Death of C. D. Quinton, Former County Sheriff

Dies at Early Hour Today after Illness of Several Years; Funeral at Weeping Water Tuesday.

From Monday's Daily

This morning at an early hour at the family home at Lincoln, occurred the death of Carroll D. Quinton, for many years sheriff of Cass county and one of the best known residents of the county where he was reared to manhood in the vicinity of Avoca.

Mr. Quinton was a son of one of the pioneer families of the Avoca community and where he was engaged in farming until in 1906 when he was elected sheriff of Cass county to succeed the late John D. McBride. Mr. Quinton was repeatedly elected sheriff until in 1924 when he was succeeded in the office by E. P. Stewart.

After retiring from the office of sheriff Mr. Quinton was engaged for a number of years as an official at the state penitentiary, continuing in that work until his failing health compelled his resignation.

Since ceasing his activities Mr. Quinton has gradually been failing in health and under medical attention for the greater part of the time.

Shortly after his election as sheriff Mr. Quinton was married here to Miss Marie Kravencik, who with two daughters, Ethel, teaching at McCook and Mrs. Edith Hutchison of Omaha, and one son, Carroll D. Jr., survive. There are also two sisters, Mrs. J. M. Palmer of Nehawka and Mrs. J. M. Dunbar of Avoca.

The funeral services will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Weeping Water, messages to friends here state.

The death will come as a great regret to the many friends who had known and esteemed Mr. Quinton in the years of his residence in the county and his long service in public office.

Just a few hours prior to his arrival the daughter passed away. Mrs. Unwin, who is a nurse, was suffering from an infection contracted on a case that she was caring for and which caused her death.

St. Luke's Church Parish Holds Its Annual Meeting

Members Enjoy Delicious Parish Supper at Gering Home Preceding Meeting—Re-elect Vestry.

From Tuesday's Daily

The beautiful Gering home was the scene of a very happy and enthusiastic meeting last night when about 50 people gathered for a buffet supper and the annual business meeting of St. Luke's Episcopal church.

After all had enjoyed the delightful hospitality of Misses Mia and Barbara Gering at a cafeteria style supper the meeting was called to order and all sang the familiar hymn, "In the Cross of Christ I Glory." After the minutes of last year's meeting had been accepted the rector reported on his work and church life generally. He urged a wider use of church facilities in the realm of psychiatry and spiritual and "life problem" discussion. "Every modern minister," he said, "knows at least something about domestic and 'life' problems, not only from his training but also from his experience, and the minister is never happier than when he is of service to his people—even though it may only be as a safety valve as a listener, to whom they may talk and clarify their thought." He also urged more systematic use of the daily reading booklets and of church services. Reports from all organizations showed much work accomplished and funds for social, missionary and local needs well supported.

The general fund showed a substantial balance on hand thanks very largely to the untiring energy of the treasurer and the work of the vestry ladies in making 524 quarts of mince-meat this year, in addition to collecting the pledges made. A unique record was made in that there is not one cent of outstanding pledges owing on 1935. Everyone who promised subscriptions to the church has paid in full. The senior warden, Mr. R. W. Clement and the junior warden, Mr. Rae Patterson were re-elected, as were also the members of the vestry. Dr. T. P. Livingston was also elected to the vestry but his active participation is contingent upon professional duties. His election was a recognition of long standing service to the church.

The meeting gave very sincere thanks to Mrs. J. M. Roberts, the organist and the officers of all the societies and of the parish, and to the hostesses of the evening.

A record of appreciation to Mrs. R. A. Bates and the Journal for the regular announcements of church services and much publicity during the year was made in the minutes. Delegates were elected to the annual convention of the Diocese and to the Woman's Auxiliary convention. At the close the Vestry met briefly and elected Mr. Henry Herald secretary of the group.

LOCAL SCHOOL AT PERU

The Plattsmouth high school is among the ten schools that are entered in the annual Missouri-Iowa-Nebraska-Kansas music contest, to be staged February 7th and 8th at the Peru teachers college.

The schools entered are Plattsmouth, Dawson, DuBois, Riverton, Iowa; Unadilla, Brock, Hamburg, Ia.; Peru Prep, Silver City, Iowa; Wilber. Last year at the contest there were 1,000 students participating in all classes of the contest.

Schools are grouped into three classes according to the enrollment for participation in the contest. In the past years the Plattsmouth students participating have scored very high records in the various lines of the musical work and this year should have a very fine group to appear in the contest.

RETURN FROM THE WEST

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Schliscke returned home Sunday from a very pleasant outing to the west coast, visiting at Boulder Dam and Los Angeles. Joe Capwell is a Candidate for County Attorney

Well Known Attorney Will Seek Democratic Nomination for Office to Fill Vacancy.

Joseph A. Capwell, well known attorney of this city, Monday afternoon filed as a candidate for the democratic nomination to the office of county attorney, which is to be filled at the November election for the remainder of the term of W. G. Kieck, now candidate for district judge.

Mr. Capwell grew to manhood in the Elmwood community where his family located after coming west from Pennsylvania and he received his education in the schools there, later entering the University of Nebraska. He was graduated from the law college of the state university in 1914 and was entering on his practice when the outbreak of the world war caused him to enlist in the service of his country and he was sent with a coast artillery assignment to the Philippine Islands where he served until 1919 when he was returned to the United States. He entered the practice of law at Elmwood shortly after his return home and later located at Plattsmouth where he has since been engaged in the law business. Mr. Capwell was serving as county attorney of the county during 1923 and 1924, then returned to private practice. Mr. Capwell is a very capable man for the position and with his previous experience in the office should be in a position to give the taxpayers of the county an excellent service if selected for the office.

U. S. Corn Loan Program will be Continued

Washington Expects Final Decision on Plan Soon; Iowans Seek Retention of Credits.

Washington. — The government's corn loan program moved ahead Tuesday without interruption although federal agencies debated on its future without any possibility of production control.

Commodity credit corporation officials announced there would be no temporary stopping of the loan program such as was ordered in all phases of the agricultural adjustment act programs. Pending a final decision which advanced money for corn loans, the commodity credit corporation and the virtually defunct AAA administration, loans may continue to be made.

A strong probability was noted by officials that a decision on final policy for the loan program would be reached late Wednesday or Thursday.

Iowa Appeals

Meanwhile appeal for retention of loans came from Iowa, the nation's major corn producing state and chief beneficiary of past corn loan programs.

Ray Murphy, Iowa secretary of agriculture, telegraphed his state's congressmen urging them to "take immediate steps to protect and perpetuate the corn loan program."

"Loans," he said, "are more vital now than ever before in view of the supreme court decision."

Representative Otha D. Wearin, Hastings, Ia., democrat, sounded sentiment of the Iowa delegation when he answered he would "exert every effort to protect corn loans." He said also efforts would be made to "rush drafting of acts to continue a constructive farm program."

Face Problems

Two problems faced federal officials trying to decide whether corn loans could be continued. One was whether the court's decision in any way invalidated the government's right to make such loans.

The other was whether it would be safe to continue the 45 cent a bushel loans on farm stored corn without protection of production control afforded by the AAA programs. The loans had been limited to farmers co-operating in the corn-hog programs.

PREPARE FISH FOOD

Frank B. O'Connell, chief conservation officer at Lincoln Monday announced that the state is to can some 20,000 salvage carp at this point for use as fish food for the Nebraska state hatcheries.

He said canning of these fish, which otherwise would die, would save the state several thousand dollars annually. The carp are small ones taken from freezing lakes and ponds by employees of the state game, forestation and parks commission. An attempt may be made to market some of the canned carp to other states.

IMPROVE SCHOOL BUILDING

The St. John's school building presented a most attractive appearance to the students who resumed their school work this week after the Christmas vacation. While the students were enjoying a rest from their duties, a force of the men of the church assembled and started in on the work of redecorating. This work was carried out throughout the school building and makes it a most attractive place with the newly decorated walls and ceiling making it light and pleasant.

This volunteer work was very much appreciated as it made possible the needed improvement and at very little cost and which otherwise might have had to be deferred.
