PLAYS IN REHEARSAL

Rehearsals are being held almost nightly at the high school, of the two plays to be presented by the Wintersteen Hill P. T. A. on Tuesday, November 26th.

Two strong casts have been selected from among Plattsmouth's array of local stage talent to feature this new idea in local stage presentations, that of a double feature or twin bill program.

In "Dumb Dora," a farce comedy built around the antics of a servant girl of Scandinavian descent are: Edna Herring, who plays the servant girl; Clement Woster, cast as her employer "Mr. Hartsall"; Til Olson, as "Mrs. Hartsall"; Mary Swatek, as "Arlene," their daughter, and Chris Bullin, who plays "Arlene's" suitor.

Previews of the comedy indicate that laughs in all languages, including the Scandinavian, will be rampant.

The closing half of the show, which will follow a group of specialties in vaudeville style, will be entirely different in dramatic type from the first play, and is entitled "The Valiant," an episode built around the last minutes in the life of a man condemned to die on the gallows. Greth Garnett will play the prisoner.

"The Message of Haggai and Zechariah"

Two new characters are introduced to us. Haggai, meaning "my feast," and Zechariah, meaning "Jehovah remembers." Nothing positive is known of their ancestry nor their early life, only that they were called for a specific work, to encourage the rebuilding of the second temple, which was done after the return from exile, 539-516 B. C. For details of the return, rebuilding of the walls of Jerusalem and the beginning of rebuilding of the temple and the hindrances and discouragements, we must study the books of Ezra and Nehemiah; the 84th Psalm finds its place here; the builders of this temple are Zerubbabel and Joshua, very prominent among the Jews. The foundation is laid—but the money brought from Babylon gives out—the work lags—then it stops entirely.

At this juncture an epoch-making incident occurs. The Samaritans came with a request to be allowed to help build the temple. This was refused. (The Samaritans consisted of the descendants of the Israelites who had escaped the captivity of the northern kingdom, and of foreign colonists who had been brought in first by Sargon, men of Babylon, Cuthah, Avva, Harmath and Sepharphaim (II Kings 17: 24) and by Esar-haddon (Ezra 4:2). Had the request been granted it would have utterly destroyed the original purpose and the future success of such an undertaking. Undoubtedly many of these had become intermixed with Assyrian Colonists.

From that time on, throughout the remaining history of Israel and into the N. T., to the destruction of Jerusalem, the Jews and Samaritans were enemies. (See John 4:9). For further light, see Ezra 4:1-24.

Every undertaking for good has its enemies who seek to hinder. Now comes the messenger of Jehovah, with a stirring message to the weary and discouraged Jews.

Haggai is the first prophet of the post-captivity period, an old man, supposed to have been born in captivity and returned from Babylon. His work was finished within two years. It was his supreme mission to arouse the Jews to rebuild the temple of Solomon. No prophet ever preached more directly or more earnestly nor was ever a prophet more successful. The message of the prophet was to be delivered to Zerubbabel, the governor, and Joshua the high priest.

The lagging of the building was condemned. They were careful to have good homes, but cared not for the sanctuary. It is so in this day—many a church is in a shabby, neglected condition, while the members live in mansions.

Wilbur Hall, the prison warden, Rev. G. A. Pahl, the prison chaplain. Bernice Wieland plays the only feminine role in the play, that of a girl seeking to identify the prisoner as her long-lost brother. Paul Vanderhoor and Roy Olson play bit roles, as the prison jailer, and attendant.

Dramatic moments, packed with emotion, fill the acting time of this famous play which has been presented on the radio and has for one of its collaborators, Holworthy Hall, noted writer.

SOCIAL WORKERS FLOWER CLUB

On Wednesday afternoon the Social Workers Flower club met at the home of Mrs. Mike Kaffenberger, with Mrs. Albert Wheeler and Mrs. Walter Martin assisting hostesses. After the business meeting the remainder of the afternoon was spent with an appropriate program for Armistice and Thanksgiving day, which was greatly enjoyed by all. Mrs. Jim Wurga was admitted as a new member and Mrs. Guy White was present as a visitor. A dainty two-course luncheon was served by the hostesses. The December meeting will be the annual Christmas party, to be given at the home of Mrs. Chas. Manners on December 11.

Much want and misery exists in the world because men will not acknowledge and serve God. Verse 7 corroborates this statement. The admonition is for men to "consider their ways"—stop and put God's yardstick to their actions and see how near they come to fulfilling Deut. 6:4-9.

Now God says, through the prophet, "Get busy, get material and build" and I will do my part—if they would trust him. The silver and gold are his, and he will provide the means. If men would serve God in the beauty of holiness, our troubles would soon disappear, the "depression" would be a myth—in fact, it would never have happened.

The promise that the glory of this house shall be greater than the first temple—if this passage is to be a literal fulfillment, it must be in a temple yet to be built—would it point to the temple described in Eph. 2:20-22? Even Herod's temple did not excel in splendor and costliness the temple of Solomon. Assurance is given to Zerubbabel that the building would be completed; but the regeneration of Israel would and the new birth of the nation could and would not be brought about by "might or power, but by the Holy Spirit" who works unobserved, quietly, like a leaven, but produces results.

A revival cannot be produced by artificial means, not even by an evangelist, to which churches often resort; hence the failures. Only the spirit of God can bring life into the spiritually dead (Ezek. 37:1-14). Assurance is given Zerubbabel that all the obstacles, even if they were like mountains, would disappear.

Even in Pilgrim's Progress, the lions that Christian saw ahead in the way, which frightened him, were found to be chained and could only go so far. So are our troubles—"take them to the Lord in prayer" and they may even be turned into a blessing. The "seven eyes of Jehovah," one for each day in the week, will observe and see all things that could harm us, and guide us safely past the dangers. As we look more closely, we seem to see the linaments of Zerubbabel melt away into the features of the Prince of the house of David, and the task on which he was then engaged merged into the building of the temple of Jehovah as set forth by the prophet in chapter 6, verses 12 to 15. Murray

Earl Wolfe of Union was a business visitor in Murray Saturday.

Bart Wagner visited with friends and looked after some business in Plattsmouth last Sunday.

Victor Wehrlein and family spent last Sunday at the home of Robert Troop and wife, at Syracuse.

Harry Warthen, of Plattsmouth, was looking after some business matters in Murray and calling on his friends here.

D. C. Young and family of Plattsmouth were guests at the home of his brother, Albert Young and family last Thursday afternoon and evening.

Arnold Mast has been having a siege with boils, which are said to be good for one's health, but very inconvenient and painful to say the least.

Lucean Carper was a visitor in Omaha Monday morning of this week, making purchase of some goods for the store and looking after matters of business.

The Murray lumber yard received a car load of coal last Monday, it getting here just in time as the bins were getting pretty low and cold weather in the way.

M. G. Churchill was host at a dinner partaken of by himself and his friend, George S. Ray, the two cronies enjoying not only their meal together, but a splendid visit afterwards.

Mrs. Fred Drucker spent the week end in Lincoln visiting her daughter, Miss Dorothy Yost, who is attending the University of Nebraska and has been making some splendid grades.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stuart entertained for supper at their home in Murray last Sunday evening, having as their guests Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Boedeker, Jr. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

Anton Bajek, who is connected with James Smith in the gardening business and as well in his musical work, was a visitor at his home in Plattsmouth, but returned to Murray Sunday night.

Mrs. C. M. Mead has been a sufferer from an attack of boils on the back of her neck. They have proven very painful and she is having them treated by a physician to prevent spreading to other parts of the body.

James W. Hobson, who has been making his home with Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Young, spent a week visiting with friends in Plattsmouth; He returned home last Saturday and said it seemed good to be back in Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Troop and Roy Gregg and wife were visiting in Nebraska City last Saturday and report having run onto a wreck north of that place in which seven persons were injured and the cars practically destroyed.

George Nickles was home over the week end. His brother and sister, Lee and Etta, were down from Plattsmouth for the day, joining Mr. Nickles and wife and her mother, Mrs. Henry C. Long for a pleasant visit and an excellent dinner.

Mrs. John Royer, who is housekeeper at the Sporer home, accompanied by her son, Henry Royer and wife, were at Otos last Sunday, where they visited with Mr. Royer and the children. Notwithstanding the very gloomy day, they enjoyed the trip and visit very much.

Will L. Seybolt contracted a severe cold while doing some grading work near the river, getting a road in shape for use there. A rain was falling at the time and he got soaked to the skin, causing his present indisposition. He is improving now, however, and hopes soon to be restored to his usual good health.

Clinton Cook, of Salina, Kansas, is assisting with the picking of corn at the W. O. Troop home. Russell Lytle, of Dunnegan, Mo., is also employed by Mr. Troop. The two young men are fast workers and are hustling with the job as rapidly as the weather will permit, but have found this fall a most unusual one and the corn in none too good condition.

Bible School Class Very Kind

The Bible school class of the Christian church which is taught by Mrs. Lucy Sporer, knowing of her not being in good health and having a very delicate appetite, have been sending her some nice lunches with very tempting bits for stimulating the appetite. The many kindnesses of individual members of the class have been further added to by other friends of this good woman, all of which is greatly appreciated by Mrs. Sporer and she wants the members of the class and other friends to know that she is greatly pleased at their expressions of kindness.

fare-paying passengers. One of the cars was driven by an Omaha man and the other was driven by Will Griffin of Murray. The passengers pay $10 each for their transportation, which although a very reasonable charge, provides the dealer with a goodly portion of the cost of getting the car to its destination. As one of the drivers, Will does not have to pay any fare, and is provided with all of his expenses. This gives him an opportunity to see the country and to visit the coast and the city of San Francisco at very little or no cost.

Visited in Humboldt

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Terhune, accompanied by their little son, Gerald, enjoyed a visit last Sunday at the home of the parents of Mrs. Terhune, Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Hehwatt and also the parents of Mr. Terhune, residing at Humboldt. They arrived home late that night.

Mrs. W. L. Dwyer Gives a Talk on Supreme Court

Well Known Member of Cass County Bar Guest Speaker of Daughters of American Revolution.

From Wednesday's Daily

The postponed meeting of Fontenelle chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met at the home of Mrs. L. O. Minor last evening.

This being the annual guest meeting the chapter entertained several guests.

The chairman of the committee on the tea given last week gave a pleasing report. All the proceeds from the tea was pledged to the Student Loan Fund.

Mrs. Wescott, the program leader, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. W. L. Dwyer, who gave a very able address on "Late Decisions of the United States Supreme Court." Among the cases reviewed were two cases under the NRA, the famous gold clause case, the railroad retirement act and the Frazier-Lemke act.

After the program the hostess, Mrs. Minor, assisted by her daughter, Miss Eleanor, served refreshments in the dining room. The tables were attractive in decorations of white tapers combined with patriotic colors.

VISIT AT LINCOLN

The Birthday club was entertained Friday, November 15, at the home of Mrs. Edna Evans in Lincoln, with a "spend the day" party.

After the 12 o'clock luncheon the afternoon was spent visiting the legislature and other points of interest, after which they returned to the home for refreshments before departing for some, some via motor others by train.

Club members lucky enough to attend were Mesdames Vera Anderson, Grace Perry, Frances Palacek, Jennie White, Elizabeth Rishel and Dot Kerr. Guests, Mrs. Roy Breese of Red Oak, Iowa, Mrs. A. R. Evans of Roca, Neb., and Mr. M. S. Kerr of Plattsmouth.

Thanksgiving motifs were the table decorations and each guest received a "turkey" for their big feast later in the month. The club will not soon forget the gracious hospitality of their hostess.

RETURN FROM SAD MISSION

Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Stewart and son, Donald, returned home from Portland, Missouri, where they were called last week by the fatal illness of the mother of Mr. Stewart.

Mrs. Stewart suffered a stroke at their home where they had been located but a short time and despite all that medical skill and the loving care of the family could give, gradually grew worse until Friday when death came to release her from her suffering.

The funeral services were held Sunday at Portland and the body laid to rest in the cemetery there. The deceased lady was eighty-two years of age and made her home here for a great many years where she has a large circle of friends who will learn with the greatest of regret of her passing and extend to the bereaved family the deepest sympathy.

HONORED AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Jess F. Wurga entertained at a charmingly arranged 6 o'clock dinner Monday evening to honor the birthday anniversary of John P. Sattler, father of Mrs. Wurga.

The dining table was beautifully arranged in a color scheme of yellow and white, the late yellow flowers being used with the white tapers. Mrs. Charles Lohmann, of Omaha, another daughter of Mr. Sattler, had baked the handsome birthday cake with its seventy-one candles that made it one of the greatest beauty.

Mr. Sattler received many birthday greetings and useful gifts including one from a daughter, Mrs. H. M. Burdick, Tucson, Arizona, and a son, Carl Sattler, of Los Angeles. The guest of honor was also showered with wishes for many more such happy anniversaries.

CELEBRATE BIRTHDAYS

A very happy family gathering was celebrated at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Galloway last Sunday when their daughters, Edith (now Mrs. D. C. Stevens of Council Bluffs) and Virginia (now Mrs. Harry Henley of Bellevue) and Mrs. John Galloway of Omaha, all met to celebrate their birthdays together, two coming on the same date and the other two the week following.

The day was spent very happily, with a sumptuous dinner served at the noon hour, the main feature being roast duck with all the trimmings and the four lovely birthday cakes with their glowing candles. The mother's cake was a lovely angelfood presented to her by her daughter, Virginia.

At a late hour all departed for their homes hoping to meet again on this same occasion next November.

ENLISTS IN NAVY

Walter Tilford Gorrell, whose guardian is Mr. A. H. Henderson, of Indianapolis, Ind., was one of thirteen young men that was enlisted in the Navy at the Navy Recruiting Station, Omaha, on November 18. He was immediately transferred to the U. S. Naval Training Station, San Diego, California, for recruit training.

Young Gorrell gave his home address as the Plattsmouth Boys Camp, Plattsmouth, Nebraska.

MURRAY GIRL ON PROGRAM

Miss Jane Boedeker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Boedeker of Murray, a graduate of the Plattsmouth high school of the class of 1935, was featured on a special college broadcast of radio station KFRD at Columbia, Mo., last Sunday.

Miss Boedeker and Miss Dorothy Dale of Shawnee, Oklahoma, were selected as representatives of William Woods college, Fulton, Missouri, to represent their college on the program.

The two young ladies were selected as piano artists to offer their part of the program and scored a distinct success in their fine presentation. The presentation was under the direction of Prof. William Heldrum, dean of the piano section of the school of music.

Both Miss Boedeker and Miss Dale are majoring in piano at the William Woods college, Miss Dale a senior and Miss Boedeker a freshman.
