

Local People at Morningside Commencement

Large Number Attend Ceremonies That Mark Close of College for a Class of 93.

Miss Jean Hayes and her mother spent Sunday and Monday at Sioux City, Iowa, where they attended the 45th commencement at Morningside college of which they are alumni, Jean of the 1925 class and Mrs. Hayes of 1907.

The baccalaureate address was given by the president of the college, Dr. Earl H. Boardman on the subject "New Problems of Morality and Religion," bringing a startling challenge in its climax. The Morningside college choir, nationally known through its tours of spring programs, and in which Miss Jean had the privilege of participating during her years in school, added the beauty of their harmony to the services of the morning.

The afternoon was taken over by the alumni with a reception to the senior class in the garden of the home of the president; a concert by the college band on the lawn of Women's Residence Hall; and the alumni reception to seniors, past students and all visitors in the spacious parlors of the Residence Hall. Music was furnished by a quartet from the college conservatory with various musical instruments while refreshments were served and acquaintances renewed. The program closed with the initiation of the 1928 class with the "Tribute of the Sioux" in regular Indian fashion. In the evening the college a capella choir appropriately ended a lovely Sabbath day with a concert of very fine harmonies and outstanding compositions.

On Monday morning degrees were presented to 93 candidates in bachelor of arts, science, and music. Among those helping with the program were two classmates of Mrs. Hayes, one, with his wife, having been a missionary in Korea for fifteen years. He is now pastor of at Sac City, Iowa. Mrs. Hayes' girlhood home. The other drew Mrs. Hayes as partner in the commencement professional of 1907. Both of these men were witnessing the graduation of the third child of each, receiving her diploma from his alma mater.

The address of the morning was given by President Daniel L. Marsh who gave a picture of the history of the times through the literature in a very scholarly address, yet was not unkind of present trends of interest to graduates. Twelve students were received into the honor society of Zeta Sigma for high scholarship and class prizes were awarded.

Mrs. Hayes reports it all a very happy and inspiring commencement.

LAST CALL on Eradication of Stinkweed

Pennycress, Stinkweed or Fanweed can be seen on most of the roads and in ditches. It will soon be matured and the seed will wash and blow down through pastures and be distributed all over the farm. This is the last chance to make a concerted drive on the eradication of this pest. Last week, we urged you to cut the weed, if it is matured now, rake and pile it and then burn. Next fall you can apply Sodium Chlorate to a good advantage.

the long-mileage gasoline

"Ump-ff" is descriptive, certainly, of the things you notice about this gasoline when you use it in your car—the life, the power, the get-up-and-go that is so noticeable the minute it goes into action. Next time you need gasoline, swing in where you see the STANDARD sign and try a tankful. And while you're about it, notice the miles you go before you need gasoline again. One important thing that extra UMP-FF does, is run your car at surprisingly low cost per mile.
