GIRL, 18, LOOKS BACK ON WORK IN 28 SCHOOLS

CLEVELAND (UP)—The odyssey of 18-year-old Marcella Glinz has taken her to 28 different schools.

Marcella was born in Effingham, Ill. When she was 3 her family moved to Cincinnati. Her father was a bricklayer and as he went from job to job the family moved with him, traveling by automobile.

The Glinzes left Cincinnati to go to Chicago. There, Marcella spent two years in a parochial school.

Then came short stays in two towns in North Carolina and Virginia. For a while, the wanderers moved only from town to town within the state of New York.

As Marcella remembers it, she was graduated from grammar school in Buffalo.

But there have been so many schools ... it's hard to tell ...

"I can remember more school yards than I can toys," she says.

During her freshman and sophomore years in high school she was a student in Middletown, Itasca, Amenia, Dover Plains and Buffalo.

Now, in Cleveland, she hopes to stay long enough to get her high school diploma. She has more than a collection of textbooks to remind her of her travels. School friends are numbered by the score.

"I get lots of mail," she says. "I guess it wasn't so bad."

FISH-EAT-FISH STUDY BRINGS CHILEAN AWARD

SANTIAGO, Chile (UP)—For his study of a fish which allows itself to be swallowed in order to eat the bigger fish from the inside, Prof. Ernest Gigoux, curator of the National Museum of Natural History in Chile, has been awarded the Order of Merit by the Chilean Academy of Natural Sciences.

Myxine demboysy is the name of the fish which Prof. Gigoux has been studying in his private aquarium. When it has been swallowed, it hides itself in the organs of the larger fish and then begins to gnaw at them. Before long it has crippled its unwilling host and finishes by devouring it entirely.

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The police department's 152 red cruisers and 333 motorcycles will be equipped with two-way radio sets, "the greatest forward step in war on crime in the city's recent history," according to Mayor S. Davis Wilson.

Mayor Wilson said tests had been conducted "for months" and that they were "very successful." The radio system will enable police to talk to headquarters, instead of the car method.

H. M. SHEVNAN, widely known expert of Chicago, will personally be at the Delmonico Hotel in Shenandoah, Iowa, Tuesday only, November 9, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.
Mr. Shevnan says: The Zoetic Shield is a tremendous improvement over all former methods, effecting immediate results. It will not only hold the rupture perfectly but increase the circulation, strengthen the weakened parts, thereby closes the opening in ten days on the average case, regardless of heavy lifting, straining or any position the body may assume, no matter the size or location. A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.
Mr. Shevnan will be glad to demonstrate without charge.

Man in Trench Cited as Still Winning Wars

Superiority Proof Shown in Spain and China, Experts Argue—Airplane Is Useful.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UP)—Col. Henry W. Miller, chief of American heavy artillery during the World War, finds proof in the Chinese and Spanish wars of his contention that bombers and tanks and other high-priced instruments of modern warfare are largely a waste of money.

Miller now is head of the University of Michigan department of mechanical and engineering drawing and is considered an authority on artillery.

War in China and Spain has demonstrated, he believes, that the common soldier with his rifle or machine gun still is the determining factor in winning battles.

He points to China's surprising stand against Japan as proof that giant bombing planes, spectacular flame-throwers, motorized cavalry and artillery are useless against an entrenched force of infantry.

"You may lay down a barrage of heavy artillery until it seems no living thing could survive," Miller said, "yet the enemy will appear in force from the ground to meet your infantry advance."

Troop Bombing Ineffective

"Bombing ground troops from the air is more costly, and even less effective. Bombers should be used only against cities, factories, rail centers, munition depots and concentration camps."

Miller predicted that the "human factor" eventually would decide the Sino-Japanese war.

"I think that military men will agree," he said, "that the Chinese soldier in his padded coat, holding his trench, accustomed to the North China climate and to poor food and little of it, is in a better position tactically than is the Japanese."

"If the defending force can keep up a supply of food and small ammunition, the result may surprise those who favor a program of mechanization and motorization."

Miller weighed the new instruments of warfare against what he considers the four factors essential to a successful army and concluded that they were virtually useless. The four necessary qualifications are:

1. Ability to obtain and transmit intelligence.
2. Ability to deliver force, either by surprise or by impact.
3. Ability to hold gains.
4. Ability to service troops in the field.

Not Enthusiastic Over Tanks

Miller believes that, as far as these essential functions of an army are concerned, such weapons as airplanes, giant guns, "wheeled fortress" tanks and bombing devices have little practical value.

He conceded the airplane's extensive usefulness in obtaining information, but insisted that its field should be limited.

Both of the wars now in progress, Miller believes, already have demonstrated the overwhelming importance of the man in the trench—his ability to withstand the hardships of warfare, his immunity to disease and his fighting spirit.

"Japan's present desperation," he said, "is understandable. In addition, Oriental face-saving demands an early and decisive victory. Yet it is extremely doubtful whether the war machine which Japan has elaborated at such pains and cost will gain much headway over several hundred thousand coolies in their muddy trenches."

"China's 'good earth' has a new and very definite meaning from the military point of view," Miller said.

CANDY MAKERS MUST GIVE UP ROYAL PHOTOS

LONDON (UP)—Portraits of the king or queen or their two children must cease to appear on chocolate boxes or any other articles offered for sale, while the branding of goods as "King George VI" or "Queen Elizabeth" must be stopped.

Until the Coronation, it was necessary to obtain a formal grant of royal permission for such uses. During the period of Coronation preparations and celebration, however, makers of chocolate and other boxes and cartons were allowed to decorate their goods in this way without official assent.

Although the former restriction later was restored, the unauthorized use of royal portraits for commercial purposes continued on a large scale, and the Home Office was forced to issue a notice stating that the names or photographs of any member of the royal family or heirs or heirs-presumptive to the throne no longer may be used for trade purposes.

Firms at present selling goods or articles so named or decorated may go on manufacturing them until the end of the year, and after that they may sell existing stocks only with the permission of the Home Office.

The notice containing this instruction indicates that it is issued at the direct wish of the king.

WORLD TO FLOAT BY AT EL PASO FESTIVAL JAN. 1

EL PASO, Tex. (UP)—Some 100 floats depicting "the world" will feature El Paso's Sun Carnival pageant to be held for the third consecutive year on New Year's Day.

Consuls of every country in Europe, Asia, Africa, Central and South America, and many of the islands have sent sketches of suggested designs for floats to depict their countries or localities, upon the request of Dr. C. M. Hendricks, director-general of the Sun Carnival.

Approximately 100 of these sketches will be chosen for designs for the floats to be used in the pageant.

The Sun Bowl football game, between the winner of the Border Conference and a team to be selected by the Sun Carnival committee, will follow the parade in the afternoon.

Sun Carnival officials have few worries about the weather. Government weather bureau records show that only .01 of an inch of moisture has fallen on New Year's Day here in the past 55 years. During that time only four of the days have been cloudy.
