Infant of Charles Sporer Passes.
Everett Charles Sporer, three-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sporer, passed away last Thursday and was buried from the Horton funeral home at Plattsmouth last Saturday, interment being made at the Lewiston cemetery.

The young son had come to brighten this family and after but a brief visit was called away to the other world to be with the angels. When he had come to the home bringing cheer and happiness, the parents bestowing much love on the little man, it seems especially hard to have to give him to death. However, the little son awaits on the other shore to welcome the parents when they shall arrive. The parents have the sympathy of their many friends in this their hour of grief.

Getting Ready for the Grain
Major I. Hall is having a granary built on the farm east of town for the coming crops which are being harvested on his farm, which consists of wheat, oats and corn. The crop of oats is very fine with the wheat fair and it looks like the corn will make a very good yield.

Many Go to View River.
The high waters of the Missouri river which have exceeded the floods of old water in the memory of the oldest inhabitants, was viewed by most of the citizens of Murray who went over near Rock Bluffs as that was probably the best point of observation offered along the river in this section. The water extends from the high bluffs along the Nebraska side over into Iowa, much farm land being overflowed and a great deal of damage done to the growing crops. With the combining of the small grain and the threshing which has so far been done, it has been demonstrated that the wheat has been damaged a good deal and while light in the test, it shows a yield all the way from five bushels to the acre to twenty-five bushels and will, some experts say, make seventeen to eighteen bushels average. The oats on the other hand are showing up well for their acre and are yielding as high as sixty bushels to the acre, many that are making fifty and some lower.

Rudolph W. Hart was threshing and storing the small grain on his place Tuesday of this week. The wheat was fair, making about 20 bushels to the acre and testing very good. The oats however made a better yield, about 50 bushels.

Oscar Hopperman who had been employed at the Republican office until the change of management and who has been in the west for some time, concluded to return to Nebraska and has accepted a position with the Syracuse Journal-Democrat.

Harold Stock entertained at his home in Weeping Water last Sunday and had as his guest for the occasion his father, L. C. Stock, as honor guest, as he was passing his 52nd birthday anniversary. Forest Stock and family were also guests at the gathering.

Grover Fitzpatrick, 52, who has been employed with the government, directing work at the CCC camp, and has been in very fair health, until last Thursday when he returned from his work he was not feeling very well but not suffering badly. Later in the evening he was taken with pains in the stomach which grew worse in their intensity, but was relieved by the family physician. Resting easier he lay on the bed until nearly midnight when he thought it well to put on his night gown in order to sleep more comfortably. As he was donning the gown he fell over and passed away immediately.

The funeral of the deceased was held at the Methodist church Sunday, with interment at Oakwood cemetery. There remains the widow and one daughter, Miss Clois Lois Fitzpatrick to mourn the sudden departure of the husband and father.

Among other things he is building a granary on one of the farms in preparation for both the present crop of small grain and the corn crop this fall. Mr. Towle expects to stay until near time for the children to return to school in the west.

Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, July 17th By L. Neitzel, Murdock, Neb.

"Deborah: Emergency Leadership"
Judges 4:1-9; 12:11.

The Bible has no parallel to the story of the lesson. Of all the women in the Bible, no one has shown such heroic faith, to inspire a man like Barak, for a deed that stands alone in history. This fact will be proven by a careful analysis, as the scheme is unfolded.

The Israelites were an unstable people, undependable, vacillating; when in trouble, which always followed when they turned their back to God, he let their enemies oppress them until their burden became unbearable, that they would remember their benefactor and cry for deliverance. At this time their tormenter was Jabin, a strong king of Canaan who had his residence at Hazor, which city Joshua burned 150 years before; (See Jos. 11:1-10). He had a great army, Sisara with headquarters at Harosheth, also a great army, besides 900 iron chariots which had scythes fastened to the wheels, driven at a furious rate into the ranks of the soldiers to mow them down. He was prepared for war.

The Israelites had neither spear or shield; their iron was commandeered by their enemies. Unprepared and an unwelcome people, they were hardly in a position to shake off their yoke of bondage. This falling away from Jehovah happened again and again—still they were the chosen race—the best that existed. Through this race, God purposed to redeem man. As these people treated him, so do men treat God today. He expects loyalty and devotion, but his service is neglected and his love and benefaction ignored. "How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation." (Heb. 2:3). God's righteousness and holiness demands punishment of the persistent evildoer; so does He deal with nations, too.

Twenty years is a long time for oppression (we are quite sick and tired of six years of depression). So, finally the nation comes to their senses and remembers God. The cry of the sinist soul is music in the ears of God—he is moved to pity and is ready to help. But look at the means he employs—not a mighty, stalwart, heroic man, like a Gideon or Samson—but a woman—who has the heart of a lion and a faith like Abraham—who by her undaunted courage and faith in God, is able to inspire a good, but timid man, Barak, to perform a deed of valor unequalled in history (see above, the introduction). With only 10,000 men, unarmed, not trained soldiers, to meet a well trained and equipped army, with 900 iron chariots to mow down the enemy.

Deborah, the wife of Lapidoth, has shown by former acts as a judge, that she can be trusted. "It is not by power or might, but by my spirit, sayeth the Lord of hosts." (Zeph. 4:6). Deborah knew God who said: "The wicked flee when no man pursueth; but the righteous are bold as a lion." (Prov. 28:1). Further, he gave this promise: "One thousand shall flee at the rebuke of one." (Isa. 30:17). People with faith in these promises are invincible. An old prophet said: "For by Thee I have run through a troop; by my God have I leaped over the wall." (II Sam. 22:30).

Deborah was a gifted woman, a prophetess and a poet. (See Chapt. 5). Under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, she calls on Barak, who is willing to undertake the task of liberating Israel, providing Deborah go with him. It was not cowardice on his part, but he needed encouragement and counsel. He was willing to do his part. The strategy of the plan was: Barak with 10,000 men must go up on Mount Tabor—1750 feet high—and draw Sisara with his army and 900 iron chariots, into the valley of Jesrael, into the swampy lowland of the river Kishon. They had not long to wait. When Sisara was getting ready to attack, Deborah gave the signal to Barak for the battle to begin: "Up, for this is the day, etc." Down rush the 10,000 men from Mount Tabor. The iron chariots were no good for an attack in such a territory; they mired down and confusion reigned. The suddenness of Barak's movement routed Sisara's army, and the battle was soon over. That was not a modern war, but very primitive, nearly 3,000 years ago. Our God is the same who saved his people from Jabin, destroyed his army, lost his general, and the Hebrews were free once more.

America is in a deep depression and recession, but instead of seeking light and help from God to lead us out, we use the most absurd means to help ourselves. But, we are getting only deeper into the mire. We hope and pray that God in his mercy may give us a leader—even if it were a God-fearing woman—to show us the way out of our trouble. It does not seem that there is a man in the nation who has the spirit of God and the courage to stand up and say: "Thus sayeth the Lord; Stand ye in the ways, and see, and ask. Stop—Look—Listen—and ask for the old paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest." (Jer. 6:16).

Apply this word of God to our nation's ills, and our troubles will vanish, as the fog before the sun.
