The House of Cards

Washington, O.—Dr. Edward B. Danford, national counsel for the Anti-saloon league of America, advised the wets and the drys to “laugh at each other, forget your pet prejudices, and start all over again on the solution of the liquor problem.”

Increased Air Force for U. S. Recommended

House Military Affairs Committee Urges Authorization of 4000 Planes for Defense.

Washington.—Eyeing troubled conditions throughout the world, the house military affairs committee Tuesday recommended America's army air force be made five times its present fighting strength as a means of national defense.

By unanimous vote they favorably reported the bill offered by Chairman McSwain (D.) of South Carolina, authorizing 4,000 fighting planes for the army. The army now has 1,700 planes, but the actual fighting strength is only 776, according to Assistant War Secretary Woodring.

The highest previous recommendation came from the Baker board, which proposed 2,330 fighting planes for the army. Administration leaders indicated in view of the European situation there would be quick action on the McSwain bill.

It would have to be followed, however, by an actual appropriation from congress to cover the cost of construction, estimated at around 100 million dollars.

Representative William H. Rogers (D.) of New Hampshire, will report the bill to the house and seek quick action on it. Action of the military affairs committee followed recent passage by the house of a 550 million dollar army appropriation bill, which will be followed within a week or 10 days by a half billion dollar navy appropriation.

Build Army Posts. Simultaneously a bill was introduced in the house to build up army posts to war needs through an appropriation of 38 million dollars. The measure was sponsored by Representative Maury Maverick (D.) of Texas, also a member of the military affairs committee.

It called especially for improvement of army posts in the southwest as follows:

Ft. Sam Houston, $5,276,000; Camp Bullis, $82,500; Camp Stanley, $1,014,000; San Antonio arsenal, $233,000; Normoyle dept., $1,000,000; Kelly Field, $7,224,000; Brooks Field $4,375,000; Randolph Field, $843,000; Duncan Field $2,310,000.

STUDY OF LIQUOR SOUGHT

Columbus, O.—Dr. Edward B. Danford, national counsel for the Anti-saloon league of America, advised the wets and the drys to “laugh at each other, forget your pet prejudices, and start all over again on the solution of the liquor problem.”

Dunford, addressing an annual meeting of the Anti-saloon league of Ohio, advocated establishing a statistical method by which the facts with respect to the controversial subject may be obtained. “The drys promised a reformed society if prohibition were adopted, and were disappointed,” he declared. “The wets promised to bring it about thru repeal, and are rapidly being disillusioned. The liquor problem is still with us.”

FIRE TRUCK IS BURNED

Tilden, Neb.—Flames, believed to have started while someone was stealing gasoline from the local fire truck, broke out in the truck about midnight and destroyed the vehicle, leaving Tilden without adequate fire-fighting apparatus. Firemen for a time were unable to learn the location of the fire because the night telephone operator was not notified, altho the fire siren had sounded. While firemen were attempting to find the blaze, their truck was being consumed. The truck was in the pump house in the west end of Tilden, which was partially burned. A piece of hose and a can of gasoline were found near the truck. The gasoline tank cap had been removed and was on the seat.

BROWN GIVEN EIGHT YEARS

Sidney, Iowa, March 9.—Charles H. Brown, of Phelps City, Mo., was sentenced to eight years in Fort Madison penitentiary on charges of slaying William Mawhor, Riverton, Iowa, farmer, and was fined $100 by Judge Grover Brown, of Shenandoah.

Judge Brown set appeal bond at $3,500. Brown took the sentence calmly and when asked if there was any reason why sentence should not be passed, said he killed Mawhor because he “felt it my duty to protect my daughter, Ruby.”

HEIRESS WINS A DIVORCE

Reno, Nev.—Jane Hubinger Clark, wealthy Keokuk, Ia., starch heiress, was granted a sealed divorce from Hime Clark, Lincoln, Neb., midget auto racer. No settlement was made by the court on Clark's demands for alimony from Mrs. Clark. District Judge B. F. Currier granted the decree on grounds of extreme cruelty and non-support. They were married in Santa Ana, Calif., June 12, 1925.

Mrs. Clark charged while they were living in Los Angeles, police twice raided their home because of her husband's alleged bootlegging activities. In 1931, she asserted, he was convicted on “an offense commonly known as high-jacking,” and was sentenced to 30 days in jail. She said he managed to “extract” more than $35,000 from her.
