

Alvo News

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Collins were Lincoln visitors Monday.

Harold Mickle of Lincoln was in the Alvo community on business last Thursday.

Miss Iris Miller has been having trouble with an infection in one of her fingers.

The Earl Bennett family are planning to move soon to the Sheesley farm south of town.

Glenn Dimmitt drove to Greenwood Wednesday to visit his father, who is ill with pneumonia.

Miss Alpha C. Peterson, county superintendent of schools, was a visitor at the Alvo school Tuesday.

The Carl Christensen family moved to Malcolm Tuesday. They had resided on the Charles Godbey farm for eight years.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Norris and family and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Norris were guests for Sunday dinner at the W. L. Copple home.

Albert Swanson had two sick cows Thursday. They had eaten too much corn as a result of being turned into a new field of corn stalks.

Wesley Cook has been feeling badly as a result of having a couple of teeth pulled that had been giving him considerable trouble.

With the students of District 102 receiving their report cards Monday evening, school patrons are reminded that six months of the school year have passed by.

Mrs. Frank Taylor has added another pitcher to her collection. Mrs. Ganz brought Mrs. Taylor a little pitcher from Mexico which adds distinction to her collection.

Dr. and Mrs. Walton and family of Lincoln were dinner guests at the H. L. Bornemeier home Sunday. Russell Bornemeier and friend were also guests at the home of Russell's parents.

Mrs. Roy Coatman's father, who has been making his home with the Coatmans, is on the sick list this week. They are afraid it will be necessary for him to go to the hospital for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hardnock and Jesse Hardnock drove to Lincoln Saturday to visit Mrs. Katherine Hardnock at the Bryan Memorial hospital. Mrs. Hardnock, a former Alvo lady, is in a very critical condition.

All-Church Night

The date is March 19, Thursday evening at 7:00 o'clock at the church basement. L. M. Hauptman will be the guest speaker.

Having Trouble with Throat

Mrs. Walter Collins is having considerable trouble with her throat. For nearly four weeks she has hardly been able to speak above a whisper. She apparently does not have a sore throat and just the exact cause is somewhat of a mystery.

Friends sincerely hope that this condition will soon clear up and Mrs. Collins will be enjoying her usual good health.

Had Operation on Eye

Mrs. S. C. Boyles had to undergo an operation on one of her eyes in Lincoln last Tuesday. Mrs. Boyles was aware of the fact that she was having trouble with her eye, but did not think that an operation would be necessary until she consulted a specialist Tuesday.

Mrs. Boyles is feeling as well as possible, but was unable to attend the Aid Society meeting Wednesday.

Woman's Reading Club

Mrs. August Johnson delightfully entertained the Woman's Reading club Thursday afternoon.

Mesdames H. L. Bornemeier and S. C. Jordan had charge of a very entertaining program.

The hostess served a very delicious lunch at the close of the afternoon's events.

Entertains Club

Mrs. S. C. Hardnock was hostess to the members of the Mothers' and Daughters' Council Friday, February 25. A large crowd was present, as there were several guests present besides the members.

Mrs. Ben Muenchan had charge of a very entertaining program. The lesson was "From Wedding Bells to Budget."

The Omar company gave a food demonstration and served a very delicious lunch to all present.

Holds School Caucus

The patrons of district 102 held the annual school caucus at the school house Tuesday evening, March 1 for the purpose of selecting four candidates for election in April.

The following four candidates, H. L. Bornemeier, Lyle Miller, Arthur Roelofs and Ellis Mickle were selected, two of which will be elected to serve on the board of education. The retiring members are Ben Muenchan and Sidney James.

Hostess to Aid Society

Mrs. Carl D. Ganz was hostess to the Ladies Aid Society Wednesday afternoon.

Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Lou Herman, Mrs. S. C. Boyles and Miss Bertha Kosin.

Mrs. Archie Miller had charge of the devotions and the president, Mrs. Muenchan had charge of the business part of the meeting.

The hostesses served very delicious refreshments at the close of the pleasant afternoon. Mrs. Ganz had some very pretty articles to show the ladies that she had brought from Mexico.

Flower Club

Mrs. Carl D. Ganz will be hostess to the S. O. S. Garden club Tuesday. The event is to be a covered dish luncheon and each lady may bring a guest. This will be the first meeting of the year.

A committee composed of Mesdames Joe Vickers, Timblin and Ganz are planning the programs for the year. The ladies truly hope that climatic conditions will be such that gardening will be more of a success this year.

PLATTSMOUTH DENTAL SOCIETY

CHAPTER XLIV

Back in school, after an unusually strenuous summer in camp, Jack went in for athletics with an even greater interest than ever before.

"Unfortunately," said Dr. Young as he cleaned and examined Mrs. Reynolds' teeth one day shortly after school opened and they were discussing inferior complexes among certain children, "most adults forget how extremely sensitive youth may be. The average high school child has not learned self-sufficiency; consequently, he is easily influenced by others. Very often a child's unaccountable actions are nothing more than the reflection of influences exerted upon him by his associates."

"Every time two individuals come into contact, they influence each other. Also, they form some opinion of each other. Naturally, their conduct toward each other is influenced by the opinion formed. It is a psychological fact that the conduct of one individual toward another often alters the latter's estimate of himself. Thus, the possession of certain characteristics by an individual may cause certain reactions in others, which, in turn, may affect his own personality."

"The psychologic effect which dental deformities have on the high school child is little understood by the average parent. The child who is affected by a pronounced case of irregularity of the teeth is often the innocent victim of the reaction that his appearance creates in the minds of others. For instance, it is a common, although erroneous, opinion that a receding chin denotes a weak character. Undoubtedly, many a high school child afflicted with a receding or 'Andy Gump' chin has developed a weak character because he is conscious of the fact that others feel that he has a characterless personality."

"There is no doubt that the physical contour of the face does affect the opinion of others. Whether this opinion is justified does not matter—it is commonly held and therefore it affects us all. The 'Andy Gump' features may mean nothing to the trained psychologist, but they do influence most observers and most of the observed."

"Who would deny that a set of good looking teeth is a source of pride and happiness to any individual? In fact, such teeth are frequently a decided economic asset to their owners. If more parents were like yourself and Mr. Reynolds and realized that fact, I am sure they would take better care of their children's teeth."

"It is sad but true that many young men and women of high school age develop a decided inferiority complex of their unsightly teeth or because of facial deformities brought about by irregularity of the teeth."

"I do not believe," said Mrs. Reynolds, "that anyone could accuse Jack of having an inferiority complex. If he does have one, I'm sure it wasn't caused by irregular teeth."

"That is true," replied Dr. Young. "Jack is not affected, but if you will observe closely, you may find one or two of his friends who are."

MEAN BUSINESS

LINCOLN, March 3 (UP)—Attorney General Richard C. Hunter informed Mayor Dan Butler of Omaha today that he hopes to make his current campaign against horse betting in Omaha so effective that such betting will be "stamped out for all times."

WABASH

H. H. Gerbeling was a visitor in Elmwood last Tuesday, looking after business matters and visiting with his friend, George Eidemiller.

Miss Marilyn Schmidt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schmidt, has been ill of whooping cough, but is reported on the way to recovery.

Louis Schmidt, road boss of this vicinity, was called to Alvo last Wednesday on business matters connected with the maintenance of the county roads.

Wm. Sporer, of Murray, was a visitor in Wabash last Wednesday, calling on his old friend, Lester Bosworth. The two men have been close acquaintances for more than sixty years, from boyhood days on, and enjoyed recalling incidents in their early lives.

John Wood, the trucker has been kept pretty busy hauling crushed rock for use in improving the secondary of farm-to-market roads in this part of the county. Under WPA assistance the county has been having many of these roads rock surfaced, having a large crusher of its own, which has been operated throughout the central part of the county for nearly a year and a half.

Make Many Moves

When Gerald Smith and family moved from the farm just south of William Reuter's to another farm, the place they vacated has been occupied by Iva McBride and family. Oris McBride and wife have moved to the place east of where Fred Wendt lives and Neil Dorr and wife are moving to a farm some three miles southeast of Elmwood.

Visiting Friends Here

William Otte and wife, both old time residents of Wabash and vicinity, visited here and at Lincoln for a short time during the past week. Mr. Otte is national secretary of the Protective Association of Postal Employees and has been in the west on business, accompanied by Mrs. Otte, who was formerly Miss Faye Richards. Mr. Otte addressed a large gathering of postal employees at Lincoln Tuesday of last week, that being one of the engagements which called him to the west at this time. While here they enjoyed meeting a good number of former acquaintances and also looked after land interests which Mrs. Otte still has near here. She is a sister of our townsman, Warren Taylor Richards.

Fifty Years in Cass County

Back in the spring of 1888, long before the days of automobiles and other modern day conveniences, the parents of L. R. Stanley came from Indiana to seek their fortune in Nebraska. At that time Roy was eight years old, but he remembers how they shipped their goods in an emigrant car, consigned to the town of Waverly. From there they moved their possessions to a farm in western Cass county, some five miles from the railroad station. They continued to farm there, with partial crop failures, until 1894, when there was a complete failure and they had to drive to Manley, Wabash and Weeping Water to get corn to feed their live stock. The following year, 1895, there was a good corn crop in the vicinity of Manley and Roy, who was then in his 16th year, came to Manley to take a job picking corn. When that work was completed he accepted a job for the railroad and the next seven years was a resident of that vicinity, working on track maintenance. He then worked for three years on the farm of C. M. Andrus. While there he became acquainted with a man who had bought a lumber yard and grain elevator at Otte, just over the line in Otte county and accepted employment there, remaining for seven years. While there he concluded it would be better to enter the mercantile business than to continue to work for others. He became acquainted with Wm. Staten, who was telegraph operator at Otte and also had a store at Wabash, which he offered to sell to Mr. Stanley.

A deal was made and he came to Wabash in 1908, thirty years ago. The town was much larger then, but in spite of its dwindling population, Mr. Stanley remained and paid attention to his business. As a result he has acquired considerable property, including a farm adjoining the town. Some seventeen years ago he became associated with Sherman Hardaway and they are getting on nicely together.

Mr. Stanley says that although there might have been greater opportunities in larger towns, he has been well pleased to continue in business here year after year, and feels that the many friendships he has made with the passing years are equally as important as any increased financial success that might have come to him elsewhere.

Greenwood

B. M. Hanson of Lincoln was in Greenwood Tuesday.

Mrs. Wm. Armstrong is improving, but is still confined to her bed. Lincoln Dimmitt, who has been quite sick, is some better at this time. Mrs. Joe Brown has had the flu the past few days, but is feeling better now.

Gus McNurlin has been confined to his home with an infected foot the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes and family of Ashland called at the John Vant home last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Sandy of Ashland visited Mr. and Mrs. John Vant Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Trunkenbolz and son of Eagle called at the George Trunkenbolz home Thursday.

Willis Lambert came home from the Bryan Memorial hospital last Saturday. He is feeling much better now.

Mrs. Elton Keller has been ill at the home of her parents the past two weeks. She was able to return home Sunday.

Harry Marloff and sons, Walter and Wayne left Tuesday for Loveland, Colo., to attend the funeral of Mr. Marloff's father.

Jesse Olson underwent an appendectomy Monday morning at the Nicholas-Senn hospital in Omaha. He is reported getting along fine.

Mrs. Harry Marloff, who has been in the hospital, returned home Wednesday. She is improving. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Cameron, and Mr. and Mrs. James Bright and Shirley spent Sunday in Fremont at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Lundberg.

A shower was given for Mrs. James Brown at the Christian church Tuesday. She was the recipient of many nice gifts and the afternoon was enjoyed by all.

The Guild will be entertained at the church Tuesday by the Omar Baking company. The Dorcas ladies of the Christian church will be guests. Everyone is invited.

The Dorcas met at the church on Friday. There was a good attendance. Mrs. Ray Rouse and Mrs. Clyde Newkirk entertained. A delicious lunch was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Julia Bethel had the misfortune to fall while uptown Tuesday. She received bruises, but was not hurt seriously. Mrs. Bethel celebrated her 81st birthday Thursday.

Andy Leadbrand and George McClure attended a banquet and evening of entertainment at the Cornhusker hotel in Lincoln Thursday evening put on by the Goodrich Tire company.

Little Miss Deloris Buck was taken to the Nicholas-Senn hospital in Omaha Thursday night, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis. She is getting along as well as can be expected.

Deal-a-Deck Club Meets

The Pinochle club met Thursday, March 5, with Laura Trunkenbolz, Mae Gribble won high prize and Hazel McNurlin held the low score. Mrs. Elsie Marvin and Miss Hazel Trunkenbolz were guests.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Layman.

Woman's Club Meets

The Woman's club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Margaret Howard. There was a good attendance and eight guests were present.

The program on Chinaware proved very interesting. Some pieces shown were 150 years old. Mrs. Churchill of Ashland gave a very interesting talk on the subject. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

The next meeting will be held on April 6 at the Legion hall with Mrs. Frank Hurlbut entertaining.

Many Attend Funeral

Relatives and friends who attended the funeral services of Kenneth Marshall Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Don Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Marshall, W. A. Marshall and daughter, Lois, Francis Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bastron, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bybe, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Drum, G. A. Drum, Mr. and Mrs. Morris.
