Celebrated Birthday Anniversary
A group of the young people of Murray last Sunday went out to Cedar Creek where they at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Read celebrated the passing of her birthday. Dinner was taken along by the visitors, in baskets. Those present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Richter and son, Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mrasek, Mrs. Frank Mrasek and daughter, Clara Joe Richter, and Miss Freda Crunk, all of Murray, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Read, Arthur Maris and Bobbie Richter of Cedar Creek.

Rock Creek Bridge.
The bridge over Rock Creek on the highway south of the filling station has been needing repairs and so a detour was effected leading west from John Hobscheidt's place for a mile, then north to the Murray garage and then east to the filling station, placing the traveler back on highway 75, or vice versa as the case might be. This worked well until last Saturday night when the heavy rain came causing the roads to be very muddy. Many were pulled out by Ivan Deles Denter who made a good thing of it until the roads dried. This put Murray on the main line of traffic which naturally went over highways 34 and 75.

Free Pictures for Murray.
Last Saturday night was the first of a series of free moving pictures which are being featured by the enterprising merchants and others of the citizenry. Last Saturday there was a large and greatly interested crowd in town.

Takes United Effort.
The grasshoppers which are a menace to the farming community, has been taken into consideration by many of the farmers while others do not consider them as being dangerous enough to cause them to be poisoned and only a few out of the great number of farmers are poisoning them. If there is any virtue in poisoning the pest, all the farmers should join in fighting as but few working for their extermination does but little good.

Father's Day, Sunday, June 29.
Fine assortment of cards at Bates Book Store.
