Funeral of Mrs. Deles Derner The funeral of Mrs. William Deles Derner, who passed away Tuesday morning of last week was held on Thursday, with interment in the Elmwood cemetery. The sermon was preached by Rev. Homer F. Fintell, pastor of the Methodist church, as Rev. Baker, Christian pastor had just accepted a call to go to Dakota and moved away. An account of the life of Mrs. Deles Derner appeared in last Thursday's issue of the Journal.

Mrs. Nickel at Hospital Mrs. Jennie Nickel, who has been in poor health was taken to the Bryan Memorial hospital in Lincoln for observation and treatment. It is possible she may have to undergo an operation, but her friends hope she may be spared from that ordeal. It was found necessary to give her a blood transfusion shortly after her arrival there, as her condition was quite serious.

Busy with Harvest At the farm of Mrs. Charles Buell, harvest was on in real earnest last week. To Have Fine Postoffice The old bank building, which was recently purchased by Henry Crozier and Knud Jensen, of Weeping Water, is being entirely remodeled and will be made into a fine up-to-date postoffice room. The old bank furniture has been removed and new equipment is being installed for the postoffice. This building is located in the central portion of town and provides an excellent place for the postoffice. Mrs. Carl Schneider, the capable postmistress, will find this a much more pleasant place in which to look after the business of receiving and dispatching mail.

Laughing Around the World With IRVIN S. COBB

Why They Called It a Bug-House

By IRVIN S. COBB THE CHIEF physician came up to an inmate in a private insane asylum, slapped him on the back, and said in comforting accents. "Well, old man, you're all right. I've just pronounced you cured."

of all the delusions which afflicted you. You can run along now and write word to your people that you'll be back home in two weeks as good as new."

The patient departed gaily to write his letter. He had finished it and sealed it, but as he was licking the stamp it slipped through his fingers to the floor, and fell on the back of a cockroach that was passing and stuck there. The patient hadn't seen the cockroach—what he did see was his escaped postage stamp zig-zagging over the floor to the baseboard, and following a crooked track up the wall and along the ceiling overhead. In depressed silence he tore up the letter he had just written and dropped the pieces to the floor. "Two weeks! Hell!" he said. "I won't ever get out of this place. I'm worse off than I was when they brought me here."

weather and exceedingly hot winds, which looked like it would damage the small grain, the wheat which has been harvested and deliver to the local grain dealer is, showing up pretty well. Some have reported as high as 40 bushels to the acre, a considerable number of fields have averaged 30 or more and of course some have gone as low as 15. But in all there is going to be a good deal of wheat with plenty to eat and some to spare.

Working in Harvest Field George W. Blessing, proprietor of the Elmwood Leader-Echo, sensing the shortage of help in the harvest fields, went to the farm of Mrs. Blessing near Murdock, which is being farmed by Joseph F. Gustin, and put in the day last Monday pitching wheat bundles in order that the grain might be taken care of. It was a rather strenuous way to observe the Fourth, but George came through with flying colors despite the fact he has not done any of this kind of work for a long time.

Had Laugh on Us Just as we were leaving Avoca last week and had started our auto, we heard a loud explosion similar to a tire blowing out and for an instant we had visions of mending a tire in the hot sun, but as the car proceeded we found that some of the folks at the elevator had only thrown a fire cracker under our car to give us a thrill, which they did very admirably indeed.

Sister Dies as Result of Fall Mrs. Florence Durham of Avoca was shocked to receive a message advising her of the death of her younger sister, Mary, of Mondamin, Iowa, which occurred in Omaha, where she had been visiting at the home of another sister.

Bus Service Discontinued The buses which have served the people along the Union-Lincoln line of the Missouri Pacific railroad have been withdrawn from service, leaving the mail and passenger business to the trains. This changes the delivery of mail at the Elmwood postoffice and other towns along the line, a condition to which patrons of the office will have to adjust themselves.

Work on Bridge Progressing The new bridge on the O street highway just west of the Missouri Pacific tracks is to be 57 feet in length allowing sufficient to carry two lines of traffic—a great improvement over the old narrow bridge at that point. A total of 1,500 sacks of cement and four carloads of sand and gravel will be required in the erection of the new bridge. The Keim Construction company of Tecumseh has the contract for this work.

In addition to the new bridge at this point, the hill to the east is to be cut down some ten feet, while a cut of some four feet will be made in the hill to the west, with a grade seven feet higher than the present bridge floor level, thus making a very great improvement in the approaches to this bridge that has long been a menace to traffic.

INDIAN SHOT SITTING BULL, SAYS VETERAN TROOPER

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. (UP)—It was a bullet from the gun of an Indian, Red Tomahawk, and not that of a white man, which killed Sitting Bull, a militant chieftain, according to Albert Bloomer, 72, a member of a troop sent to relieve a detail of Indian police embroiled in skirmish. They had attempted to kidnap Sitting Bull while his camp slept, but the sachem aroused his supporters to battle. Bloomer was with Troop F, 8th U. S. cavalry, stationed at Fort Yates in the Standing Rock Indian reservation.
