

Nehawka

Robert McDonald has made the purchase of a Model A Ford.

Stuart Rough who with his daughter, Mrs. Martin Ross went to Iowa last week for a visit with another daughter, returned to Nehawka last Monday evening.

J. H. Steffens and wife were in Springfield last Monday to attend the funeral of the late Ben Metzger who died suddenly last Saturday. Mrs. Metzger and Mrs. Magney were school chums.

Mrs. Rice, mother of Will Rice, who makes her home at Belden, accompanied by another son and wife, Marvin Rice, were guests for the day last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rice.

J. A. Scotten with a number of his workmen were in Nehawka this week making some repairs and changes at the Nehawka consolidated school, getting the building in readiness for the opening of school in the early fall.

Home From the East.

Robert Chapman, one of the rural carriers out of Nehawka who has with the family been spending some weeks in the east, returned home last week and has returned to his work. Beginning Monday of this week Tommy Mason, the other carrier is taking his vacation, he with his wife going to Kansas to visit relatives and friends for the next two weeks.

The Chicken Eater Stalled

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Murdoch were lost and hostess last Sunday at their home on the farm where they had their guests for the day and dinner the family of W. H. Kruger, Mrs. J. A. Murdoch and daughter, Miss Jessie. They all enjoyed a very fine chicken dinner, there being an even half dozen on the plate. Mr. Kruger did his best and stayed until the fifth chicken was cleaned up and also ackled the sixth one, but was not ble to eat it all.

Good Price for Corn.
Gayle Sturm shelled and delivered his corn on Monday of this week, the same being delivered to the Nehawka elevator where he got $1.20 per cu. for it. The price of corn is receding at this time as the growing crops of oats, wheat and corn are making good advances.

Ended with Picnic.

The Daily Vacation Bible school which has been conducted by the Methodist church of Nehawka for the past two weeks was closed last Friday and the closing was accompanied by a picnic of the scholars. It was expected that the diplomas were to be awarded as this time but as they were not ready they will be given at the Bible school the coming Sunday.

Consolidated Two Events.

Children's day was to be observed by the Methodist Bible school last Sunday but by some event things were not in readiness so it was postponed until the coming Sunday when it will be staged in conjunction with Father's day which comes next Sunday. A very interesting program is expected.

Conclude the Year's Work.

The last meeting for the year of the members of the Busy Workers of the Methodist church in Nehawka was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oren Pollard last Wednesday and a picnic was held last Saturday which concluded the year's work of the society until early in the fall when they will become active again.

Visited at Manley.

Robert McDonald and family were over to Manley last Sunday where they visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. McDonald, parents of Robert. The family of Will Meyers was also present, where all enjoyed a very pleasant visit. They at that time distributed the effects of Grandmother Myra McDonald, who passed away a few weeks ago.

Mixing Much Medicine.

A complement of some twelve men are and have been busily engaged in mixing grasshopper poison for the pests at the Sheldon Manufacturing company. Bran and sawdust are mixed with the poison. The only cost is for the poison, the other ingredients being furnished by the government, thus making the poison less expensive. We visited the works at the factory and found the mixers very busy.

Enjoyed Picnic Dinner.

Last Sunday at the home of Harold Dodson and wife was gathered the families of Olaf Lundberg, Verner Lundberg, and Alba Dodson where they went prepared for a good time and sure they had it, as they took plenty of good things to eat and among them a liberal quantity of fried chicken.

Wanted to Buy.

I wish to purchase a full set of series of McGuffey's Readers. Must be in fair condition, or would buy them singly. See or write me at Nehawka. —A. F. Sturm.

Local Officers Search for Fort Crook Soldiers

Deputy Sheriff Cass Sylvester and Officer Lancaster Patrol Highway for Deserters.

Deputy Sheriff Cass Sylvester put in the larger part of Monday night in patrolling the highways in this locality for Elmer F. Kitcher, 23 and Ted Olson, 23, who on Monday afternoon overpowered a guard at the Fort Crook guardhouse and made their escape from the post. The men were being held on charges of desertion and had been given positions as trustees and Monday afternoon had asked a guard for some tools to work with. On the way to secure the tools the guard, John Makis, claimed to have fainted and was bound and gagged by the two men who had then taken his 45 pistol and escaped. The search was made by soldiers and officers over this section of the country in hope of apprehending the men but without success.

There were reports that the men were seen on the highway south of this city attempting to secure a ride from passing motorists and this was investigated by the deputy sheriff and Officer Jarvis Lancaster. The officers covered a large part of the highway but failed to find any suspicious characters. Deputy Sheriff Sylvester also searched hobo camps near here and in the hope of being able to find the men.

The men were dressed in blue denim fatigue clothes when they made their escape.

DEATH OF MRS. KIETHLEY

From Wednesday's Daily—
Mrs. W. A. Kiethley passed away at the family home in Syracuse yesterday. Interment will be at Nebraska City tomorrow.

For many years, the Kiethleys had the Weeping Water Republican, going from there to Syracuse, where they engaged in the newspaper business.

OMAHA PARTIES WEDDED

Tuesday afternoon at the court house occurred the marriage of Miss Edith Margaret Barry and Mr. Wayne Richard Walter, both of Omaha. The marriage lines were read by Judge A. H. Duxbury and the ceremony witnessed by Charles Cramer and Mrs. Geo. Fuller of Omaha, friends of the bridal couple.

SHOWING IMPROVEMENT

Mrs. Arthur Troop, who has been taking treatment at an Omaha hospital, has so far recovered that she is now able to leave the hospital and will be at the home of her sister, Mrs. Arthur Sleeth in Omaha for a time. It is hoped that she may soon be able to return to the home here and be restored to her former health.

DEPARTS FOR THE WEST

From Tuesday's Daily—
Miss Maxine Cloldt, who has been teaching the past year in the McCook, Nebraska, high school, departed today for Boulder, Colorado, where she will spend a few weeks. She will attend the summer school of the University of Colorado, taking special work on her degree at this nationally known school.

Heavy Rain Sweeps Over Cass County

Heavy Rain Brings High Water in Business Section of City Late Saturday Night.

The southern part of Nebraska Saturday received one of the heaviest rains of the early summer season, 1.82 inches being registered here Sunday as the result of the down-pour.

The rain commenced in this city shortly before 10 o'clock and continued in increasing force until after midnight, the waters from the hills sweeping down into the main section of the city and bringing up the water to the curbs along Sixth street and leaving in its wake quantities of mud and debris.

The amount of debris washed down from the hills was not as great however as in former high water, the water courses over the city being cleaned out and able to carry the flood waters in better shape.

In the country there was some washing of corn reported and in the southwest part of the county there was a great deal of the grain blown down by the force of the wind and in Lancaster county the wind swept at tornado like velocity and caused much damage.

Community is Visited by Very Heavy Rainfall

Rainfall Here Reaches 1.87 and Caused Overflow of Waterways Over City.

From Wednesday's Daily—
The community last evening was visited by another of the torrential rainfalls in the short time that it raged brought a total of 1.87 inches in this city and which caused the overflow of waterways in all sections, leaving large quantities of mud and silt in its wake.

The rain falling in sheets shortly after 6 o'clock soon brought a raging torrent of water down Chicago avenue, this section draining for several miles in the country, the water moving off swiftly and was soon on its way to the business section of the city. A few moments after the south side waterways were pouring their burden into the avenues and Sixth street, the north side creek started to overflow and it also added its part to the miniature flood.

While the water on Sixth street reached the top of the curb on the east side of the street, the efforts of members of the fire department, almost hip deep in water, opened several of the intakes and allowed the water to subside without serious damage.

The flood water left in its wake a heavy deposit of mud along both north and south Sixth street and along the avenues, undoing the work of the city street department which had been busy washing the streets and leaving the work all to be done over again.

The rapid rise of the water was due largely to the fact that the small sewer inlets fail to carry off the water, grass and debris clogging up the openings where the iron retards hold the debris and in a few moments have the sewers plugged so that little water can enter. The removal of the iron should be tried to see if it will not help the situation as each heavy rain brings on a repetition of the high water.

The rain in the nearby districts was very heavy and the creeks were soon running bank full and overflowing into the lowlands along their courses and doing some damage.

HEAR COMPENSATION CASE

From Tuesday's Daily—
District Judge W. W. Wilson was holding court today and the trial of the case of Edward Barker vs. August Ossenkop, a compensation hearing was on before the court. Mr. Barker, who was a driver of a truck for Mr. Ossenkop was injured two years ago when his truck was overturned and he was badly injured and spent many months in an Omaha hospital. Both of the parties are residents of Louisville.

RETURNS HOME

Frank M. Bestor, who has been taking treatment at the St. Joseph hospital at Omaha, has so far recovered that he was able to return home Sunday. He will continue his course of treatment at home here and it will be some time before he can resume his usual activities.

Weeping Water

C. H. Findley was looking after some business matters in Lincoln on Tuesday morning of this week.

Bert Fischer was visiting with his son, Everett at Concord, Neb., for the greater portion of this week.

Elmont Preston was a visitor in Omaha last Monday where he had some business matters to look after. Mrs. Mary Utt of Murdoch, grandmother of Mrs. Owen Runyan was guest at the Runyon home last Sunday, remaining until the first of the week when they all made a visit at Lincoln.

On last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Binger, John Bolz and wife were guests at the home of Henry Bolz of Palmyra who are parents of John Bolz where they spent the day very pleasantly.

Miss Clara Johnson went to Friend Saturday of last week where she is visiting with her brother, C. Wally Johnson who conducts a picture show there. She is expecting to return to Weeping Water the latter portion of this week.

Mrs. John E. Johnson went to Omaha last Saturday and is visiting for the week at the home of two daughters, one unmarried daughter making her home in Omaha while another, Mrs. H. D. Martin resides in Council Bluffs.

Mrs. J. Johansen, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Leo Rikil and family of Murdoch went to Manning, Iowa, the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Johansen where they have been visiting for the past week and will remain for some time yet.

Edward Mullen, state supervisor of the sanitary project of the WPA and Ed Thimman, superintendent of the Plattsmouth project were in Weeping Water and with G. R. Binger were looking after business at the different points in the center of the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rough were host and hostess at their country home for the day and an excellent dinner last Sunday and had as their guests for the occasion Miss Agnes Rough, sister of Mr. Rough and Miss Barbara Everett. A very enjoyable visit was had.

J. Johansen was a visitor in Murdoch last Sunday, going in time for church services in the morning and attending the funeral of Mrs. W. T. Weddell and during the afternoon visiting with his grandson, Vinton Rikil who is staying at home looking after the farm while the other members of the family are visiting in Iowa.

Making Good Improvements.

At the Joyce place, electric shop and confectionery where they have had three booths for serving the patrons, have partitioned off the room making room for a total of five booths instead of the three. The partition was also moved back twelve feet, making the front of the business room larger. A balcony was also constructed over the twelve foot addition which will be used for parties.

Working in Nehawka.

Under the direction of the county agent there is being manufactured a large amount of grasshopper poison, with a complement of from ten to twelve men from Weeping Water mixing the poison. Two carloads of sawdust and a large amount of bran was used besides the poison which is mixed with the bulkier materials. Chris Rasmussen, Soran Skarmis, Wm. Gussett and a number of others are working at the mixing and sacking of the mixture.

Will Visit in West.

P. H. Miller will take a few days off about the first of July and extending over the Fourth and will visit at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Martin Johnson and husband of Siebert, Colo.

Will Have Excellent Time.

The members of the American Legion and of the Weeping Water fire department have been very busy in preparation for the celebration of the glorious Fourth of July in Weeping Water. The celebration will be held on Saturday, July 3rd. There will be entertainment and amusements for all.

Ran the Blockade.

Earl Oldham with his truck was in Omaha last Monday and succeeded in running the blockade of picketers who are interested in the truckers' strike. Earl is making another trip today (Thursday) and while he has been interviewed has always succeeded in getting through with his load without becoming a member of the union.

Make Unsatisfactory Visit.

Some of the truckers of Weeping Water went to Lincoln last Monday to see and they did see at that. They were not allowed to take any loaded trucks out of the city and also were required to become members of the truckers union and when they had become members were told that the truckers union was on strike and they as members would not be allowed to haul goods in trucks when their order was out on strike. This did not set well and after holding them and the trucks during the day they were permitted to return home with their empty trucks. The new members of the truckers union, although contrary to their desires are Rasmus Lauritzen, James Kivitt and Mogens Johnson.

Mrs. Martin Neilson Poorly.

Mrs. Martin Neilson who has been in poor health for some time, goes to Omaha once a week to receive treatment. Mr. and Mrs. Neilson and son, Julius were over to Omaha last Monday where they went to see the doctor.

Entertained Legislators.

Senator John Kuckreim of Grand Island, a member of the unicameral legislature entertained the other members of the legislature and their wives at a dinner and conference last Sunday. Senator Fred L. Carsten and wife of this district, and son, Calvin Carsten and wife were present. Senator Carsten reported a very fine trip an excellent dinner. He also reports an excellent prospect for crops all along the way with the single exception of new Lincoln where there has been a lack of moisture. There were plates for 120 at the dinner.

Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, June 20th By L. Neitzel, Murdoch, Neb.

Joseph's Kindness to His Brethren

Gen. 45:1-7, 28-30; 50:24-26

The superscription of this lesson should be: "God! Love—Faith—Hope—Peace."

With this lesson we conclude the first half of the sojourning of the patriarchs in the promised land. Two hundred and fifteen years have gone by since the call of Abraham until Jacob moves to Egypt.

Another two hundred and fifteen and Moses leads the descendants of Jacob out of Egypt; which corresponds with Ex. 12:40-41. These concluding chapters of Genesis are rich with human experience. The caption of this lesson is demonstrated throughout. Love is seen in that Joseph plans and provides for his father and his household the best that Egypt has. His father had cared for him seventeen years. The father reaps a rich harvest for these seventeen years. So should children care for their parents—that would relieve our Nation and State of the burden of furnishing "old age assistance."

Love causes Joseph to forgive his brethren the sin committed. The tenderness of his heart is revealed when he assures them in these words: "Fear not... ye thought evil against me, but God meant unto good... I will nourish you and your children."

With these comforting words hope sprang up in the breast of these men. Faith was established, full confidence between Joseph and his brethren and a lasting peace.

With the return of Jacob's sons from Joseph with the joyful news that Joseph was alive and a lord over all Egypt, he did not believe them, only when he saw the wagons that should carry him to his son did his heart find words: "It is enough. Joseph, my son, is yet alive. I will go and see him before I die;" and to Pharaoh he can say: "The days of the years of my pilgrimage... are few and evil;" but they have come to an end also; for now on no more "evil days," but in the midst of a reunited family, in a land of plenty, he leads a peaceful, contented life.

But we return in our narrative to Canaan and take leave of the old home, where Jacob experienced so many sad and evil days, and still he had many visits from God assuring him that he would make all his promises good, and bring him (his body) surely back to the old home and he should be buried with his father and Leal. So the caravan starts out for Tegypt; they come to Beer-Sheba, their order of Canaan, a last service and sacrifice is offered to Jehovah; the new venture must not be undertaken without the consent of God. Many failures would be avoided if man would consult with God. Moses said: "I will not go except thou goest with us." Certainly I will be with thee, was God's answer.

Well they are on their way; they reach Egypt and are directed to Goshen, the most fertile part of the upper Nile valley, their new home. Seventy-six in all—in two hundred and fifteen years they number over 2,740,000. Here goes the nucleus of a great nation, when they leave Egypt they are a great number, but after forty years in the wilderness, Moses had moulded them into a nation. Their life in Goshen was necessary to keep them a unit; they must not separate and mix with the Gentiles; they are to be a "peculiar people."

Marvelously, God's deep laid plans and purposes are here revealed, and the way they are carried out. The partiality of Jacob to Joseph started the brothers to envy, which led to hatred, which led to crime. The crime brought Joseph to the place where God could use him. Should man do evil that good may come out of it? The thirteen years of slave and prison life, and a close walk with God, ripened a man into an instrument for God's purposes. When needed—he had his man ready. (Think of Moses' 80 years of schooling.)

Genesis closes with Jacob's valedictory or the blessing of his sons. One hundred fifty-five years later we see Moses repeating the scene. (See Deut. 34). In this period God accomplished and fulfilled his promise made to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. The death and burial of Jacob is Kings received such honors; but Jacob was a "prince with God" and was honored as such. A great man had left the world—his descendants are scattered all over the face of the earth—a distinct race. He was the ancestor of our Lord, Jesus Christ. He left a legacy to the human race—in him are all the nations of the earth are blessed—through Christ an offended God is reconciled—through Christ a way is opened by which man can come to God, receive remission of his sins—the adoption into God's family—become an heir, joint-heir with Christ—heir of eternal life.

Christ, the twelve
