

Claim Mattson Slayer Member Ship's Crew

Honolulu Police Holding Sailor Who Claims That Shipmate Confessed the Crime.

HONOLULU, T. H., Sept. 4 (UP)—Honolulu police said today that a sailor on a freighter here told them that one of his shipmates had admitted he was the kidnaper and slayer of Charles Mattson, 10, of Tacoma, Wash.

J. P. McFarland, department of justice agent, questioned the informant, but refused comment.

The informant gave police the name and description of his shipmate who told of the kidnaping, and police said the description corresponded with that given by eye-witnesses to the kidnaping.

The Mattson boy, son of a Tacoma dentist, was taken from his home the evening of Dec. 27, 1936 while he and several other children were playing with Christmas toys. The other children said a bearded man with a deep guttural voice was the kidnaper. The boy's body, mutilated, was found in a snowbank near Everett, Wash.

Honolulu police said the sailor, who claimed to have talked with the Mattson kidnaper, was picked up in a beer tavern near the waterfront after he was overheard discussing the case with drinking companions.

He was turned over to the department of justice agent, who left the police station with him.

It was learned that McFarland had asked police to start a city-wide search at once for the suspect.

Police watched the waterfront and ships that were preparing to sail were kept under strictest surveillance.

Police expressed confidence they would pick up the suspect and said that when they did he would be turned over to federal officials.

The manhunt proceeded with the utmost secrecy and the names of the sailors were not revealed.

Plattsmouth Players on the Tarkio Team

Veterans Armstrong, Porter and Adam Back and Joe Case and Wayne Falk to Play There.

TARKIO, Mo., Sept. 2—Three Tarkio college football veterans from Plattsmouth will be among the group of gridiron candidates reporting for the first practice session of the season at Tarkio next Monday. These are Kenneth Armstrong, all-conference tackle; Stuart Porter and George Adam. The Owl eleven is captained by Frank Mertz of Red Oak, Ia.

Armstrong, biggest tackle in Missouri and one of the biggest in the country, was hailed last year by Missouri sports writers as one of the most promising young tackles ever to roam Missouri gridirons. He has two more seasons of play at Tarkio and great things are expected of him.

Porter is expected to see plenty of service at the other tackle and in addition indicated at the close of last season that he had plenty of defensive power as a line backer. Adam, weighing only 140 pounds, has been able to stay in the thick of the melee at guard for two seasons. His experience and aggressiveness have more than overcome the weight disadvantage.

In addition to the above three veterans, two other recent P. H. S. graduates will be in uniform at the opening practice and will seek berths on the Owl eleven. They are: Joe Case and Wayne Falk, former P. H. S. fullback and guard.

The Tarkio eleven will meet teams representing five different conferences this season in Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska. The complete schedule is as follows:

Sept. 24—Warrensburg Teachers at Warrensburg.

Oct. 1—Simpson at Tarkio.

*October 15—Central at Fayette.

*October 30—Wm. Jewell at Tarkio (Homecoming).

*November 12—Mo. Valley at Tarkio.

(* Missouri Conference games.)
