The Pianola

MAKES USELESS
PIANOS
USEFUL

Formerly people bought pianos irrespective of whether they were able to play them or not. Today the invention of the Pianola has made the possession of "a silent piano" inexcusable. It is not a question of whether there is a piano in the home—it is a question of how much good music that piano actually produces.

The Pianola is the standard Piano Player the world over. It is recognized as the leader in Paris, London, St. Petersburg, New York, Chicago, as well as in Omaha.

It is much more sensitive and responsive to the performer's taste than any of its followers, and it has a number of exclusive features of such prime importance that many of the world's best-known musicians have said that it is the only Piano Player worthy of serious consideration. A complete line of Pianolas and Pianola Pianos is now ready for your inspection. We arrange terms to suit purchasers.

An Antique
Is a Relic

And as a relic loses its value when it leaves the family with which it has done service.

Modern reproductions of the different periods far surpass the original antique pieces.

A comparison of antique furniture with the modern reproductions reveal, in the world today, superior finish—cabinet work and lines.

The modern craftsman has improved the art. Why shouldn't he? All the arts and sciences have been developed year by year, until today—what have you? Workmen of experience with inherited ability. Trouble is, we don't appreciate, even think of the advanced times in which we live. We exhibit the very best in modern hand made furniture.

Furniture that expresses the heart of the craftsman just as much as of old, and added to that—materials, finishes and substantial assembling of which our forefathers were ignorant.

We invite all interested people to come and look over the largest line of hand made furniture in the west.
