

Flower Show Beauty Spot in Korn Carnival

Show Held in Elks Building This Year and Attracts Much Attention From Visitors.

Thanks are due to the Garden club for their hard work that has made the flower show so very effective this year. They have added new classification cards and holders, individual display backgrounds, and shadow boxes that help to make it more interesting and attractive.

A special feature is the rock garden. With a background of scarlet sage and oleander, the rocks and cacti are arranged very attractively. Pans of water are placed so that they give the effect of a real stream. A live-looking frog is sitting beside one seeming to be almost ready to leap into the water. Colored lights are placed among the rocks, adding to the attractiveness. There are at least thirty different cacti.

Each person visiting the flower show will be given the opportunity of casting a ballot for what they like best in the flower show.

There will be plants for sale at the flower show.

There is a fine display of fruit and flowers and wall baskets, 100 classes divided into 12 sections being shown. Other features are the rooms in which the tables are set and the shadow boxes are shown.

The work of Anna Harris' school children is also shown. There are pressed flowers, transferred leaves and seeds.

The whole thing is decorated with overhanging ferns of asparagus, and is a very attractive and interesting feature of the Kass County Korn Carnival.

OLD RESIDENTS HERE

From Monday's Daily—
M. A. Hartigan, Jr., of Norfolk, Virginia, with his sister, Mrs. Ann Hartigan Murray, of East St. Louis, Illinois, were here today for a few hours. They are returning home from Hastings where they attended a reunion of their family and met their brother, John C. Hartigan, well known Fairbury attorney.

They are children of Michael A. Hartigan, Sr., who resided here in the eighties, they leaving here in 1888.

Mr. M. A. Hartigan, Jr., is now the general claim agent of the Virginia railroad and this is the first time he has been here in many years. They had thought to be here for the old settlers day but found they were too early.

BANDS AND MORE BANDS

The Korn Carnival this year is to have the finest array of bands we have ever had. All together there will be six bands besides the drum corps and a 16-piece orchestra for the coronation. The towns sending bands are Louisville, Weeping Water, Nebraska City and Syracuse. Then we have the Farmers Union from Cass county and our own band which is a combination of recreation band and the high school band.

Glenwood to Play Here at 3:30 Friday

First Home Game of the Plattsmouth High School Team—Large Crowd Expected.

The Plattsmouth high school football team will show their wares for the benefit of the home folks on Friday afternoon, September 24, when the Glenwood team will journey across the Big Muddy to mix it up with the locals.

The Plattsmouth Business Men's Ad club at a recent meeting joined in asking that all who could do so, get out and attend the game and also the platform activities will be stopped down town and everybody head for Athletic park. This is a fine recognition of the hard work that the school players put out in training and playing for the blue and white of Plattsmouth.

The Platters tied with Weeping Water last week at the county fair, but with their first game over and out of the way, they are planning on really going places for the rest of the season. With a new line, only one of whom was a veteran, the team showed well and should make plenty of trouble for the Mills county boys.

RETURNS FROM EAST

Ray Bryant, local Oldsmobile and Plymouth dealer, returned Sunday from a visit back at the Olds factory at Lansing, Michigan. Mr. Bryant drove back a brand new Olds of the latest type for display at the garage.

Iowa Woman Killed in Auto Crash at Eagle

Car Driven by George McFadden Collides with Car of Elmwood Sunday.

Mrs. Emma Studor, 54, of Rock Valley, Iowa, was killed almost instantly Sunday in an automobile accident four miles east and one mile north of Eagle.

She was riding in a car driven by George McFadden of Avoca. Two daughters of the McFadden family were cut and bruised in the accident. The oldest daughter, Dorothy, 12, was taken to the St. Mary's hospital at Nebraska City where physicians found she was cut severely but they did not believe that her condition was serious. McFadden and wife escaped with minor injuries.

Riding in the other car were Mrs. Fred Schick of Elmwood and her two children. They escaped with only minor injuries.

The dead woman was a cousin of Mrs. McFadden and was visiting at their home at Avoca.

DRAWS DOWN FINE

Howard Swenneker was arraigned in county court Monday on a charge of operating a motor vehicle with only one light, having only one license plate on the car and also having a whistle attached to the muffler of the car. A fine of $10 was given him by Judge Duxbury and in failure to supply the amount he was remanded to jail.

Korn Carnival Opens for Four Days of Frolic

Children's Parade Climaxes the Afternoon Program of First Day of Fall Festival.

The sixth annual King Korn Carnival sponsored by the people of Plattsmouth and Cass county, opened Wednesday in a very brilliant start and with a good sized crowd out to witness the first offerings of a very fine four day program.

It was a real pleasure to the Plattsmouth people to see on the platform at the opening offering, R. Foster Patterson, of Tarkio, Missouri, who had generously taken the time off from his duties at Tarkio college to come up and assist in the presentation of the many fine attractions that will fill the next few days. "Pat" has been the announcer at each of the carnivals and has given a very fine accounting of his part of the job.

Band Opens Program
It was at 1 o'clock that the concert by the Plattsmouth band marked the opening of the program with a short concert at the platform. The concert was exceptionally fine and the program was remarkably well presented by the band under the direction of Peter Gradoville. The concert was one of the best that has been offered in the city and was a most fitting start of the festival. To the music lover it was a real treat.

Mayor George Lushinsky, on behalf of the city of Plattsmouth, extended the official welcome on this most auspicious occasion. Carl J. Schneider, president of the Chamber of Commerce, also gave greetings from the people of Plattsmouth.

The Jolly Six from Mynard, composed of Robert, Donald, Shirley, and Whipple Leonard, Beulah Kiser and Robert Kiser gave a very fine musical presentation that was much appreciated.

Miss Venetia Adkins was presented in a song that was well given and showed the talent of this young lady.

The Fontenelle chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution presented a very fine and instructive program as a part of the 150th celebration of the adoption of the United States constitution, by a series of questions and answers covering the great fundamental law of the land. Milo Price, head of the history department of the city schools gave the answers to the questions asked by Miss Harriett Case, member of the high school class. These questions covered many phases of the constitution and were followed with great interest. Mrs. E. H. Wescott assisted in the program with two vocal numbers. Miss Caroline Baird and Mrs. L. O. Minor of the D. A. R. were also on the platform.

Hector Balthazor and Ray Herold helped make the afternoon program very interesting with their mandolin and guitar selections that comprised old fashioned and popular selections.

Children's Parade
The children's parade was the climax of the afternoon when at 4 o'clock the parade moved from the high school on east to the Burlington station.

There were five divisions of the parade, the great array of pets of all kinds which were led or carried by their happy mistresses or masters and embracing dogs of large and small degree.

The doll buggy section, as usual afforded one of the bright spots with the cleverly arranged buggies and these all showed great care on the part of the children and their parents in arranging the various features.

The bicycles, scooters and other vehicles proved another very attractive feature with the decorated wheels that added colorful features to the long line of the parade.

The comics and other characters showed some very original offerings from the youngsters that comprised some of the well known characters in the daily newspaper comics down to original offerings.

The Burlington railroad had contributed a great deal to the parade in sending their miniature passenger and freight trains here and which was one of the centers of attraction. Manned by veteran Burlington workers who numbered Edward Thrall, retired engineer, Everett Gooding of the Omaha yard force and Ralph Barthold of Sioux City, a veteran of many years, the two trains moved up from the Burlington station and joined the parade at Sixth and Main streets. These trains will be here for the entire corn show and will provide rides for the little folks.

The awards for the children's day parade closed the afternoon program and the following were awarded:

Your Government Is Your Responsibility

You expect your government to give you service and protection. You expect it to make laws and to enforce them. You expect your government to do hundreds of other things. And why shouldn't you? After all, that is what a government is for.

But even a government can't serve you if it isn't paid. You don't expect your doctor to hurry to see one of the children in the middle of the night for nothing. You don't expect your grocer to hand out groceries and never collect a bill for them.

Do Your Part To Help

Perhaps the little that you owe to the government in the form of taxes seems too small to matter. Maybe it is small, but it still takes only one hundred pennies to make a dollar. Now is the time for you to put your penny in with the rest and see for yourself how much more the dollar will give you.

but the Phone gives us Pleasure too

MOTHER hasn't been well and we got the telephone for emergency calls to the doctor. But more than anything, it's a source of PLEASURE. We call our friends. They call us. And nearly every day we talk with our daughter in town. It's a fine feeling also to know that we could telephone the neighbors if there was a fire or we needed help for any other reason. And it costs so little that it's a real bargain. We'll never be without a telephone again.
