

AS THE WORLD MOVES ROUND

Remarkable Journey.

Here is a picture of Mrs. Elizabeth Burns and the youngest of her six children, who have just completed probably the most remarkable journey ever made by any family, all of them having covered 700 miles on foot. The woman is a widow of Grand Rapids, Mich. The undertaking is one of the pluckiest ever attempted, and that it has succeeded without a mishap is declared marvelous.

Mrs. Burns' husband fell a victim to consumption, leaving his family in destitute circumstances, and on May 5 last the mother sold her belongings and with a small hand-cart, containing necessities, she began the journey from Grand Rapids which she expected would end at Odin, Ill., where her father lived. It took six weeks of steady walking to reach Odin, but disappointment awaited her there and she was compelled to push on, her search not being rewarded until she reached Poplar Bluff, Mo., 700 miles away from the starting point. The family is none the worse for the trip and is now with kind relatives.

MRS. ELIZABETH BURNS.

There is to be an exhibition of ancient and modern examples of goldsmiths' art at Florence in connection with the celebration of the fourth centenary of Benvenuto Cellini's birth, Nov. 2. The first congress of Italian goldsmiths will be held in that city on the same occasion.

W. J. Bryan's Pastor.

There is considerable trouble in the fashionable First Presbyterian church of Lincoln, Neb. The pastor, the Rev. William N. Hindman, has been asked to resign. Mr. Bryan is a member of the church, but he has as yet taken no part in the affair which has agitated the other members, and it is announced that he does not intend to do so. At prayer service the other evening Mr. Hindman denounced one of his elders, T. M. Hodgman, a professor in the University of Nebraska, declaring that views expressed by him at the meeting were at variance with the Presbyterian creed and teaching. The discussion, although spirited, was as nothing compared with the set-to at the close of the services, when charges of considerable bitterness were flung back and forth.

Motor Cars for Africa.

A French automobile company recently dispatched forty-two motor cars to central Africa to serve in the regular transportation of goods between Buisaloba and Bamoka. Hitherto it required nearly a month to convey merchandise along this trade route, but the new motor wagons have accomplished the journey in the space of three or four days. Each wagon is about four tons in weight, and has from nine to ten horse power at its disposal as motive force.

Senator George F. Hoar of Massachusetts was 74 years old last week. In answer to a letter from a friend congratulating him on his excellent health, Mr. Hoar said: "I am thoroughly over that disease known as being 73 years old."

The Greatest Irishman.

There is something of a controversy in England as to who was the greatest of three great Irishmen—the late Lord Chief Justice Russell, Lord Dufferin or Lord Roberts. At the 1898 banquet of the Ulster association in London, Lord Dufferin referred to Lord Russell as "the most distinguished Irishman of our generation."

Presidential Votes.

Since 1864 the total vote at each successive presidential election has shown an increase over the vote of the preceding contest. From 1864 to 1872 the gain was 1,700,000; from 1872 to 1880, 2,000,000; from 1880 to 1888, 800,000; from 1888 to 1896, 800,000; from 1896 to 1904, 1,300,000, an abnormally large increase not accounted for by the admission of new states; from 1888 to 1892, 700,000, and from 1892 to 1896, 1,900,000. This year the probable total popular vote is estimated at 16,000,000.

Mary Anderson-Navarro attended a bazaar in England the other day in aid of a religious community and was told by the father rector that she was a mother to them. "Our Mary" is, of course, no longer in the full blush of youthful beauty, but this remark rather startled her for a moment. In the course of a short reply she good-humoredly said that the reverend gentleman might at least have called her a sister.

Explorer's Awful Suffering.

Sven Anders Hedin, the noted explorer, has added another chapter of valuable information as the result of his recent explorations in the heart of Tibet. Overcoming hardships that it is hard to believe the human body capable of sustaining, scaling the icy mountains of the Altai Tag, and crawling for whole days at a time on his hands, S. A. Hedin, and knees over the torrid alkali deserts of Thibet. Dr. Hedin defied death in a thousand forms that he might be the first white man to set foot upon the shores of Lake Lop Nor. There he found the moldering ruins of a magnificent city—a city of beautiful marbles and exquisite mosaics—a city of grand terraces and intersected by broad driveways—the tombstones of a decayed civilization.

Lineage of Presidents.

In a study of American politics which appeared in a recent number of the London Chronicle it was pointed out that out of the twenty-five presidents of the United States, all but one have been of British family origin. Fifteen, headed by Washington, came of English stock. Three, including James Monroe, had Scotch ancestors. One, Thomas Jefferson, inherited pure Welsh blood, while five others traced their lineage to Scotch-Irish ancestry.

E. W. Vaughn, the nonagenarian vicar of the church of Llantieri, in the vale of Glamorgan, Wales, seems perfectly in keeping with his surroundings, as the church he preaches in is built on grounds which represent the most ancient Christian center in the British isles as a daughter of Caractacus, mentioned by St. Paul under the name of Claudia, is said to have founded a Christian church there about A. D. 63.

A Junk Tree.

The accompanying picture represents a single pine tree in the shape of a junk growing a few miles from Kyoto, the western capital of Japan, in the grounds attached to the golden pavilion, which dates back to the fourteenth century. This tree is a monument of patient care and devotion. In the Mikado's empire landscape gardening has for generations been studied as a fine art, and is thoroughly characteristic of Japanese aestheticism.

Musical Pigeons of Pekin.

A picturesque feature of the life in Pekin is the flight of the musical pigeons overhead the city. The thrifty Chinese, unwilling to lose their flocks of pigeons, have invented small whistles or sets of pipes, which they fasten to the tail feathers of their pigeons before liberating them for exercise. The air rushing through the pipes makes enough noise to frighten away hawks who would otherwise pounce upon the pigeons. The sound of these "aeolian" pipes is said to be extremely musical, a "sweet, sad strain" of harmony.

SAYINGS and DOINGS

Raised in Rank.

Crown Prince William of Germany, who has been promoted from the rank of second lieutenant to that of first lieutenant, is an officer of the First Regiment of Guards, in which he is very popular. William is the eldest son of the Emperor and inherits much of his father's love for the military. He and his brother have been officers in the army ever since they were mere lads. The princes are hard students and as soldiers have shown every desire to be as rough and martial as the most brusque soldier in the ranks, all of which has been immensely pleasing to the men and officers with whom the imperial boys have served. Prince William is heir apparent to the throne of Germany and is 18 years old.

Woman University Professor.

The board of regents of the University of Kansas broke away from precedent the other morning and elected Miss Eugenia Galloo to the chair of French, made vacant by the resignation of Prof. A. G. Canfield. Miss Galloo is the first woman to occupy a full professorship at the institution since preparatory work was abolished. Miss Alma D. Deland Leduc of Chicago university, a New Orleans girl, was elected to succeed Miss Galloo as assistant.

Rev. Dr. Dean Richmond Babbitt, in a sermon the other evening on "Social Christianity" in the Church of the Epiphany, New York, said that one of the most Christian acts a man can do "is to attend the primaries carrying a Christian conscience with you that will make clean the stream of politics at its source."

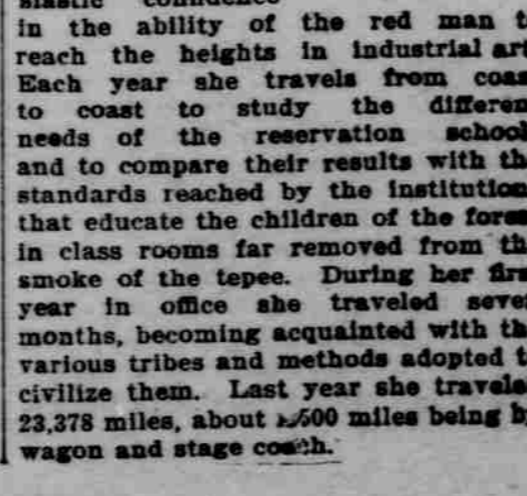

Indian on the Stump.

Tall Beaver, chief of the Comanche Indians in Oklahoma, will take the stump. He says he has a contract with the National committee to make these speeches, but will not show it to any one. Tall Beaver will urge that people give the red man a vote and they will get the country right. He says there are upwards of 50,000 Indian voters in the United States. Tall Beaver is a graduate of Haskell Indian school, and has studied law. He will speak in Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri. Tall Beaver. If he proves a success he may go east.

Among the awards in the fine art section of the Paris exhibition is one to King Carlos I. of Portugal. The jury was undecided at first whether to judge him as a king or an artist, but decided to judge his work entirely on its merits. He was awarded a silver medal in the second class for his pastels.

Educating the Red Man.

The best Federal appointment given to a woman by this administration was that of superintendent of Indian schools for the United States, an office of great opportunity and broad scope. For two years Miss Estelle Reel of Wyoming, has administered it in a manner which reflects credit on all womankind. Her work is of a most interesting nature, and the many innovations in methods of education instituted by her have already resulted in a marked improvement in the educational requirements of the Indians all over the country. Miss Reel has an enthusiastic confidence in the ability of the red man to reach the heights in industrial art. Each year she travels from coast to coast to study the different needs of the reservation schools and to compare their results with the standards reached by the institutions that educate the children of the forest in class rooms far removed from the smoke of the tepee. During her first year in office she traveled seven months, becoming acquainted with the various tribes and methods adopted to civilize them. Last year she traveled 23,378 miles, about 2,600 miles being by wagon and stage coach.

STOCKMEN ARE PROSPERING.

Purchases of Land Being Made by Them Proves It.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 10.—"The sale of railroad lands continues with an activity that suggests two things," said A. L. Lynch of the Union Pacific land department. "One is that the people who have been in the stock business in the west for the last few years are now beginning to reap the benefits of their early labors and are enjoying an unprecedented degree of prosperity. The other is that the cattle and sheep men realize the necessity of securing possession of the ranges required for feeding their cattle and sheep."

Applications have just been received at headquarters in this city for two tracts of land, of which two syndicates of sheepmen in Carbon county, Wyo., wish to get possession in order to have plenty of range for their sheep. J. A. Schoonpas, representing one of the syndicates, has made application for 7,489 acres of land and P. J. Quealy, representing another syndicate, is negotiating for the purchase of a tract of land in area 17,280 acres.

Financially the fair has been very successful, and all premiums will be paid in cash, in full, and at once. Payment will be begun today, when the management will commence mailing checks to successful exhibitors. The last payment, it is claimed, will be made by September 20.
