MYNARD CHURCH NOTES

What is the cure for indifference? That question we hear asked time after time. There is a story told of a jack rabbit that was sitting lazily on his hind feet watching the setting sun. All of a sudden he thought it was time to move and he went some place.

The motto is don't set up and sit, get up and get it. This will cure indifference when practiced by the individual. Or in other words put a little enthusiasm into whatever your hands find to do. At a county fair up in New England there was a constant crowd around a certain exhibit, which created quite a bit of excitement, and a great deal of admiration, and was the occasion for many remarks. The exhibit was marked Raised on an Abandoned Farm. This exhibit included twenty-two varieties of potatoes, several varieties of wheat, oats, barley, rye, squash, melons, beets, carrots, turnips and onions. Someone asked how could a man from the city make a success of farming. The reason: He loved his work, and therefore he made a success of it, he really got something out of it because he was willing to put something into it. We wonder why so many people get so little out of the church.

They fail to put anything into it. A mother went home from the morning service, and said she did not enjoy the sermon that morning. It was no good. Her little girl was a philosopher and said, "Mother, what could you expect for a penny?" Let us put a little enthusiasm into the church, and see if we don't get something out of it.

You may not like everything the preacher says or does. I wonder if he likes everything you do or say. Let us be reasonable Christians, and come out to the Children's service Sunday morning and enjoy this service.

Sabbath school at 10 o'clock. Children's service at 11.

H. A. McKELVEY, Pastor.

HOME FROM BRIEF TRIP

The Elmer Webb family arrived home last night from a four day visit at the home of Mrs. Webb's aunt, Mrs. Albert Tinschert, at Cheighton, Nebr. They found crops much better there than in recent years, but still quite dry beyond Pierce. A quarter inch rain fell at Cheighton Saturday evening, being the major precipitation of the past three weeks. A little rain fell at Center Friday evening, at the same time a small twister was cutting a narrow swath in the vicinity of McLean, some 20 miles east. Farm buildings were destroyed and many head of live stock killed, but residents saw the approaching storm in time to take refuge in caves (nearly every farm home up that way has one) and no lives were lost.

At Pierce three inches of rain fell Saturday afternoon in a comparatively short time.

The Webb family were accompanied home by Miss Ida Mae Lang, a Knox county young lady who has been engaged in teaching for a number of years and who will seek a school in southeastern Nebraska for the coming year.

ADDS NEW LINE

The Rosen Auto company of Plattsmouth has taken on the Allis-Chalmers agricultural farm machinery line. This line will be carried in addition to the line of new and used cars which they have been carrying.

The Allis-Chalmers All Crop Harvester which they are now featuring is designed especially for the mid-western farmer. It will harvest by itself 83 different crops among which are our own crops of wheat, oats, rye, alfalfa, clover, barley, and timothy. This machine will reduce the cost of harvesting by at least 60%. It is mobile and can be transported without demounting any parts, since it has a total clearance of eleven and one-half feet. This machine despite the fact that it has a five foot cutting bar can harvest at the rate of 2 acres per hour; and will travel at a ground speed of three to five miles per hour.

Several of our farmers have already purchased these machines. Among the satisfied owners are Alvin McReynolds at Nehawka, Malvin Wiles at Weeping Water, Ed and Chas. Howard at Murray, William W. Wetenkamp at Mynard. Many others are contemplating buying this machine.

Another product which they are featuring, which has achieved international fame, is the Allis-Chalmers championship plows. During the past season an A-C strictly stock plow was entered in the manufacturers class at four nationally famous plowing matches, and won all four championships. This plow comes in a two, three, four, and five bottom sizes. It has such features as pose lift, light draft, and other features.

The Allis-Chalmers tractor was the first to come out with rubber tires. Since that time, other major manufacturers have followed their example. This tractor is light, powerful, cheap operating and is available in all types of wheels.

Missouri River Reaches High Point Today

Crest Thought to Be Here During the Day, Altho Stream Still High Near Blair.

From Wednesday's Daily— The Missouri river at this point was still at a very high stage today and showed a two inch rise over that of yesterday or 16.7, but the experienced rivermen who have grown familiar with the old mudd, are of the opinion that the stream is now at its crest.

The flood waters are now well over the bottoms near the mouth of the sewer creek and have seeped up near the residence of the Ray Herold family and the water from the main river also has grown close to the Grover Elledge home straight east of the Burlington station and near the river bank. In several places the water is seeping through the corn land of T. H. Pollock east of the pumping station, seeming to come in from one of the drainage ditches that have been built east of the road.

Water has come up around the Grebe place along the Missouri and near the railroad bridge but has occasioned but little worry to these veteran dwellers of the Missouri banks and who have had many years of experience with the river in its angry moods.

At Blair the river was reported near its anticipated crest of 18.8 feet. Weary CCC men and farmers had given up the hopeless task of saving a dike about five miles north of the city which had broken in three places during the day and flooded a thousand acres of land. The crews, which have been working in shifts day and night since Monday morning, turned their attention to another dike about three miles south of Blair.

Already between two hundred and three hundred acres of corn and wheat in that section were covered with a foot of water on the farm owned by Deputy Sheriff William Gustin.

This dike, only six feet thick, already had 10 feet of water behind it Tuesday night, and it was feared efforts to save it might fail before the river flood crest passes.

The crest of the flood reached Bellevue this morning at 10 o'clock and a dike that was used to protect the farming land was broken and some 400 acres of wheat were under water. The dike was on the farm of J. A. Hipper and it is thought the dike may have been tampered with and weakened permitting it to be cut out by the water.

held their last meeting for this club year at the home of the president, Mrs. Nellie Long, when a picnic dinner was enjoyed by the members and their families at the noon hour on the beautifully shaded lawn at the Long home. After doing justice to the bountiful repast, consisting of fried chickens, as well as all the other good things which this group of women knows how best to prepare, and ending with ice cream, cakes, strawberries and pies, the members assembled in the living room where a short business session was held, followed by entertainment which had been prepared by the entertainment committee for the occasion.

Meeting adjourned to meet again on the regular day in September. Hostess to be announced later.

Thus terminated another very successful club year for this group of ladies who are always interested in really worth while things and enjoy the lesson period as well as the sociability. All pronounced Mrs. Long a royal entertainer.
