WORK PROGRESSING ON DOCK

The new road recently completed to the Plattsmouth dock site offers opportunity to car owners to drive out and see what is going on toward giving Plattsmouth the first dock, loading wharf and warehouse in Nebraska. Real progress has been made the last ten days, following the fall of water in the Missouri.

At noon today, most of the form work, including reinforcing steel, for the foundation, was complete and the pouring of concrete ready to begin. Underneath this concrete foundation and floor, supporting and anchoring it, are upwards of forty large river piling, which were driven by a land driver prior to the first river rise in June.

The new Plattsmouth dock will be one of the finest anywhere north of Kansas City, and the rock paved Plattsmouth river front is so situated as to be accessible to rail traffic at a moderate construction cost.
