ADVANCE DATE OF THE DISTRICT CONVENTION

From Nebraska City comes information that the date for holding the annual 12th district Legion and Legion Auxilliary convention has been advanced nearly a month. Originally planned for early in December, the date is now definitely set for Tuesday, November 9.

Committees have been appointed to look after the various necessary arrangements for making this year's convention one of the best held in recent years.

There is a possibility the 1938 convention may be invited to Plattsmouth, unless Seward or some town in the west end of the district desires it, in which event Plattsmouth would step aside.

The twelfth district comprises the four counties of Cass, Otoe, Lancaster and Seward. Two Cass county towns, Louisville and Nehawka, have been host cities the past two years. Prior to that was Lincoln, Syracuse, Plattsmouth and Seward.

MANY ATTEND GAME

A very large delegation of the local football fans were at Omaha Friday night to brave the rain and disagreeable weather to see Drake trim the Creighton Bluejays by the score of 9 to 0.

The rain had made the playing field a sea of mud and the players in a few moments were well bespattered and the wetness interfered with the play.

Drake proved its reputation as a ball team, however, and showed the power that they had and on a dryer field Pug Manders, Drake star, would have showed greater effect against the Creighton team.

The game was one of the best that the Bluejays have played but was not good enough to check the invaders from Des Moines.

The American Legion Junior drum and bugle corps was at the game and put on an exhibition before the opening of the contest and received a nice response from the audience for their excellent work and fine drilled formations.

The large Plattsmouth attendance was due to the efforts of Dr. W. V. Ryan and Dr. L. S. Pucelik, old Creighton grads who had helped work up the enthusiasm for the southeastern Nebraska night.
