Laughing Around the World With IRVIN S. COBB

A Seeker After Information

By IRVIN S. COBB

TMMEDIATELY following the historic murder of the gambler, Rosenthal, in New York, the papers were full of stories to the effect that members of the uniformed police force had cleared the street in front of the Hotel Metropole in order the assassins might pot their victims without interruption.

A night or two after the killing, a very tired man was clinging to an awning post opposite the Metropole, in Forty-third street, when a patrolman came by and ordered him to move on. "Very well," said the weary one thickly. "Very well, ossifer; but Pd like to ask you a civil ques-n first." "Well, what is it?" demanded the policeman.

"Who you fellers fixin' to shoot now?" (American News Festures, Inc.)
