JAIL TERM FOR HOAGLAND

Omaha.—William B. Hoagland, jr., whose driving exploits have earned him the title of Wild Bill, pleaded guilty to second offense drunken driving charges and was sentenced to 135 days in county jail. Hoagland's license was revoked for one year by Judge Yeager. Previous to being sentenced, however, Hoagland voluntarily promised the court he would not drive a car again for a period of five years.

Hoagland was accused of running down and seriously injuring a pedestrian named Dorbeck. A few moments later his car crashed into the rear of another machine. He had twice before been convicted of drunken driving, but on one occasion the sentence was revoked upon his promise to go to Arizona for his health. A third offense charge would have placed him in jeopardy of a prison sentence.

Another State Pasture Contest.

Nebraska's 1936 pasture improvement contest, is open to all Cass county farmers. 11,500 in prizes go to winners.

Again designed to show the way to better pasture and grazing land management, the 1936 contest is sponsored by the Nebraska College of Agriculture, the Agricultural Extension Service, the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, Nebraska Crop Growers' Association and the Nebraska Livestock Breeders' Association.

A state committee composed of P. H. Stewart, Elvin F. Frolik, F. D. Keim, W. W. Derrick, M. N. Lawritson, Val Kuska and D. L. Gross is to act in an advisory capacity on the contest details and procedure. Stewart is chairman of the group. Frolik will supervise the state contest for the committee.

Pasture committees will be set up in each county which will have charge of all local details. The county agricultural agent in each instance will serve as secretary of the group.

Trophies, ribbons and cash prizes go to the winners. The ten highest ranking contestants in the state get cash prizes of $50, $40, $30, $20, $10, $5, $5, $5, $5, $5. A silver trophy goes to the highest ranking contestant in each county finishing 10 or more contestants get additional cash awards.

Cass county farmers have until April 1 to file their entry in the statewide contest. The 1936 contest is not divided into three divisions as last year but rather all participants compete in one class. Winners will be named on the basis of their pasture program and detailed plans submitted a report of pasture operations and management and actual results of their pasture programs.

Entry blanks will be in the hands of the agricultural agent soon.

Finicky Eaters.

Does your child have a "finicky appetite?" Refuse to drink his milk? Push away his cereal? Rebel at vegetables? Is it your fault or the child's?

Overanxious parents are frequently responsible for poor eating habits in children. Refusal of food is often a means of getting the special attention a child desires. When he learns that there is no more concern when he refuses food than when he eats it, and that when lunch is over there is no more food available till dinner, even if he gets hungry, it is quite likely that he will eat without question when the next mealtime comes.

Most children who are "finicky eaters" at home eat with enthusiasm in a nursery school, where no child in the group receives individual attention, and children in orphanages seldom develop feeding problems. Those in charge offer the children only such foods as they should have, serve meals at regular hours, and leave the question of "how much" to each child. Children differ greatly in the amount of food needed, and with a well-balanced meal set before them their instincts in the matter of quantity are usually to be trusted, provided of course, their appetites have not been jaded by over-indulgences in sweets or other highly seasoned foods.

Isn't it better to let a child miss a meal than to force him to eat against his will. Crying spells and tantrums which follow the latter method usually upset digestion and do far more harm to a child than does the omission of one meal.

When a child's meals are built around milk, vegetables, fruits and whole-grain cereals; when he gets enough fresh air and play to stimulate appetite; and enough rest and sleep to promote growth and prevent fatigue, it is seldom that he will be a problem-eater.

A well-known psychologist (William H. Burnham, Ph. D. in "The Normal Mind") says: "The instincts of children are usually wholesome, and as regards eating, drinking, and play and sleep and the like, they are usually more nearly right than the overanxious parents."

Winter Vegetables.

Sauerkraut, retaining as it does most of the good food qualities of cabbage, is a wholesome vegetable and usually inexpensive—about 5 cents a pound. It is especially pertinent to call it to mind at this season of the year when fresh vegetables are scarce.

It may be served cold, if one likes, or cooked with meat and potatoes. Sauerkraut is a good source of vitamin C, but long cooking will tend to destroy this health protective quality. Both sauerkraut and sauerkraut juice usually act as mild laxatives, though long cooking with fat may lead to indigestion.

New Hog-Cholera Vaccine Caps Scientist's Career.

More than 30 years ago a Department of Agriculture scientist sought the cause of hog cholera, established the fact that it leaves surviving animals immune, and later developed anti-hog cholera serum.

The scientist was Dr. M. Dorset. He died last July, but he left as a monument to his persistent genius a new vaccine—crystal-violet—which the Bureau of Animal Industry has just announced, and which, it believes, may be the most satisfactory product yet developed to fight hog cholera. A patent on crystal-violet vaccine—dedicated to the public welfare—has been applied for.

Although crystal-violet vaccine must be tested further, indications are it will be not only as effective, but cheaper and safer than the combination serum-and-virus treatment now used.

Dr. Dorset studied the diseases of many farm animals and developed many products for their control. But he was never fully content with his cholera serum. Year after year he and his staff worked for improvements in cholera prevention.

In recent years, they sought, particularly, chemicals to mix with the deadly virus which would destroy the infective element and at the same time preserve the protective element that creates immunity to hog cholera. They experimented with various substances—phenol, glycerin, formalin, and other chemicals.

One of the last was crystal-violet, a water-soluble dye. Dr. Dorset did not live to test, to his full satisfaction, vaccine made with this product. But his coworkers now announce that, in their experiments with 200 pigs, crystal-violet vaccine has given about 99 percent protection against hog cholera.

More Steaks on the Way, But Fewer Than Average.

More good beef will go to market in the first 4 months of 1936 than in the same months of 1935, if cattle feeders carry out their first-year plans, says the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

But cattle in the feed lot at the first of this year in the 11 corn belt states numbered 25 to 30 percent less than the 5-year average, although 41 percent greater than last year, the decrease in fattening cattle from January 1, 1934, to January 1, 1935, was the greatest ever recorded.

Feed-lot operations increased about 48 percent in the western corn belt as compared to about 29 percent in the eastern corn belt. Greatest percentage increases were: South Dakota, 220; Nebraska, 195; Missouri, 160; and Kansas, 110.

Cattle on feed in the 11 western states, Texas and Oklahoma on January 1 numbered 78 percent more than those on feed a year ago and nearly one-third larger than the average for the 1 years, 19'0 to 1934.

Receive Club Week Awards.

Thelma Ward and John Ahrens, both from Weeping Water, will attend 4-H club week at Lincoln, June 1st to 5th. These awards were made for outstanding work in clothing and swine projects in 1935.

Margie Ruth Pollard received a three dollar cash award from Ball Bros. for outstanding work in canning.

These prizes, which are always greatly appreciated, are a big incentive for more and better 4-H club work. Now is the time to be thinking seriously about your 1936 project. Who knows, you may be a 1936 trip winner.

Washington 4-H Trip Winners.

Nebraska's 1936 Four-H club champions who will represent 18,000 rural Cornhusker youths at the National 4-H camp held annually in Washington in June were named this week. Agricultural Agent D. D. Wainscott has been notified. They are Cora Mae Briggs, Seward county; Mollie Svoboda, Saunders county; Rex Brown, Fillmore county; and Avera Jespersen, Washington county.

Each year four Nebraska 4-H clubbers are selected for the national camp. There they join with similar youths from all other states in the Union for a big week. Cass county club members are eligible to compete for the honor each year.

Legion By-Laws for State Relief Funds Changed

New Definition of Ex-Service Men Is Included in the Recent Changes.

New by-laws of the American Legion, department of Nebraska, governing disbursement of the state soldier relief fund, being proceeds from interest on nearly 2 million dollars of state funds invested in bonds, recently adopted by the state board of educational lands and funds, contain some changes which Chief Clerk R. G. Douglas of the relief committee said were long since placed in force but which had not been formally adopted by the state board, which is trustee of the state relief fund.

By law the state board is authorized to designate the Legion organization committee to disburse relief to World War service men and nurses. The state fund relief committee of the legion is made up of three members, formerly appointed by the legion department executive committee, but under the new by-laws appointed by the department commander with approval of the department executive committee. Formerly the by-laws required one of these three to be designated as chairman, and the latter to give bond in the sum of $10,000. This is changed so that each of the three give a $5,000 bond to be deposited with the state board of educational lands and funds.

The department commander, adjutant and finance officer are as before designated ex-officio members of the state fund relief committee and, as formerly, the finance officer of the department gives a $10,000 bond. The new by-laws make it plain that the committee shall employ such assistants as are deemed necessary by the committee and that the chief clerk shall be secretary and shall give bond as before in the sum of $10,000. As before, relief shall be dispensed to World War men, no distinction to be made between members and non-members of any organization.

Relief as before is confined to ex-service persons bona fide residents of Nebraska. The new by-laws add "for two years or more immediately prior to his making application for aid except where the veteran's enlistment is credited to Nebraska." Ex-service men are defined in the new by-laws as "persons serving in the armed forces of the United States between the dates April 6, 1917, and Nov. 11, 1918, both dates inclusive."

All relief, as before, shall be granted thru the commander, adjutant or service officer of the local post thru which the application is made. A new provision says such power shall not be delegated to any person not recognized as an honorably discharged World War veteran under the act. A duty enjoined upon the committee under the old rules, to present meritorious cases of ex-service men before the government bureaus, is continued in the new by-laws.

Conscientious objectors and persons not holding an honorable discharge are not eligible to state fund relief under the old and new by-laws.

She has been in club work for 9 years and belonged to 51 different clubs. In addition, she has led 17 clubs. Her 4-H club projects have been valued at $4,333.32 in the nine years.

Through his club work, Avera Jespersen of Blair has built up his own purebred livestock herd. Today he has six purebred Guernsey cows and a herd of 60 head of purebred Hampshires developed for his 4-H work. For the last 7 years he has furnished neighbors in surrounding communities with purebred Hampshire stock.

Rex Brown of Geneva started his 4-H work in 1929. In 1933 he was a member of the state champion 4-H crops team which later won the national championship. He won high individual honors in the latter contest.
