

Weeping Water

Sam Baker and sister, Mrs. Crede Johnson were called to Plattsmouth Monday of this week to look after some business matters.

While Postmaster Sterling Amick was over to Fort Crook last Tuesday Mrs. Amick was assisting in the care of the business at the postoffice.

Jack Bolz and G. R. Binger were in Lincoln Wednesday of this week where they were doing some work on the property Mr. Binger has in the big city.

Walter H. Frost, better known as "Jack Frost," formerly a business man at Manley, but for a number of years residing in Lincoln, was a visitor in Weeping Water Tuesday.

Attorney C. E. Tefft was called to Plattsmouth and Murray last Monday morning where he had some business matters to look after and on his return found a call for his services at Avoca.

Charles I. Seeley was called to Plattsmouth Monday of last week where he was looking after some business. Mr. Seeley saw an opportunity while there and expects to accept it and work out of Plattsmouth and expects to start work in a short time.

Misses Margaret and Marian Turner of Lincoln, nieces of Mrs. G. R. Binger, have been visiting in Weeping Water for the past week at the home of their aunt, also spending a portion of the time with their cousins Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bolz. Mr. Binger in his auto took the young guests home to Lincoln Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Findley and daughter with the family of Miller Christensen made a party who last Sunday went to Omaha and picnicked at Riverview park for the day where there is plenty of shade and a fine view of the Missouri river, with its expanse of water, as it was at flood stage notwithstanding it had receded somewhat.

On Friday evening of this week Miss Anna Hart will be hostess to four of her friends in what is known as Foresome No. 1, when she will provide a very enjoyable evening for the ladies and where contract bridge and a lunch will be features of the evening. The gathering will be enjoyed by Mrs. George Olive, Mrs. S. Ray Smith and Mrs. I. R. Markland.

Fred Allen and Mae Michelsen chanced to have their birthdays come near together and a number of their friends of which Mr. and Mrs. Ross Shields were a portion, last Sunday had a surprise party on the two. The occasion was celebrated at the spot on the hill where the trailer of Mr. Shields is located and a very delightful time was had with a picnic dinner served near the trailer in the evening.

Builds a New Boat.

Albert Tuck is just now completing a boat which is a beauty and will have the capacity for holding nearly a ton. The boat will be equipped with a gas motor which will make a fast bit of transportation and this will serve admirably for carrying camping equipment and fishing apparatus.

Attending C. M. T. C.

Through the efforts of Postmaster Sterling Amick, his son Verne Amick and Raymond Myers who have been desiring to attend the C. M. T. C. camp at Fort Crook, were able to attend. The camp period will cover a month. Mr. Amick accompanied the young men to the camp last Tuesday morning.

Returns From Wheat Harvest.

One of the merchants of Weeping Water, in speaking about the wheat harvest which is just now about over, said he had three customers who had told him a few days ago that following the threshing and cleaning up after the wheat harvest had been completed and the paying of the accounts incident to the growing of their wheat crop, one had just $11.00 left, while a second had only $10.00 and the third had $83.00. There had been the summer's work and not enough in two instances to pay a two week's grocery bill, while the third would not go far in liquidating the necessities of life for a very long time. We are not a pessimist but it takes more than this kind of returns to bring prosperity back.

Congressman Luckey Visits Here.

Congressman Henry C. Luckey was looking after some business matters in Weeping Water Tuesday of this week and was meeting with State Senator Fred L. Carsten and Postmaster Sterling Amick.

Builds a New Granary.

Sam Baker, the contractor and builder, has just completed a new granary on one of the farms of George Towle, a few miles in the country, which is occupied by Owen Buck. While the wheat crop is not demanding so much additional room, the other harvests may be more abundant and a good granary is a necessity. The building is 18x20 feet and will hold a large amount of grain.

Legion Auxiliary Install.

The members of the American Legion Auxiliary were meeting last Tuesday night at their quarters and after looking after the regular order of business, proceeded to induct into office the officers which had been elected before. The new officers are: Mrs. Sam Baker, president; Mrs. Fred Allen, vice-president; Mrs. Sterling Amick, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Wildrick, sergeant at arms; Mrs. Nellie Dowler, chaplain.

Getting Ready for Real Business.

The farm program as set up under the new laws in order to be effective and uniform, must have administrators who have been schooled, and hence the school which has been conducted at the Farm Bureau which has been in session for a few days and attended by a representative from each precinct in the county. They have been making good progress in acquainting themselves with the setup as it is to be put into operation.

DOUGLAS AND LANCASTER COUNTIES GET MUCH RELIEF

LINCOLN, July 19 (UP)—Total expenditures for work relief in Nebraska now average more than $1,500,000 with nearly one-half of the total spent for WPA projects in Douglas and Lancaster counties which have shown a steady relief load increase in monthly reports. State WPA Administrator D. F. Felton said today.

Douglas county sponsors to date this year have contributed 14.3 per cent of project costs to match federal government shares of 85.7 per cent compared with sponsors shares of 22.1 per cent to match the federal contribution of 77.9 per cent in Lancaster county. Felton said. The state ratio shows a sponsor contribution of 21.7 per cent compared to WPA's share of 78.3 per cent.

EVANGELIST DIES

HOLLYWOOD, July 19 (UP)—Paul Rader, 59, the famous Evangelist died in Hollywood hospital today after nine weeks illness. He was stricken on a tour in England but recovered sufficiently to return here for treatment.

At one time the Rev. Rader was reported negotiating to buy Angelus Temple from Aimee McPherson. He was a former president of world wide Christian Couriers.

Gorder and daughter, Mary Catherine, Mrs. Lester Gaylord and Mrs. Kenneth McCarthy made a party who drove to Kearney where they visited Mrs. George Troop, who is receiving treatment at the institution there, she having been suffering from tuberculosis. The patient seemed very cheerful and hopeful of an early recovery.

Kept Him Guessing for a While.

M. G. Churchill was called to Weeping Water last week on some business matters, parking his car at a convenient place and went about his business, having concluded same, went back to where he left the car, but found no car there. Mr. Churchill had left his switch key in the car and a business man of Weeping Water, desiring to go home to dinner came along and looking at the auto of Mr. Churchill, got in and drove away to his dinner. When arriving he found that the car, although looking like his, was the property of someone else. Mr. Churchill had invoked the services of the city marshal and had called the county sheriff, and with others were actively searching for the missing auto, when the business man came driving back with the missing vehicle. An explanation followed and all was well. Mr. Churchill got in the car and returned home. Never, he says, will he leave his switch key in his car.

Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, July 24th By L. Neitzel, Murdock, Neb.

"Gideon; Following God's Plan"

Judges 7:1-7, 15-23.

We study today the character and the exploits of one of God's nobelmen, whose name is enrolled in the "hall of fame." (Heb. 11:32). Samuel speaks of him (I Sam. 12:11); Asaph sings of him (Ps. 83:9). In Isa. 9:1-8, we find his achievement extolled. Nothing is known of his youth; his father's name was Joash from the tribe of Manasseh, and he was called of God (1256 B. C.) He was a man of undaunted courage, and simple faith in God, after making sure that he was right and understood his orders, he tested God (with the fleece) as God tested him (with the 300 men). He was called by an angel, while threshing wheat. The salutation of the angel: "The Lord is with thee, thou mighty man of valour," bewildered him. (See Judges 6:11-23).

Gideon was to be a deliverer to Israel, who had forsaken God, who used the heathen tribes—Midianites and Amalekites—to punish them, for seven years, when these tribes would invade Canaan and steal the harvest when ripe, which was worse than a drought.

Then they turned to God in their trouble, and God heard their cry, and sent a prophet to them, who rebuked them, showed them how ungrateful they had been and how they had forgotten their benefactor. It was then that God found his man, who should deliver them from their oppressors. But God cannot pardon sin until the sinner confesses his sins and comes to God with a contrite heart and penitent spirit.

Several incidents preceded the actual preparation for war: (1) the destruction of his father's altar to a heathen God, Baal, and the uprooting of the grove, which was resented by the people and put him in jeopardy of his life; his father was called upon to deliver him to be stoned, but his father gave a wise answer: "If Baal is a god, let him contend for himself because one hath broken down his altar." (2) His confirmation by the miracle of the fleece. Many servants of Christ have been led to ask for some visible token as a certain indication of God's presence and definite leading, and have been given such token—Moses, Paul—but we should not continually ask for such tokens, but believe the Word.

Now the call to arms goes out and 32,000 men respond; but a small army against 135,000. But God says there are too many, they will boast after the battle that they won the battle. A sifting process—all those afraid to fight in this unequal struggle, may go home. 22,000 go home! God said, there are still too many. Another eliminating process reduced the number to 300, who had proven themselves men to be ready and who could be relied upon when needed. The 22,000 fearful men—fear is contagious—would have been the cause of sure defeat; so in the church filled with fearful men, they see the enemy, their number, their entrenched position, and say, "We cannot win." Naturally enough when beset with that feeling, they do not win.

See the liquor forces with the law and government on their side, and the small number willing to engage them—it is little David against Goliath. In the name of the Lord, they can be overcome. "Not by might nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord." (Zech. 4:6). The 300 had the promise of God: "One thousand shall flee at the rebuke of one." (Isa. 30:17). But in this case it was one against 450.

These 300—the battalion of death—received their trumpets and water pitchers from those who went home. There were no weapons in Israel. The battleground is the old familiar plain of Jesreel or Migiddo—here the Midianites gathered. Gideon instructs his band of 300. The war cry agreed upon is: "The sword of Jehovah and Gideon."

The night before the battle God tells Gideon to go and spy on the enemy. He went with his servant, Purah, and overheard a conversation. (See Chapt. 7:9-15). When the zero hour came—about midnight—the 300 men being placed about the camp, and upon a signal, given by Gideon, the army blew their trumpets—rams' horns—broke their pitchers, showing their torches and shouting the war cry. As a result of all this commotion, confusion reigned in the camp. The enemy done the rest, as in confusion, they killed each other, and before daylight the battle was over—a complete rout. That is God's way—so he can win victories over the forces of unrighteousness with a faithful few. So was the church established, so were her borders extended by the pioneers—others come and reap. The history of this great and courageous leader ends in a tragedy. What he had destroyed in his zeal when called by the angel, he rebuilt before he died. He had many wives, also a concubine, seventy sons in the family, and one of the concubine, who became a curse to the family. A study of chapter 8 gives a full account of his sin and the end of his family, as well as his own—much like David and Solomon. But God rewarded them for the good they did.
