State Auditor

Governor Cochran Acts, Deeming That Emergency Exists by the Death of William B. Price.

Considering that an emergency exists Governor Cochran announced the appointment of Fred C. Ayres, present deputy state auditor, to be state auditor to fill the vacancy caused by the sudden death of William B. Price, who was serving his second term as auditor of public accounts. Mr. Price died Monday night of heart ailment.

Under the constitution and statutes death vacates the office. Appointing power to fill such vacancies is lodged with the governor. There was no known precedent of death of a state executive officer during a term of office and for the first time the question of the right of a deputy executive officer to serve for his principal after death arose at the capitol.

In the meantime all financial business of the state so far as issuance of warrants on the treasury from the state auditor's office ceased and business of the state was practically at a standstill as was the case during nearly the whole of the month of January when State Treasurer Hall was unable to obtain a surety bond from insurance companies.

In the matter of the death of State Auditor Price, Treasurer Hall took the position that there is no one in the auditor's office with authority to issue warrants upon the treasury. Deputy Auditor Ayres, also under bond, could not be sure he had authority to pass upon claims for his principal or as de facto auditor.

Governor Cochran conferred with Attorney General Wright who asked time to investigate court decisions. In order to avoid stoppage of the state's business Governor Cochran deemed the emergency sufficient to call for immediate appointment of an auditor of public accounts.

The governor's appointment of Ayres is to be effective until his successor is elected and qualified. An election cannot be held until the fall of 1936. The term of office is until January, 1937.

Governor Cochran said he considered Mr. Ayres qualified by character, experience and training to fill the office of state auditor in a manner creditable to himself and the state. Mr. Ayres has had long experience in conducting business of the state. He served four years as deputy state auditor under W. H. Smith, from 1915 to 1919. He served part of a two year term as deputy under Charles W. Pool, secretary of state. He has also served as examiner for the state insurance department and in other capacities has been in the state service. He formerly lived at Holbrook, being a member of a pioneer family of Nebraska. He has lived many years in Lincoln and is a printer by trade and has had experience as a newspaper publisher. He has been identified with the democratic party.

All state officials and employees mourned the death of Auditor Price, and arrangements were made to close all state offices during the funeral services Thursday afternoon at 1:30.

CATTLE RUSTLING REVIVED

Chicago.—High prices for livestock have brought about a revival in "cattle rustling." Private police at the Chicago union stockyards have received requests from sheriffs throughout the country to be on the watch for stolen livestock. New methods, the reports state, where a truck backs up to a farm fence, the rustler cuts the wires and the stock are driven into the truck, have supplanted the old.

WAKES OVER MAYOR JOB

Aurora, Neb.—James D. Schoonover, president of the Aurora city council, is carrying on the duties of mayor as the result of the resignation of Mayor Frank E. Quinn. Quinn's resignation was presented last Friday and accepted unanimously. He has spent much of his time recently with his children at Kimball and said this interfered with his official duties. Indications point toward a com-

County Song Group

The County Song Group is holding regular rehearsals in preparation for the State Fair. Sixteen members have been selected to represent Cass county in the song division. From this group eight members will be designated to compete in the song identification division. The name of the opera and composer must be identified from hearing a composition played on a victrola record.

The song group consists of: Dorothy Sudduth, Jean Stutt, Betty Ross, Ruth Anne Sheldon, Betty Ost, Florence Schafer, Kathleen Schafer, Ruth Jeanne Meier, Thelma Ward, Frances Rehemeier, Margaret Jane Robinson, Oscar Brandt, James Schafer, Malcolm Pollard, Ellis Schlichtemeyer.

Mrs. H. L. Kunz is accompanist for the group and Mrs. Fred Nutzman is the director.

Trench Silos

Trench silos are not new to Cass county farmers, their use being more or less common in most localities.

If the warm dry weather should continue, farmers will find that a trench silo will solve the feed conservation problem again this winter. Corn that will not produce grain can be ensilaged at a nominal cost and will help provide adequate feed where grain is scarce this winter. It is advisable to run the green fodder thru a silage cutter although bundle silage has proved successful if properly packed. The top of the silo can be sealed with a thick layer of straw or four to six inches of dirt.

Many farmers found that the dirt cap was hard to get off last winter while others took advantage of a dry top last winter and scraped the dirt off leaving about two inches. The four to six inch layer allowed a good seal while fermentation was going on and when later removed to two inches this cap was easily handled in freezing weather.

A typical trench silo is about ten feet wide at the top, tapering to six or seven foot width at the bottom and six to 10 feet deep. The length is determined according to the capacity desired.

A plow is usually used to loosen up the soil and then removed with a scraper. Where the ground is too hard to plow, dynamite may be used to break up the earth and permit its removal with a scraper. When dynamite is used only for breaking up the soil, one pound of explosive is usually sufficient for four cubic yards.

The Home Economics Council, comprise of the county and group chairmen of Women's project clubs, met and made plans for a booth exhibit at State Fair. The exhibit will show possibilities of making Home Tailored Accessories from inexpensive materials as well as from old garments.

At this same time plans were made for project club exhibits at County Fair. The chairman of each group with the assistance of the project leaders for the past year will be responsible for these exhibits. The chairmen include, Miss Evelyn Wolph and Mrs. George Sheldon, Nehawka; Mrs. Everett Spangler, Murray; Mrs. Arthur Schoeman, Louisville; Mrs. Oscar Zink, Murdock; Mrs. Orill Allen, Eagle; Mrs. G. E. Eveland, Elmwood; and Mrs. Olive Murty, Weeping Water.

Records show that Malcolm and Robert Pollard have each entered shorthorn baby beves; Morris Robertson, Harlan Kunz, Myrl Kunz, Alvin Weyers, Clyde Althouse, and Cleo Bergmann are each exhibiting a Hereford baby beef and Raymond Manners has two Hereford beves.

Morris Robertson, Myrl Kunz and Clyde Althouse have Angus steers. Myrl Kunz, Malcolm Pollard, Robert Pollard, Merritt Pollard, James Schafer, and Florence Schafer have each entered a Galloway steer while Raymond and Oscar Brandt each have two Galloway steers.

Cleo Bergmann and Robert Wall are each exhibiting two fat wethers. Everett Rockenbach has entered a Hampshire barrow. George Oberle will exhibit a Chester White boar and a Chester White gilt. James Schafer has entered his Duroc Jersey litter with separate entries in the gilt and boar classes.

Indications point toward a commendable showing of meat and breeding animals from Cass county.

4-H Achievement Days

Sixteen of the 61 summer 4-H clubs in the county have completed their summer work and have held their local achievement programs. Clubs who wish to award their certificates of achievement to club members and have their seal to attach to their charter at the time of their program should get their reports and leader's summary to this office at least two weeks before the date of the program. Many of the clubs have already filed their final reports which are due on or before September 1st.

Honored this week for their work in helping conserve and restore wild life in Nebraska were fifty 4-H boys and girls and local leaders from all parts of the state. They were announced as prize trip winners to the first annual "Conservation Camp" to be held at Seward, August 20 to 23.

The Cass country trip winners as announced from Lincoln are Marjorie Zink, Murdock, and Margie Ruth Pollard, Nehawka.

"The prize trip winners and others who have taken an active interest in restoring and conserving wild life are to be complimented," L. I. Frisbie declared in making the announcement. "Most certainly they are leading a worth while movement to keep beneficial wild life in Nebraska."

Local plans are now being completed for the big camp at Seward by K. C. Fouts, agricultural agent in Seward county. Prominent state officials and wild game authorities will appear on the four-day program.
