ATTACKED BY HUNGRY OWL

Duluth.—How a large, hungry owl attacked three woodsmen at the door of their shack on Isle Royale, causing a serious eye injury to Arthur Ruokonen, 32, Maple, Wis., was told here by Ruokonen as the coast guard cutter Crawford, completing its mercy trip, brought the victim to Duluth. Ruokonen was attacked by the bird after a co-worker, John P. Johnson, had gone out of the shack to get wood. He rushed back bleeding and reported something had attacked him. Ruokonen went out to investigate and was hit by the owl. A third man, John R. Johnson, with a blanket over his head and carrying a hatchet, went out and he too was clawed and pricked before he finally killed the bird.

HELPED RETIRE SALEM DEBT

Falls City, Neb.—Falls Cityans learned they have contributed about $4,000 towards the retirement of the municipal debt of one of their neighbor villages, Salem.

The fact was revealed in a brief filed by J. E. Leyda, attorney for Salem, in a motion seeking a rehearing of the case in which the state railway commission assumed jurisdiction for the first time over the rural power rates charged by municipalities.

Leyda's motion revealed a faulty meter caused Salem for many months to pay only for half the current delivered it by the Falls City municipal water and light plant. During those months, Salem retired quickly its debt contracted in erecting its own electrical distribution system.

FIRE TAKES 77 LIVES

State Fire Marshal Davis reported seventy-seven persons lost their lives in Nebraska fires during 1935. This was eight more than in 1934. There were 183 persons injured in fires last year, compared with 157 in 1934.

Reports from more than 500 fire chiefs shows that there was only one Christmas fire that could be laid to holiday festivities. There was no fire attributed to decorations, trees or damage to life or limb and the property loss was small.

CALLED AN HONEST CROOK

Kansas City.—Patrolman Ed Hickey believed he had found an "honest crook." He flagged down Harold E. Nitzel, 23, of Lincoln, Neb. for a traffic violation. Hickey took the keys to the car and told Nitzel to wait in the car until he called the patrol wagon. He went to a drug store a block away. Nitzel was waiting when he returned. Nitzel confessed, officers said, to stealing the automobile in Topeka and fleeing from an Olathe, Kas., service station without paying for gasoline.

DECLINE FULL TIME JOBS

New York.—Victor F. Ridder, New York City PWA director, said that some relief workers on WPA payrolls have been refusing proffered full time jobs in private industry. The particularly skilled workers, he said, preferred to stay on WPA rolls at $90 a month for three days' work weekly so that they could work an additional three days in private work. Ridder said he would institute a checkup to stop such practices.
