Harry L. Cohn, assistant United States attorney for Alaska, is in Omaha on a six months' leave of absence, which he will spend at his old home here. He will return to the frozen north about the middle of December, going over the trail from Valdez to Fairbanks on sleds. Discussing the recent resignation of Judge Wickersham from the district beach of Alaska, for which position Assistant Altorney General W. B. Rose of Lincoln is mentioned,

Mr. Cohn said: "The resignation of Judge James Wickersham from the bench of the Third Judicial district of Alaska ends a peculiar political fight. For four years. "Alaska is governed almost wholly by its district judges. We have a governor, but he is a mere figurehead, his powers being limited to making reports to congress for needed legislation, and appoint ing notaries public. The real governing power is in the three district Judges and probably at no place in the world is as much expected of a judiciary.

Resignation is a Loss. "The resignation of Wickersham is, I believe, a loss to Alaska. Notwithstanding the charges against him. I always found him upright and honorable and an excellent judge. MANEUVERING IN THE NORTH SEA

Brings Vessels Together that Have Been Maintained Near British Isles for War Train-Ing.

LONDON. Oct. 14.-There is now assem bling in the North sea and the English channel for maneuvers under the command of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford a fleet of Bruish warships representing an aggregation of naval power surpassing all the immediately available resources of any two other countries of Europe, and yet not a single ship of this fleet has been drawn from the reserves, the Mediterranean fleet or the Devonshire and Portsmouth dl

The home fleet, which is now assembling consists merely of those ships maintained in the vicinity of the British isle, and which throughout the year have been engaged in war training. It numbers 110 pennants and is composed of twenty-six battleships, fifteen armored cruisers, several protected cruisers, various auxiliary vessels and forty-eight torpedo vessels The battleship Dreadnaught is not taking part in the maneuvers, as she is being fitted with a new steering engine before being subjected to a further series of sea trials, which, it is hoped, will prove of assistance in determining the dimensions of future large battleships.

The first section of the coming naval maneuvers, covering four days, will be of a tactical description and the final days will be devoted to studying the problem of defending ships against torpedo attacks. With the "Mosquilo fleet" attacking the large warships and-all the land stations manned, the coming operations are expected to be most interesting.
