Says Next Congress Sure to Pass the Bonus

Veterans of Foreign Wars Head Demands Present Neutrality Policy Be Maintained.

Kearney, Neb.—James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, Pa., national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, predicted Monday the next congress will pass a bill for payment of the soldiers' bonus, it will be vetoed by President Roosevelt and passed over his veto.

Van Zandt, in a luncheon address before a large crowd, also demanded continuation of the present neutrality policy of the United States and said sending American soldiers to any foreign country to protect American property should be permitted only on approval in a general election.

He said there is danger of the United States becoming involved in the threatened European war, and declared: "If we approve and help enforce the League of Nations' English dictated sanctions against Italy, England thru the league will stop Italian supply ships; that means war, and we will be involved."

Van Zandt urged conscription of capital and industry on an equal basis with manpower, in any future war involving this country.

The adjusted service certificate, "commonly called the bonus, is not a bonus," he said in discussing the problem of the disabled veteran. The certificates represent an adjustment to make the soldiers pay for wartime service "almost equal" to pay given road workers in this country during the same period, Van Zandt said.

TO FILE IN ALL STATES

Pete Miller, who has been assisting Walter Blakie in gathering his corn crop will conclude the work at the end of this week and will have the corn all in the cribs before the coming of Christmas, and while the harvesting of corn has been rather slow on account of the weather and the condition of the corn, most of the farmers are now getting along very nicely and will soon be through. However some are allowing the picking to wait until later in the winter hoping that the condition of the corn will be better then.

There will also be there the remainder of the families of the Snell and kindred families some six besides Mr. Henry Snell and family and numbering in all about fifty persons. DISTRIBUTE THE PRAYERS

Portland, Ore.—Dr. W. B. Norton, retired clergyman and former religious editor of the Chicago Tribune, urged that ministers include newspaper publishers in their prayers. A survey of twenty Methodist preachers of Portland showed that only one, a former editor, ever remembered the news commentators in his pulpit prayers. "It is the usual thing to pray for presidents and other men in public office, even when they hold contrary economic or political views," Dr. Norton said. "But we forget to pray for the editors of newspapers—a body of men who doubtless wield more public influence than any other class in the country."

RAINFALL IN DROUTH AREA

Washington.—Excessive rainfall this year in virtually all the sections hit hard by last year's long drouth more than made up the deficiency in moisture. Joseph B. Kincaid, agricultural meteorologist of the weather bureau, pointed out that most of last year's drouth stricken sections had been favored this year with rainfall beyond normal, in most instances from 25 to 50 percent above. In some sections there was too much rainfall, especially in spring and early summer, causing floods and serious crop damage. That was particularly true in the great central valleys.

FIVE BISON ARE AUCTIONED

Grand Island.—Five bison from the herd of "Doc" H. O. Woodward, Grand Island stockman, were sold Tuesday afternoon at an auction sale of the Blain Livestock Commission company. The animals, bought by meat shop operators in this section of the state, went at prices ranging from 4.5 cents to 6.5 cents per pound.

Woodward keeps his herd at about 25, but they breed so readily he sells several every year to keep the herd to the required size. The bison are pastured in fields adjacent to the Lincoln highway east of Grand Island.

They said it would have been impossible for him to crawl into the furnace and close the door.

SHOWS REMARKABLE GROWTH

The Paramount Cut Price Liquor and Wine Co., 24th and Deer Park boulevard, Omaha, has shown one of the most remarkable growth of any business establishment in this section of the west. This was first opened a few years ago as a modest stand where a few fruits and vegetables were sold, later a building being erected and which now embraces one of the largest lines of liquor that can be found in the west. That their store has made good their motto, "We Will Not Be Undersold," is attested by the crowds that are constantly crowding the various departments to take advantage of the exceptional bargains.

ITALIAN RALLY PROTECTED

New York.—Six hundred policemen warded off an attempt by more than 2,000 young men and women to enter an Italian Red Cross rally in Madison Square Garden. One group singing the communist "Internationale," appeared first and so occupied police that a second group, throwing pamphlets berating Mussolini, nearly gained entrance.

Quick reformation of police lines, however, drove back both groups. Admission to the meeting was by ticket. Mayor LaGuardia was listed as a speaker.

POMB FROM EGYPT

Newark, N. J.—Police reported that a bomb was discovered in a shipment of henna leaves received by a Newark firm from Egypt, scene of recent nationalistic outbreaks. Dr. Reuben Warner, city chemist, examined the torpedo shaped object and found it contained a fuming cap and three and a half ounces of TNT.
