Gerhard-Lanning In the presence of 150 guests, Miss Esther Mae Gerhard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gerhard of Murdock, became the bride of Orris R. Lanning, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lanning of Palmyra, at seven-thirty Wednesday evening, September first on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. H. A. Pintel, pastor of the M. E. church in Elmwood read the marriage service.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Elmer Lanning, sister-in-law of the groom, sang "Into the Dawn with You" and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Roy Lanning, cousin of the groom. To the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March the ribbon stretchers, who were Lavonne and Yvonne Peterson, twin cousins of the bride, formed an aisle for the wedding party. They were dressed in pink organdy dresses made with a drop shoulder, full gathered skirts and wide sashes. The skirts were edged with a wide ruffle.

The attendants, who marched in couples, formed a semi-circle on a raised platform underneath a large rainbow arch and white lattice formed a background for the ceremony. A large bouquet of Goldenrod was placed on either side of the arch.

The bridesmaids were Lois Turner, wearing pink; Elsie Knaup, in green; Wilma Gerhard, in orchid, and Valda Gerhard in yellow. The dresses which were made alike were net over matching colored taffeta. They were floor length, made redingate styles, having seven flared panels with a deeply shirred back panel. The blouses were shirtwaist style and had large puffed sleeves. They wore circular shoulder-length veils of net which were held in place with matching satin ribbon. They carried shirred muffs of net on which were small sprays of fern and sweet peas.

Dean Lanning, who acted as ring bearer, wore white trousers and a dark coat. He carried the ring on a white satin pillow which was trimmed with net matching the attendants' dresses.

Mrs. Arthur Bivens, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and wore a floor-length dress of blue net over matching taffeta. The paneled skirt was full and the waist was also shirtwaist style similar to the bridesmaids' except that it was finished with tiny bows of moire ribbon to the waistline. The short puffed sleeves were caught by little bows. She also wore a veil like that of the bridesmaids and carried a muf.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white Point de Esprit. The redingate front was bound with white satin ribbon and was fastened to the waistline with clusters of tiny crystal buttons. The seven-gored skirt joined the waist in a built-up waistline. The neckline was finished with a standup pleated collar. The puffed sleeves were also held with a cluster of crystal buttons. She wore a circular fingertip length veil which was bound with white satin ribbon and held in place with ribbon which fell in streamers the length of the veil. She carried a white Bible. Ruben E. Knaup was the best man. Ushers were George Thomson of Palmyra, brother-in-law of the bride, and Marton and Frank Turner, of Elmwood, cousins of the bride.

Miss Edith Robertson of Eagle was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Harvey O. Wall, sister of the groom, and Miss Bernice Peterson, cousin of the bride were in charge of the gift room.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held on the lawn at which the guests were seated at card tables which were decorated carrying out the rainbow color scheme. Colored lunch cloths of pink, yellow and green covered the tables and matching napkins were used. Small vases of flowers were placed on each table.

A large table was used for the wedding party. White tapers and miniature brides and grooms decorated the table which was covered with a linen cloth. Those assisting with the serving were Mrs. Paul Chidester, Mrs. Fred Manners, Mrs. Voyal Wall, Mrs. Eddee McKay, Mrs. Orin Lanning and Mrs. Oscar Zink. Those in charge of the punch were Maize Foreman, Helen Nelson, Marjorie Zink and Mrs. Myrl Miller. Caroline Handhede, Maxine Porter, Grace Lanning, Fern Wall and Eva Bell Chidester waited tables.

The bride and groom left for a trip to points southeast. The bride wore a gray awningsuit with gray and navy accessories.

They will be at home on a farm near Palmyra after October 1st. Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Pete Peterson and family, of Gothenburg, Nebr.; Mrs. Harvey O. Wall, Arapahoe; Dr. and Mrs. M. R. Colbert, Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. George Weaver, Dexter, New Mexico; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gamble, Omaha; Mrs. Shaver, Mrs. Ella A. Hautford; Emma Lewis, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. J. M.
