

Murray

Mrs. T. E. Jennings is reported as being in very poor health at present. Hallis Akin, of Plattsmouth, was looking after some business matters in Murray Monday afternoon.

Grandmother Reddick was in Plattsmouth last Saturday, where she had some business matters to look after at the court house.

Earl Terhune, the barber, and family, were visiting with the folks at Humboldt last Sunday, driving down and back in their car.

L. D. Crosser, proprietor of the Garage of Murray and Crosser hall, was called to Omaha Monday to look after some business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Wehrlein, Miss Lois Troop and Robert Bestor, of Plattsmouth, drove to Omaha Saturday night, where they took in a show.

Fred Rea, district manager of the Iowa-Nebraska Light and over company, was down from Plattsmouth Monday afternoon looking after some business matters.

James Earhardt and family have moved to the house where C. A. McReynolds and family lived, south of Murray, and will make their home there this summer.

J. C. Stewart, the grocer, has been suffering from lumbago, which has kept him confined at home. During his absence the business has been looked after by Mrs. Stewart.

Mrs. C. E. Carroll is reported as very poorly and confined to her bed. Their son, Ern Carroll and family, of Omaha, were down last Sunday to visit at the home of the parents.

Mrs. Silas Ferry and two children, Raymond and Marie, of Hamlet, arrived in Murray recently and are enjoying a visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Leyda.

Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Young, of Plattsmouth, spent the day last Monday as guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Young, they being brought down by their son, "Bud" Young, in his auto.

Clarke Churchill, who has been in poor health, has been sent to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wetencamp for care and nursing. It is hoped he may soon be restored to better health.

Ed Kniss has been feeling quite poorly from an attack of flu, which has made life quite uncomfortable for him for some time past. At time of writing, however, he was reported as somewhat improved.

Dorothy Yost and Lois Troop, who are students at the University of Nebraska, were home over the week end, returning to Lincoln Sunday afternoon. They were taken back by Robert Bestor, of Plattsmouth, in his car.

Bart Wagner, who came here some time ago from Hidden Timber, South Dakota, was looking after business matters in Plattsmouth Monday afternoon. He is contemplating moving to the county seat in the near future.

While the exchange here has been undergoing a change of managers, the two operators, Misses Margery Long and Metta Hanni, are looking after the work in their usual capable manner and subscribers have not been inconvenienced in the least.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Overhauser have opened a cream and produce station in the Scott building and are also making their home in the rear portion. J. A. Scotten will engage in the purchase of poultry in connection with the cream station.

Word from Walter Allen, who departed some time ago for Los Angeles, states that he was able to secure passage as far as Salt Lake City with a car of stock which was being shipped there, and from there expects to continue on his way to the coast.

Reports from the hospital in Omaha state that A. W. Wheeler, who has been here for some time, while slightly improved, still remains in a precarious condition. His many old friends in this vicinity are hopeful he may rally from his malady and be restored to good health.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Merritt entertained on last Sunday at their home in Murray and had as their guests for the day and dinner Miss Pearl Dugay and her boy friend Mr. Tom Neslaor of Omaha. Miss Dugay is cousin of Mrs. Merritt which added to the splendid time which they all enjoyed.

A. J. Scotten, the carpenter, has been remodeling and repairing the house on the farm where James Earhardt resided, which is soon to be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Marlon Wartham and family. The place on which the Warthams have been residing will be farmed this coming season by Orville Noell, who has been farming near Murdock during the past few years.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard N. Brink, of Plattsmouth, accompanied by their daughter, Miss Dorothy, who is home from the east, where she has a position, for a visit, were in Murray last Sunday, driving down to allow Miss Dorothy to see some of the snow drifts which she had read about in the past few weeks, but found it hard to believe could exist. Although the drifts had been half melted away, they were still large enough to convince her that Nebraska's "worst" winter was about all that had been claimed for it in the papers of the east.

Mrs. Vesta Clark, who has been chief operator and cashier of the telephone exchange at Union for a number of years, moved to Murray the first of the week to take over the management of the exchange here. Mrs. Ella Baker, the former manager, returned to Plattsmouth.

has been transferred to Malcolm, at which place she will manage an exchange for the phone company. The shift is being made on account of plans to make the Union office an automatic exchange in the near future, which, of course, will do away with the need of operators. The Nebraska exchange was recently made an automatic one.

Reported Feeling Better

C. M. Minford, who has been suffering severe pain from twinges of rheumatism prior to the time he and his wife went to Miami, Florida to enjoy the warm weather and outdoor life, reports the rheumatic condition is greatly improved and that they are enjoying their stay there.

Plan Trip to California

Frank Scott has rented the land on his farm to Phillip Keil and accompanied by his wife, will go to California for a time. They hope and expect to enjoy their stay out there, and may remain for quite some time.

Buy New Farm Tractor

Lucean Carper, the local dealer in hardware and farm machinery, accompanied by John Hobscheidt and the latter's two sons, Johnnie and Earl, went to Omaha Monday, where Mr. Hobscheidt purchased a new John Deere All Purpose tractor for use on his farm the coming season.

Candidate for Unicameral

George E. Nickles, who has served as a member of the house in the last two sessions of the legislature, was in Plattsmouth the latter part of the week and filed as a candidate for member of the new Unicameral, or one house legislature, that will be elected this year. The primary election to thin the field down to two nominees will be held April 14. The district is now composed of Cass and Sarpy counties.

Home from Southland

Major Hall and wife and George Brinklow and wife, who were in Miami, Florida, for a number of weeks, returned home early last week and were pleased to get back to old Cass county, Nebraska, despite the fact they had enjoyed their stay in the south very much. They were glad of one thing, that they had missed that extreme cold and blizzard period the papers of the east and south told so much about, even to the point of making it out a little worse than it was.

Restaurant Changes Hands

The cafe and amusement parlor which has been conducted by Barton Wagner, who came here from Hidden Timber, South Dakota, has been sold to Sherman Hathaway who took the place over last Monday and is now conducting the business. Mr. Hathaway comes here from Union, where he is well and favorably known and the people here are wishing him success in his new enterprise.

Entertained at Sunday Dinner

Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Gilmore entertained a group of friends at their home last Sunday, when their son, John, who is attending medical college in Omaha, was also home for a visit. The guests who were present included Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Davis, Dick Pittman and daughter, Miss Theima, Mrs. Addie Perry and her daughter, Miss Helene. A most pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

Suffers a Material Loss

W. O. Troop, who feeds cattle every year, had a peculiar misfortune with his herd last week when a number of the cattle that were eating from a stack of straw got in under one side of the stack so far that it toppled over, covering three of the finest cattle in his feedlot.

They floundered around under the mountain of straw until they were exhausted and then smothered to death. This entails a severe loss on Mr. Troop, and will take much of the profit out of an entire season's feeding. A short time ago he lost another one that died from a different cause.

Has Leg Injured

While C. H. Nave was moving some machinery last Monday, he slipped and tore the ligaments loose in his right leg. Although very painful at the time, he is getting along as well as possible.

TWO NEW BRIDGES AT ARAPAHOE COMPLETED

Arapahoe, March 3.—For the first time since the flood last spring crossings were made Tuesday over the Republican river and Muddy creek south of here on permanent structures. A new bridge has been built over the river and a new span was added to the bridge over Muddy creek.

Cass County Farm Bureau Notes

Copy furnished from Office of County Agent Walmscott

April Parties.

"A little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men" (and women). With this thought in mind a new recreation circular, number 558, entitled "April Parties," has been prepared by the Extension Service and is now available at the Farm Bureau office. Special attention is given to April Fool's day parties. You may have your copy for the asking.

Demonstration on Use of Honey.

New methods of using honey in making appetizing dishes for the family will be demonstrated at a meeting scheduled to be held at Plattsmouth, Wednesday, March 25. The Home Demonstration Agent announced the scheduling of the meeting this week. The local session is one of a series being held throughout the state to acquaint Nebraskans with new uses of honey.

The Cass County Farm Bureau is co-operating with various agencies in holding the local meeting. They are the Nebraska State Department of Agriculture, University Extension Service, Nebraska State Honey Producers' Association and the American Honey Institute.

Mrs. Malitta Fischer Jensen, honey expert of the American Honey Institute, will be here to conduct the demonstration. Regarded as the world's foremost authority on honey and its use, her appearance should attract many housewives.

New uses of honey, particularly in cooking and making, will feature the demonstration. Among the dishes to be prepared will be honey nut bread, upside down apple cake, honey butter, broiled grapefruit, rich peanut butter cookies, and marmalade biscuits. Numerous honey recipes will also be offered.

Watch for further announcement of the time and place where the meeting will be held.

Farmers Attend Blacksmith School.

About thirty-five Cass county farmers trekked to the College of Agriculture, Lincoln, for their annual anvil and tongs tournament last Friday.

This was the fourth year that farmers from Cass county have gone to Lincoln to have a day's instruction in forge work under Prof. Runnalls.

Some of these men started four years ago by learning to pound out and temper punches and chisels. By getting a little more information each year and getting a lot of experience at home, they are now advanced enough to point and shape cultivator shovels and lister lays.

These farmers who do most of their own shop work say it is a real treat to get a day's instruction under Prof. Runnalls.

Wide Variation in Seed Corn Tests.

The number of seed corn samples coming to the Farm Bureau office for germination tests, have increased greatly the last week. Some farmers have submitted samples they were quite sure would not grow. When the test was run the germination was found to be better than 50%. With careful selection, good seed corn can be picked from cribs that germinate 50%. The smaller, more solid, popcorn-type-kernelled ears will be the ones to select for a high germination.

The office is anxious to have samples submitted so that all the good corn that the county has can be located and listed. Mail or bring in two hundred kernels from one hundred ears and let us run a test on it for you.

Vitamin C.

"Use tomatoes daily" is only another way of saying, "You need vitamin C every day." Vitamin C is one of the necessary food factors and unless an adequate amount is included in the diet, optimum health cannot be maintained. Citrus fruits and tomatoes happen to be very rich sources of vitamin C, and are convenient and comparatively inexpensive to use. Hence their popularity, but perhaps other sources of vitamin C are receiving too little emphasis.

For some people, the benefit derived from vitamin C in citrus fruits is counter-balanced by the harm resulting from the acid. Headaches, stiffness of finger joints, irritation of nose and throat, great susceptibility to colds—these are symptoms which these supersensitive people frequently have when they eat acid fruits.

Such people should get vitamin C through a liberal use of non-acid vegetables and fruits such as cabbage, green peppers, carrots, celery, escarole, lettuce, yellow turnips, bananas and pears.

Tree Supply Going Fast.

Reports from Extension Forester Earl Maxwell, shows that 1,066,900 trees had been ordered by Febr. 27. The supply will be soon exhausted especially of some varieties, Mr. Maxwell says.

The original supply of 440,000 Chinese Elms is going rapidly. Cass county farmers have ordered 13,000 to date. Those wishing to order trees should notify the Farm Bureau office at once.

What Possibilities Have Jerusalem Artichokes in Nebraska?

Should the acreage of Jerusalem Artichokes be increased under present conditions? This is one of the most common questions directed to the College of Agriculture this winter, says T. A. Kieselbach. It has been estimated that about 300 acres of Jerusalem Artichokes were grown in Nebraska in 1935. Since this is not a new crop the small acreage suggests that farmers have not been attracted to it under the conditions of the past. In deciding whether the acreage of any farm crop should be extended there are a number of questions which naturally arise in reaching a correct decision. Some of these are: Is there a dependable commercial market? If a feed crop, how does it compare in practicability with other standard feed crops? Is the crop adapted? How does the labor cost of production compare with other standard crops? The answer to the first question, according to Dr. Kieselbach, is, there is now no industrial market for artichokes grown in Nebraska and there is no certainty that there will be such a market in the near future. There would be no justification now in recommending the growing of artichokes on the basis that a market may sometime develop.

If alcohol or sugar processing plants should be established a profitable market for artichokes would probably exist only in close proximity to the factory. It would seem to be a case of getting the cart before the horse to urge that the acreage of artichokes be increased so as to attract the processing plants.

Costs 41c to Produce Bushel of Corn.
The average cost of producing a bushel of corn in Cass county for 1935 on nine farms, was 41c. These nine farmers kept a complete account of all production costs such as men and horse or tractor hours, for all the work done from the beginning to the end of a corn crop.

Oscar Domingo of Weeping Water had the lowest production cost of the group. This was largely due to a high yield. His 102 acres of corn averaged 53 bushels to the acre. The highest production costs were turned in by farmers in the western part of the county where the yield was as low as 7 bushels to the acre, with a production cost of $1.41 per bushel.

Since 1927, the average costs of production of corn in Cass county, have been as follows: 1927, 41c; 1928, 41c; 1929, 41c; 1930, 54c; 1931, 43c; 1932, 23c; 1933, 28c; 1934, 41c. The eighty-year average is 39c.

A navigable Missouri river by 1937 is the promise of Missouri river development boosters.
