Chamber of Commerce Holds Regular Meet

Have Many Matters of Interest to Discuss—High Praise for Nebraska Advertising

The Chamber of Commerce directors held their regular meeting on Thursday with many matters of interest coming up for their consideration.

Rev. G. A. Pahl brought to the attention of the organization the campaign for uniforms for the recreation center band, a matter that was brought up some two weeks ago. While there was no action as an organization individual members felt that the movement should have the support of the residents of the community.

Thomas Thomsen, of Nebraska City, who is organizing a new credit bureau in this city sponsored by the Business Men's Ad club, was introduced to the group and gave a short outline of some of their work.

The directors heard a most interesting reaction of the campaign of advertising of the Associated Industries of Nebraska and the newspapers of the state. E. A. Frierichs, who was a guest at the meeting of Carl Schneider, told of having visited in five different states and almost in every instance in groups on trains and in hotels and other gathering places, the matter of the tax situation in Nebraska would be presented and the state given high praise for having kept out the many different forms of tax that had been laid on all of the other states in some form or another.

The question of a community building was discussed and several sites offered which might be adaptable to the purpose. It was decided to have the planning committee check over the various sites, make estimates of the costs and probable upkeep and report at the next meeting. The Legion building, Elks club house, Petersen building used by the recreation center and the old high school were all mentioned in connection with this proposition.

GREETS OLD FRIENDS

From Friday's Daily—

Last evening at the Plattsmouth-Bethany basketball game Charles M. Mapes, superintendent of the Bethany schools, was here and received a reception from the old friends and the present day students of the school where he graduated in 1907.

Mr. Mapes told that three of the most important events of his life had taken place here, his birth, graduation from school and his marriage to Miss Ruby Reynolds. On leaving school he related he had gone to New Mexico to homestead, but later returned to Nebraska and started teaching in the schools of Cass county. Had attended Peru to secure his degree and later had completed his master's degree at the University of Nebraska. He had been in the teaching profession for the past twenty-seven years.

Mr. Mapes called upon Miss Olive Gass, who for many years was a teacher in the local schools, to stand and be greeted. The class of 1907 was the last that Miss Gass had helped train as the principal of the high school.

The guest of honor, Mr. Mapes, received a trophy of his school days when the top of one of the old two seated desks that had been used in the old high school, was produced and which bore "CM" carved on it, the backbone of Mr. Mapes many years ago.

Bethany Checks Winning Streak of the Platters

Tall and Rangy Players From Lincoln Show Machine Like Play in Winning 32 to 18.

From Friday's Daily—
The Plattsmouth high basketball team lost its first game in nine starts last evening, as they went down to defeat at the hands of the powerful Bethany quintet by a score of 32 to 18.

Bethany was in possession of the ball the greater part of the game, and kept advancing it into Platter territory, whence they shot nothing but positions and setups.

The contest during the first quarter looked to be anybody's game, as it ended 4 to 3 for Bethany. Going into the second stanza the visitors opened a scoring spurge and closed the first half leading 20 to 7.

Height was quite a determining factor for Bethany, but the great teamwork displayed was what brought a maroon victory, as it has in former games this season.

Plattsmouth was a long way from being inferior to the invaders, as they unceremoniously many beautiful and daring plays.

Miller was the Platters' key man as he kept his team in the game with his four field goals and a free throw which accounted for nine points.

Hayes did a commendable job of forwarding and making five points. Rebal opened with two gift tosses as his evening's contribution. Wooster's usual big gun was silenced considerably, he having but one goal to his credit. The defensive work of Miller and Rebal was excellent. Reed played his usual fine game at guard as did Jacobs and McCarty at forward positions, but none had a chance for goals.

Brown grabbed the scoring honors, making seven field goals and a free throw which spelled 15 points, but Bethany could not present an outstanding star on the team so well endowed with teamwork.

As an added feature at the half, the girls glee club sang a Bohemian song accompanied by Robert Kiser and his accordion.
