New Carr Bakery Fine Addition to the City

Remodeled Building Has Been Beautifully Decorated and Is Most Attractive Spot.

The Thierolf building which has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Carr for their bakery, has been remodeled into one of the most attractive business houses in the city and its handsomely decorated sales room is one of the bright spots in the main section of the city.

The show windows, boxed in for many years have been changed and opened so that a view can be had of the attractive sales room and the windows made adapted to the display of the bakery products. The windows are finished in dull ivory and black. The salesroom is done in pastel colors, the ivory ceiling blending into shades of cream, light tan and rose pink on the walls, making a very artistic piece of work.

New lighting effects have been placed in the main room of the building and which also carry out the pastel colorings very attractively.

The changes in the building give a fine and large work room back of the salesroom and where the very latest in baking equipment is found. A large and late type Hubbard oven has been placed and is now in service and which has a capacity of 224 loaves at one baking.

The large oven is gas operated and has a thermostat control as well as a clock device that the baker can see for the number of minutes he wishes the baking to continue, at the close the clock signaling the time limit and the oven may be shut off.

The mixers and other machines used are now being arranged and shelving for stocks and supplies will be placed along the sides of the room. Mr. and Mrs. Carr are to be congratulated on their new building and the fine spirit of community confidence in placing it in such fine shape.
