PROTEST STRIKE EXTENDED

St. Louis.—Construction work on the new $4,275,000 postoffice was halted as union workmen extended their protest strike against the employment policy of the WPA in the St. Louis area. The walkout, which took 2,000 members of building trades unions from work on 22 public works administration jobs was declared to protest the failure of the WPA to employ skilled workmen at prevailing union wages. The post-office is neither a PWA nor a WPA project, but the unions "called off" 75 ironworkers, painters and laborers as part of their plan to extend the strike to all government-financed work in the state.

CHECK TRAILER HOUSES

North Platte, Neb.—City council is to decide Tuesday what action it will take regarding the increasingly large number of persons living in auto trailer abodes. A police check revealed more than 85 trailer "houses" scattered thru the city, inhabited by families of two or more persons. In addition about 75 box cars are being used as residences. The greatest objection to the trailers is their apparent lack of sanitary equipment, police said.

FONY HERO OF FLOOD

Deerfield, Mass.—A pony named Pinto is the hero of Deerfield's flood. Five persons were rescued from their homes when Pinto, with a boy astride, swam to the houses, picked up the marooned, one at a time, and swam to dry land.

Safety Said Lacking in Travel by Aeroplane

Three Former Employes of Commerce Department Complain of That Agency.

Washington.—Three former employes of the commerce department's bureau of air commerce lashed at that agency before a senate investigating committee, particularly attacking the existing range of safety regulations. Still another witness, Representative Utterback, democrat, Iowa, appeared with testimony that he considered safety conditions on the nation's airways so disquieting that he was uncertain whether he wanted to travel further by air. Utterback appeared as a character witness for J. A. Mount, former superintendent of maintenance of the bureau of air commerce, who was asked to resign several months ago in a bureau dispute.

Reiterating his charges against the bureau, Mount added to criticism voiced by Luther Harris, formerly with the bureau and now with air lines operating between Washington and Detroit, and Jack Hajim of New York, former radio operator in the bureau. Both of the latter asserted they had suggested improvement in safety operations, but had gotten nowhere. Mount and Utterback reconstructed details of an investigation last May 1 by a bureau committee into Mount's conduct. At that hearing they told the committee Mount complained that safety regulations were inadequate, radio beams were too weak, and generally that conditions along the airways were unsatisfactory.

So much was asserted about unsafe conditions, Utterback testified, "that I haven't been in a plane since." He added that while he wanted to go to the forthcoming democratic state convention in Iowa, "I'm not sure I want to fly." At that bureau hearing, Mount testified, he expressed the hope it would not "take a serious accident" to awaken the bureau to the validity of his charges. "That was just five days before Senator Cutting (Bronson Cutting of New Mexico) was killed in an air crash in my state," Senator Clark, democrat, Missouri, supplied.

CASHES A NOTIFICATION

Superior, Neb.—Since a grocer and a banker were fooled, an elderly Superior man doesn't feel so bad about his mistake. He received a card notifying him of the approval of his old age pension. He thought it was the same as a check, and cashed it at a grocery store. The grocer took it to the bank, where it was accepted as a check.

Furthermore, the pensioner received the full amount of the pension, altho it wasn't issued until a third of the month was gone and he was only entitled to two-thirds of the face amount for March.

Actual checks to old age pensioners are issued by the county treasurers.

Friendly Settlements Aid in Farm Problems

Federal Debt Adjustment Committee Finds That Number of Cases in Court Smaller.

The marked recovery in Nebraska farm property values since the end of 1934 is due in large measure to an increase in friendly debt settlements out of court and a sharp drop in the number of farm foreclosures, according to Mr. J. W. Mendenhall, chairman of the Cass county farm debt adjustment committee. Statements of farm leaders of real estate men and federal land bank reports all show a strong recovery in farm valuations, he commented.

This gain is in striking contrast to the plunge during the preceding five-year census period when Nebraska farm land and buildings dropped from a little less than two and a half billion dollars to the end of 1929 to a little more than one and a half billions at the end of 1934. In this county farm values tumbled from around $44,633,000 to $28,532,000 during the same period.

The huge farm mortgage debt estimated at $561,000,000 for Nebraska and more than nine billions for the nation in 1930 had a big part in driving values far below normal by causing many farms to be dumped on the market through foreclosure.

National farm organizations say that voluntary debt adjustment committees of men and women working without pay in nearly every county in the nation had saved 150,000 farms from foreclosure by last September 1, when the Resettlement Administration took over the job of aiding these committees. In the five months from that date to February 1, Nebraska committees helped debtors and creditors reach friendly agreements in 392 cases. Creditors in these cases voluntarily cut their debts more than one-third—from about $11,000,000 to $735,000.

Although these impartial committees have no legal power and cannot loan money, they often help arrange to have a loan extended or refinanced so the farmer can pay his debts in full.

Farm debtors or creditors who want the advice or help of this committee may visit the chairman, the Resettlement office in this county, or any of the following committee members: Mr. Henry Meierjurgan, Murdock; Mr. W. A. Ost, Nehawka; Mr. E. H. Spangler, Plattsmouth.

SHIPLINE PUNISHES TARS

New York.—U. S. Shipping Commissioner Daly announced the Panama Pacific line had penalized 60 members of the deck crew of the liner California for participating in a three day delay in the ship's sailing from San Pedro, Calif.

Daly, who said he was awaiting a decision from the department of justice as to whether the actions of the seamen constituted mutiny, added that none of the crew was being detained, aboard or elsewhere, but that the 60 men had been docked from three to six days' pay each.

LESS FEAR OF DIPHTHERIA

Mitchell, Neb.—Fear of a possible spread of diphtheria in CCC camp 759 near here was minimized Tuesday as only three cases, all minor, were reported by camp officers after 50 enrollees were tested for the disease.

Fear of a possible epidemic was expressed following the death Sunday of Clair Record, 20, Stromsburg youth and member of the camp, of septic diphtheria. An army airplane flew testing supplies and immunization material here Monday.

Inflated or ordinary dollars—either kind will still buy most if expended in your home community, where a part is retained to help meet the tax burden and other community obligations.
