Four Games at Home and Four Away With One Open Date on Local Card This Season.

The schedule for the Plattsmouth high school football season has just been released by Coach Clark Boggs...

The season opens early and has an early closing that will avoid much of the bad weather of the late November days...

This year in the schedule the College View game will be replaced by one with Sidney, Iowa...

The schedule as announced by Coach Boggs is as follows:

- Sept. 17—Weeping Water, there. Sept. 24—Glenwood, here. October 1—Valley, here.

While many of the veteran players of the past two years are gone from the school, there is a good look-in group from which the coach should be able to develop a hard fighting team...

See the goods you buy. Catalog descriptions are alluring enough, but how about the goods when you get them?

Fine Talent on 'Honor Platts-mouth' Hour

Portable Broadcast Unit to be Here Tuesday, Sept. 14th at 4:30—Full Hour's Program.

Five of KOIL's radio favorites have been named to participate in the New KOIL salute broadcast from Plattsmouth on Tuesday, Sept. 14th, at 4:30 p. m.

They are Bob Cunningham, Don Kelley, Had Hughes, Ray Suber and John McKay. The Master Singers, a radio quartette will also accompany these five outstanding radio performers to Plattsmouth.

Cunningham, program director at KOIL, famous for his sports and news broadcasts and formerly night supervisor for the Columbia Broadcasting System in Chicago, will be with the troupe of announcers, engineers and entertainers when they visit here, directing and producing the show himself. Accompanying him will be Don Kelly, formerly man-on-the-street for KOIL, and the two of them will handle the booster broadcast description of the town from the KOIL flying mobile broadcasting unit.

Had Hughes, market and home-town news reporter in the Omaha studios, will also take part in the show here. He is one of the earliest radio entertainers, gaining fame originally as a one man show for George Porgie. An accomplished comedian, he does rural and hillbilly monologues, as well as one man dramas in which he takes as many as nine different parts.

Ray Suber, from KOIL studios in Lincoln, will also be here. Suber, long prominent in dramatic and theatrical activities in the middle west, will do some of his comic monologues and will probably engage in dialect banter with Hughes during the full hour's program that has been arranged.

John McKay, newscaster heard on KOIL at 5:30 and 9 p. m. each week-

NEW MEXICO U. PROMISES JOBS FOR ATHLETES

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (UP)—A club has been formed here to encourage athletes to remain in New Mexico and attend state schools—especially the University of New Mexico.

One of the chief sponsors explained that the group of business men and school officials had been formed to obtain athletes in an "ethical and honest" manner.

Leaders of the movement said that the plan to obtain jobs for athletes has the approval of the Board of Regents, but all athletes will be required to work at their jobs with no positions of the "clock winding" variety solicited.

S. Y. Jackson, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce University Co-operation Committee said at the organization meeting:

"Other schools have been getting athletes and as a result have been knocking our ears down."

Joseph L. Daily, president of the Board of Regents, said that the board was endeavoring to give the university as good an athletic setup as possible under the reorganization.

"The regents want every honest and ethical thing that can be done to improve the Lobo team," he said. "There is nothing unethical in bringing a student here and giving him a job so that he can work his way through school."

Coach Ted Shipkey, who succeeded Gwynn Henry this year, told the club that he could take the present material and make football players but that he needed men of higher caliber for an outstanding team.

"We are going to develop a team that will be colorful. The Lobos will play a wide-open brand of football that will make scores when it clicks, but we must have high caliber men to do it with," Shipkey declared.

night, will be among the troupe appearing in Plattsmouth and will be introduced to the crowd assembled for the broadcast.

Another group of entertainers to appear on this program will be the Master Singers, made up of Bob Belamy and Art Barnaby, tenors; Walter Reusch, baritone, and William Miller, bass. All four are students of the University of Nebraska and sing over KOIL each morning from the Lincoln studios.

Plattsmouth welcomes the appearance of this fine group of entertainers and citizens of the community will turn out en masse to witness this salute broadcast, which is one of ten planned for the week of September 13, when KOIL will open its new RCA transmitter, with twice its present power. The new equipment will be of five thousand watts and will give constant, clear reception throughout the middle west of NBC-Blue network and Mutual Broadcasting System programs, as well as KOIL's Omaha productions.

Without Cost to Community

The broadcast here, which will not only describe the city's industries and cultural and civic activities, but tell the world of our coming King Korn Carnival and include man-on-the-street interviews, is made without cost to the community and wholly as a good will gesture on the part of the New KOIL. To be selected as one of five Nebraska cities for these opening week salute broadcasts is indeed an honor and a privilege for which the Journal bespeaks the appreciation of Plattsmouth and Cass county citizens.

The short wave radio conversation between an announcer flying over the city and one stationed at the mobile broadcasting unit will be especially interesting.

The week-long celebration will feature in addition to two of these out-of-town broadcasts a day, programs from the Omaha Electrical Exposition and two originations for the coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting System. These network shows will present Red Nichols and his orchestra, a Chicago master of ceremonies and local KOIL talent.

The Journal will bring you further announcements of this salute broadcast in Plattsmouth through both its advertising and news columns.

FORM LETTERS SENT TO BARS FIND HUSBAND

NEW YORK (UP)—A bartender tells this one:

Some weeks ago he received a form letter from a woman in Tacoma, Wash., stating that her husband was somewhere in New York on his way to Europe and that it was imperative that she get in touch with him.

The letter was being sent to all the better bars inasmuch as her husband was an inveterate drinker of an unusual cocktail called "Black Napoleon" and undoubtedly would ask for it. She asked that the letter be shown him when he appeared.

A few days ago the man in the case turned up at a hotel bar and asked for the cocktail and was shown the letter. He immediately telephoned his wife long distance. The bartender said he never learned why the husband was being sought.

Now on leave of absence to conduct the American Automobile Association's safe driving campaign, Neyhart said 3,500 schools offered the instruction last year. He said he expects twice as many next year.

His pioneer safe driving course for high school teachers includes teaching aids of sound films, lantern slides, film strips, and sound records. Neyhart employs two completely dual-controlled cars—dual brakes, dual clutches, and dual steering columns—in his course.

Kinney, Commissioner of Labor for the State of Nebraska, that a public hearing will be had before him in room 1103, state capitol building at Lincoln on Tuesday, August 31st, at 9:00 o'clock a. m., when all persons interested will be given an opportunity to show cause why the following proposed rules for the administration of the Unemployment Compensation Division should not be adopted, to-wit:

Rule I—Contributions by Employers

(a) Contributions for the first nine months of 1937 shall become due and be payable on or before October 20, 1937, and contributions for the last three months of 1937 shall become due and be payable on or before January 20, 1938. Beginning January 1, 1938, contributions shall become due and be payable monthly on the 20th day next following the month for which the contributions have accrued, unless the Commissioner of Labor by special rule provides otherwise.

(b) The payment for the first nine months shall include contributions with respect to wages payable for employment in all pay periods (weekly, bi-weekly, semi-monthly, monthly) ending within such nine months period; the payment for the last three months of 1937 shall include contributions with respect to wages payable for employment in all pay periods ending within such three months period; and each monthly payment thereafter shall include contributions with respect to wages payable for employment in all pay periods ending within the calendar month, except that—

(1) Contributions for the first nine months of 1937 and for any January thereafter shall cover only wages payable for employment on and after January 1 of such year, and

(2) Contributions for the last three months of 1937 and for any December thereafter shall cover wages payable for pay periods ending in December and also all wages payable for subsequent employment up to and including December 31 of that year.

(c) Upon the written request of any employer filed with the Commissioner on or before the due date of any contribution payment, the Commissioner, for good cause shown, may grant, in writing, an extension of time for the payment of such contribution, but (1) no extension shall exceed 30 days; and (2) no extension shall postpone payment beyond the 15th day preceding the last date for filing tax returns under Title IX of the Social Security Act. If an employer who has been granted an extension fails to pay his contribution on or before the termination of the period of such extension, interest shall be payable from the original due date as if no extension had been granted.

(d) The first contribution payment of an employer who becomes newly liable for contributions in any year shall become due and be payable on the 20th day next following the month wherein such individual or organization became an employer subject to the law. The first payment of such an employer shall include contributions with respect to all wages payable for employment for such individual or organization since the first day of the calendar year.

(e) An employer may become newly liable for contributions by: (1) Employing eight or more workers in covered employment within 20 weeks during the calendar year;

(2) Acquiring the business of a subject employer;

(3) Acquiring the business of a non-subject employer whose employment record, together with his own employment record, totals 20 or more workers in 20 different calendar weeks;

(4) Affiliation with one or more other employers (whether or not subject) whose employment record, together with his own employment record totals eight or more workers in 20 different calendar weeks.

(f) The Commissioner, by special rule, may assign to a newly subject employer due dates permitting the payment of his first contribution in installments, but the last installment shall be due not later than the 15th day preceding the last day for filing tax returns under Title IX of the Social Security Act. If the amount of any such installment for which any due date is assigned is not paid on or before such date, the total amount of the unpaid contribution shall become due and payable upon notice and demand by the Commissioner.

Rule II—Cash Value of Certain Remunerations

(a) If board, lodging, or any other payment in kind considered as payment for services performed by a worker is in addition to or in lieu of (rather than a deduction from) money wages, the Commissioner shall determine or approve the cash value of such payment in kind, and the employer shall use these cash values in computing contributions due under the law.

(b) Where a cash value for board and lodging furnished a worker is agreed upon in any contract of hire, the amount so agreed upon shall, if more than the rates prescribed herein, be deemed the value of such board and lodging. Until and unless in a given case a rate for board and lodging is determined by the Commissioner, board and lodging furnished in addition to money wages shall be deemed to have not less than the following values:
