

Beautiful Autumn Scenes

AT no time of the year does nature present stronger attractions than during the Autumn months; possibly the saddest, but certainly the most beautiful season of the year.

The gorgeous colorings of the sky vie with the brilliant tints of the dying foliage. The pure, crisp air and the glorious woods in their gold and crimson mutely appeal to man's highest and noblest feelings. The hills and vales invite his deepest admiration. The golden maple and purple oak leaves; purple asters and golden rod, the waving scarlet sumach, all bid you welcome to the country fields.

Nowhere will you find more beautiful landscapes or a more enjoyable trip than over the Bellevue-Fort Crook interurban line. On the heights at Bellevue, overlooking the majestic Missouri river, you will get a view of the country for miles around. It is a wonderful and beautiful sight well worth seeing. From Omaha take either the Albright or South Omaha cars; get off at 24th and N streets, South Omaha, where you can secure interurban cars for Bellevue, Avery and Fort Crook, leaving on the even hour, and on Sundays at twenty minute intervals thereafter. This will give you ample time to see the forts, visit the soldiers in their government quarters, and enjoy a stroll on the parade grounds, or to stop off and enjoy the magnificent panorama from the college grounds at Bellevue.

Don't lose this opportunity to view the beautiful autumn scenery en route. This is a trip which every man, woman and child in Omaha should take. While the trip at any time is a delightful one, it possesses additional charms just not which all lovers of nature cannot but appreciate.
