

Alvo News

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hoffman and children motored to Union Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coatman and son spent Sunday at the Ellis Mickle home.

The Glee clubs will be heard at convocation Tuesday morning, November 26th.

J. H. Foreman is on the sick list and has been confined to his bed the last few days.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stroemer were Sunday evening visitors at the H. L. Bornemeier home.

Turner McKinnon, who accidentally shot his hand a month ago, is recovering very well.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Appleman were dinner guests Sunday at the H. L. Bornemeier home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Woods, of Elmwood, were Sunday dinner guests at the S. C. Hardnock home.

The patrons of the Alvo school district received their copy of the school paper, "The Oriole," Monday.

Mrs. Jennie Rouse, who has been feeling poorly the past few weeks, is considerably improved at this writing.

Willard and Reo Timblin came home from Murray, where they are husking corn, Saturday morning and returned Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Brubacher and family of Murray were Sunday dinner guests of Superintendent and Mrs. Hauptman. The ladies are sisters.

Junior Kinney has recovered from his recent siege of diphtheria and is back in school again. He has been out of quarantine for more than two weeks.

The school children will enjoy a couple of extra days vacation this week as school will be dismissed for Thanksgiving vacation Wednesday evening, November 27.

Henry Miller accompanied Earl Bennett to Lincoln Friday, where he went to visit from Friday until Sunday with his daughter and family. Mrs. Floyd Lovitt.

The Mothers' and Daughters' council will meet with Mrs. Ben Muenchan Friday afternoon, November 29. Mrs. Alice Skinner will have charge of the lesson, "Homemade Toys."

Mr. and Mrs. Will Coppel and son were among those present Sunday to enjoy the Jubilee program of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Congregational church of Weeping Water.

The farmers of the vicinity have not gotten along so well with their corn shucking as they anticipated, due to much stormy weather and the corn being in poor condition for cribbing.

Mrs. Charles Edwards' Sunday school class enjoyed a class party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nickel Saturday evening, November 23. A most delightful time was had by all present.

The school children received their report cards Friday. Forty-nine pupils are on the honor roll for the second six weeks. There were sixteen in the high school, seven in Junior high and twenty-two in the grades.

Many Visitors at School

The majority of the parents visited school during American Education Week observance and many visited several times during the week, which was an expression of their interests in their school.

The faculty and student bodies are to be complimented upon the splendid work that was so nicely demonstrated throughout the entire week, making a most favorable impression upon the visitors.

P. T. A. Members Entertained

The P. T. A. was indeed very fortunate to secure Lenore Burkett Van Kirk, professor of voice at the University of Nebraska school of music, as an entertainer on their program last Wednesday evening, November 20.

Mrs. Van Kirk has a beautiful soprano voice and her numbers were sung with such delightful simplicity that the school children could fully appreciate her splendid numbers. She has studied in England as well as in this country, under some of the leading voice teachers, and is a daughter of the late Senator Elmer J. Burkett. Her marriage to Mr. Van Kirk, an overseas ex-service man, occurred shortly after the world war.

Mrs. Van Kirk was accompanied by Miss Chowans, who also gave three piano solos that were greatly enjoyed by all.

Surprise for Dr. Mildred J. Buzza

Thursday evening, William Kearns gave a most pleasant dinner party in the hall over the Bennett store in honor of his wife, Dr. Buzza's birthday anniversary.

The committee in charge was Mrs. Ted McCartney, Mrs. George Velde and Mrs. Dorothy Peterson.

The tables were beautifully decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums and yellow candles, the color scheme being exclusively yellow and white. A large birthday cake three tiers high centered the table of the honored guest.

After a bounteous meal, the evening was spent playing bridge. Mrs. A. B. Stroemer was awarded first honors and Mrs. Carl Ganz the second for the ladies. Carl Ganz was first and Ted McCartney was second among the men. Mrs. A. B. Stroemer was awarded the traveling prize.

The sixteen guests departed at a late hour, wishing the honored guest many more happy birthdays.

Dads and Lads Enjoy Fine Dinner

Nearly one hundred Dads and Lads of the community attended the Father and Son banquet held at the church Friday evening, November 15th. A splendid dinner had been prepared by a group of members of the Ladies Aid society to which all did full justice. After this a most enjoyable program was rendered.

Rev. Chenoweth, a former pastor of Alvo, was the out-of-town speaker of the evening.

The affair was a complete success in every way.

Alvo Woman's Reading Club

The members of the Alvo Woman's Reading club held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Lyle Miller Thursday afternoon, November 21st. The ladies enjoyed a most delightful afternoon. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Royal Neighbors Meet

Nine members of the Royal Neighbors lodge enjoyed a most pleasant afternoon November 20, at the home of Mrs. S. C. Hardnock.

Mrs. Will Boyles and Mrs. Muir of Lincoln were present. Two visitors were also present, Mrs. Ellis Mickle and Miss Nita Mullen.

Delicious refreshments were served late in the afternoon by the hostess.

Juniors Give Class Play

The members of the Junior class presented the play, "Red Heated Stephid" to a large audience Friday evening, November 22.

The class has received many compliments on the splendid manner in which their play was presented.

NO MORE COAL FOR RELIEF

Omaha.—A majority of Omaha's coal merchants have closed their doors to acceptance of further county coal relief orders. A half dozen of the larger companies ceased accepting the orders Tuesday, and most of the smaller concerns followed suit. C. F. McNeil, Douglas county relief administrator, said the action came as a surprise, as the coal men only recently had agreed to take certain percentages of the business, according to the sizes of their plants.

"It is true we all agreed to accept certain percentages of the business," said E. P. Boyer of the Boyer Coal company, "on the promise we would get our money by August, 1936. But now it looks like we might not get it until 1937 or possibly 1938, if at all."

F. E. Reinstrom said his company had ceased accepting the orders because the company could not afford to carry so much county business on its books.

BEATRICE GIRL DIES

Beatrice.—Funeral services for Edna May Schlake, 18, who died this week after a long illness, were held here Wednesday. The family formerly lived at DeWitt.

Stores that advertise regularly are seldom heard to complain of slack business seasons.

Davis, Wallace Outline Future of Crop Control

AAA Administrator Counts on Aid in Advice From the U. S. Supreme Court.

The "advice we expect the supreme court to give us" was described by AAA Administrator Davis at Washington Wednesday as a guide for future farm policies. The high tribunal will hear argument next month on constitutionality of the new deal's farm act.

Speaking on the same program before the Association of Land Grant Colleges and Universities, Secretary Wallace insisted that the farm administration was proceeding in conformity with the "spirit and heart of the constitution" to serve the general welfare.

Davis declared that "I have full confidence that agricultural adjustment will go forward... but we can't fix a hard and fast course until we get the advice we expect the supreme court to give us within a few months."

He forecast a gradual change in some aspects of the AAA. "Everyone of us must recognize," Davis said, "that an unspanned gap separates the point the farmers of the nation have reached in their adjustment program and the goals and ideals set forth at Washington Wednesday. No one man or group of men has any very clear or definite conception of the precise step that must be taken in order that broad adjustments undertaken on a national scale may fit wisely and accurately the specifications for a region or an individual farm that are dictated by sound farm management."

Depends on Public Opinion. "The bridge over that gap must be built out of material supplied by experience with exciting programs here and in the field. The bridge will not stand unless it is founded on the bedrock of public opinion."

Wallace said that governmental powers in the past have been used for benefit of special groups, such as utilities, and that "it is increasingly necessary to study the situation from the standpoint of the general welfare."

Both Wallace and Davis held up the new 1936 corn-hog adjustment contracts as an example of the advance thinking of the administration. Flexibility in the program was described as resulting from a measure of regional planning, and it was indicated that if the new corn-hog program proves wholly successful, it might serve as a guide for further adjustment efforts.

Ten Year Plan Outlined. Tentative recommendations for a ten year agricultural program calling for substantial reductions in cotton, corn and wheat acreages from the 1929 levels were disclosed by Oris V. Wells, acting chief of the AAA production planning section.

The recommendations were a result of six months research by the AAA and forty-eight state experiment stations. Continued research was indicated for the coming winter. The major recommendations, made by Wells in an address before the association, were:

1. For 38 million acres of cotton to yield 14 million bales during the period 1936-40, and 14.6 millions from 1941 and 1945, a reduction of 11 percent from the 1929 acreage but 34 percent above the 1935 total.

2. For 52 million acres of wheat to yield 722 million bushels during the period 1936-40 and 788 million bushels from 1941 to 1945, a reduction of 23 percent from the 1929 acreage, about equal with the 1935 total.

3. For 86 million acres of corn to yield 2,248 million bushels until 1940 and 2,452 million bushels until 1945, a reduction of 11 million acres from 1929 and 7 million from the 1935 total.

4. For hog production of 134 million live hundredweight until 1940 and 141 million live hundredweight until 1945, about 11.5 percent below the 1929 production, but 35 percent above the total for 1935.

TO CONDEMN OLD HOTEL

Nebraska City.—Horace M. Davis, state fire marshal, prepared to institute condemnation proceedings against the famed Frontier hotel here, the Morton house of pioneer days. Otoe county commissioners assured Davis of their wish to cooperate. The structure was badly damaged by fire about a year ago just a month after the hotel's seventy-fifth birthday. The county has a sizable back tax bill against it.

MacLEAN MAKES PROGRESS

Washington.—Attendants of Dr. George MacLean, 85, former president of the University of Iowa and former chancellor of the University of Nebraska, said he is making progress toward recovery after being injured in an automobile accident Oct. 15.

MacLean suffered a leg fracture near the hip, rebreaking an old fracture. Because of his advanced age, his progress was reported slow but he now is seeing occasional visitors for short periods.

REPORTER TESTS THE LAW

Albany, N. Y. — The question whether a newspaper reporter should be compelled to disclose the source of confidential information was on the court of appeals calendar for consideration. Martin Mooney of the New York American was sentenced in general sessions court to serve thirty days in jail and pay a fine of $250, following his refusal to tell a grand jury the source of information on which he based a series of articles concerning gambling and the "policy racket" in New York City.

Senate Strikes Lien from Old Age Assistance

Government, Farmers and Manufacturers Put in Legal Blows in Court Fight.

Blows were struck by manufacturers, farmers and the government in the supreme court battle over the new deal's farm program. In quick succession were these developments at Washington, Thursday:

1. John W. Davis, one time democratic presidential nominee and member of the American Liberty league, sought permission to join the Hoosac Mills of Massachusetts in challenging the constitutionality of AAA processing taxes. The Hoosac case is set for argument Dec. 9.

2. Vernon A. Vrooman of Des Moines, filed a plea to join the government defense in the same case on behalf of the League for Economic Equality, "an organization supported by farmers and friends in four of the corn belt states—Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and South Dakota."

Says Injunction Barred. The government, replying to a plea of eight Louisiana rice millers for an injunction against processing tax payments, contended an injunction was barred by law and that the "remedy of the millers was to 'pay first and litigate later.'"

Davis' eighty-seven page brief was joined in by Nathan L. Miller, former governor of New York, and William R. Perkins. They acted in behalf of the Hygrade Food Products corporation, the National Biscuit company and P. Lorillard company.

AAA was assailed by them as an identical legal twin of NRA, which the supreme court voided last June. They also rebutted the broad "general welfare" constitutional argument advanced recently by the government in several new deal cases.

Adopting the government's method of quoting from writings of men who helped frame the constitution, the Davis brief listed Alexander Hamilton, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and James Monroe as opposed to broad federal powers like those of the AAA.

Quotations from Chief Justices Marshall, Storey, and Hughes and Presidents Jackson, Pierce, Polk, Tyler, Buchanan, Cleveland, Wilson and Coolidge were cited as opposing the present administration's concept of "general welfare."

PAY THE PRICE OF STARDOM

Hollywood.—Happiness in marriage is a forbidden paradise to the movie stars—unless mated to a "super man or woman," a noted psychologist asserted. "Jealousy closes the door," said Dr. Boris Morkovin of the University of Southern California. "Unhappiness in their personal lives is the price many of them pay for stardom."

A close friend of many picture people and teacher of many children of players and executives, he declined to discuss personalities. "The exceptions," he said, "are those in which a star's mate falls in love, and stays in love, with the real person, not with the illusion the star spends twenty-four hours a day maintaining."

"It takes a super man or woman to do this. And when he or she fails, the first reaction is deep, bitter jealousy of the star."

"A movie star's wife may not fear any one woman, but unless her love is deep and true, she will resent the mass adoration directed toward him."

Farley Bestows His Praise on the State of Nebraska

Says He Is Delighted to Learn That State Is Getting Along Pretty Well.

Omaha.—Postmaster General Farley, during a train stop, said he was "delighted to learn that this state is getting along pretty well, and that there is no disposition to condemn the real, practical system that is the basis of your prosperity for the shadow of something which nobody is willing or able to define."

Farley, in lauding the state, referred to the recent Nebraska corn-hog vote, which was overwhelmingly for continuance of the plan. "I had hoped when I got out in this country that I would learn what the opponents of the Roosevelt administration had to suggest as a substitute for the AAA. So far I have had no luck in that quest."

"The country realizes some progress must be devised to retain the advance in farm prosperity consequent on the functioning of the present measures of crop limitation and farm credits."

Farley said President Roosevelt is "as strong now as in 1932," and forecast he will have more electoral votes in 1936, "because he'll have Pennsylvania." He said the president's comment that Senator Norris, Nebraska independent republican, should be kept in the senate "as long as he lives" was "well merited."

FROWNS UPON JUNKETINGS

With Commissioner Maupin voting no, the railway commission adopted a resolution giving the auditor advance opportunity to approve or disapprove of traveling expenses incurred by members or employees. The motion by Commissioner Bollen recited:

I move that hereafter no traveling expense against the funds of the commission shall be incurred by any commissioner or employee of the commission other than the supervisor of public grain warehouses, until such expense has been authorized by a majority vote of the commission by motion with the vote thereon recorded in the minutes. No such traveling expense shall be incurred by any commissioner until a copy of such motion, with the vote thereon, shall have been submitted to the state auditor, and the said expense authorized by him in writing, and filed with the secretary of the commission.

Mexico City.—Nearly 50 persons were wounded in a bitter clash between fascists and leftists in front of the national palace as Mexico observed the 25th anniversary of the revolution. The fighting was between members of the "Gold Shirts" fascist organization, and communists and organized labor units, assembled for separate parades.

Several high officials were forced to withdraw from the balcony of the national palace when bullets started to fly in all directions after the political enemies waded into each other.
