

BRIEF CITY NEWS

Have Book printed by John A. Gentileman for printer, Douglas Printing Co., 214-16 E. 16th st. F. A. Shukert, photographer, removed to Eighteenth and Farnam streets. Dr. E. A. Foster, dentist, office N. E. cor. 16th and Douglas, over Fry Shoe store, R. 1. We always have Rock Springs coal. Central Coal and Coke Co. of Omaha, 15th and Douglas. E. Shukert Will Build—William Rockford & Sons have been awarded the contract for erecting a three-story brick building, 27 1/2 feet, at 14th Harney street, for G. E. Shukert. Transfer for Brewery Property—The Stors Brewing company has transferred to the Independent Realty company $14,075 worth of property used for saloon purposes to comply with the recent act of the legislature forbidding brewers from owning or operating saloons. Builders Ignore the Fire—The hurry on Wall street does not seem to be alarming Omaha home-builders," said Richard Grotte of the building inspector's office, "for so far this month permits have been taken out for houses valued at over $400,000, and there doesn't seem to be any diminution of the demand." Violates the Speed Limit—L. H. Morgan, 57 South Thirty-third street, was arrested Wednesday morning charged with violating the speed limit for automobiles and not exposing the machine number. Sergeant Sigwart, who made the arrest, thinks the machine was making express train time down Farnam street. The case will be tried in police court Thursday morning. Gets Rid of Money All Rights—J. C. Simmons was bound over to the district court in the sum of $200 Wednesday morning on the charge of picking H. C. Miller's pockets at 24th and Farnam streets. Miller is a mixture of Sioux Indian and Mexican and has long fluffy black hair. He works on a farm near Blair and came to Omaha Saturday to dump off his summer wages, accomplishing his mission with surprising alacrity. Fire Captain Hurt by Fall—Captain Halsey of the Central fire station fell off the hose wagon as the company was making a run to a fire Wednesday night. He will be laid up for several days as a result of his injuries. The accident happened as the cart was turning the corner at Fifteenth and Harney streets. The turn was made so swift that Halsey lost his balance. His wrist was sprained and he was considerably bruised and cut about the head and body. Lindsey Will Talk Twice—Judge Lindsey of the juvenile court of Denver is to be in Omaha Saturday, delivering an address at the Young Men's Christian association building tonight. He will arrive in time to take part in the entertainment to be given by Mrs. Frank L. Haller to the new-boys of Omaha at the Linger Art gallery. Mrs. Haller will receive about 157 of the new-boys at 1 o'clock, and it is expected that in addition to other features of the program Judge Lindsey will deliver a short address. No Coal Famine This Year—C. H. Cherry, a real estate dealer of Fargo, N. D., has been a guest at the Paxton hotel for several days. He is traveling over this section of a program of encouraging immigration to North Dakota. "Mr. Cherry says there is no danger of a repetition of last winter's coal famine the coming winter in his state, and that the one last winter was greatly exaggerated. Many towns were short of coal, but that was the fault of the dealers, who failed to order before cold weather actually set in. They have profited by last year's experience and most towns are well supplied now." D. A. R. LUNCH AT THE ROME Give Mrs. C. B. Letton Unanimous Endorsement for Re-Election as State Regent. The Daughters of the American Revolution of Nebraska concluded its two-day annual conference at noon Wednesday with a luncheon at the Rome hotel, tendered by members of the Omaha chapter. Covers were laid for ninety-five including the forty-four out-of-town visitors, delegates and alternates. Eight chapters and three regencies make up the Nebraska organization including the Omaha Omaha, Lincoln, Fairbury, Fremont, Blair, Beatrice,eward and Ord chapters and regencies at Kearney, Hastings and Aurora. Mrs. C. B. Letton of Lincoln, state regent, presided during Wednesday morning's session, which consisted of a program of papers and talks on the patriotic work of the organization. Mrs. C. S. Longworth of Seward, talked on "True Patriotism." Mrs. Warren Kiefer of St. Paul, spoke on "Patriotism in the State." She emphasized the need of the intelligent sympathy and co-operation of refined women in the work for bettering the moral tone of the state generally. "Patriotism in the Schools" was discussed by Mrs. McGovern of the Fremont chapter, and Mrs. Calvin Steele of Fairbury talked on the "Possible Influence of the Daughters of the American Revolution Upon Simple Thought and Living." Music by Miss Mary Wood and Miss Henrietta Rees completed the program. During the business session Mrs. Ward of Lincoln, was appointed secretary, Mrs. W. A. Smith of Omaha, treasurer, and Mrs. Stubbs of Omaha, consulting registrar. Mrs. C. B. Letton of Lincoln, received the unanimous endorsement of the assembly for re-election to the state regency, and Mrs. E. D. Barlow, the recommendation for the vice-presidency. The next election does not come until the conference, however, and these recommendations must receive the endorsement of the state board, including the state officers and delegates to the Continental congress, which meets in March. This endorsement must in turn be confirmed by the congress next June. Perhaps the most important action of the conference was the recommendation that steps be taken to secure the education of children along patriotic lines in the public schools of Nebraska. Announcements of the Theaters. The new "McFadden's Row of Flats," with its fund of real humor, its clever specialties, its side-splitting climaxes and situations will be at the Krug for three days, starting tonight. Since its last presentation here it has been extravagantly resupplied with scenery, costumes, etc., and comes this time new from start to finish. The company is a strong one and contains many funny comedians, who appear in the numerous roles as well as presenting their specialties. There is also a large chorus of pretty and shapely girls who sing and dance. Fritz Scheff is supporting this season's reputation she made on her first visit to America. Engaged to sing minor roles in the Metropolitan Grand Opera company, with a prospect of becoming prima donna, she discovered a stronger taste for light opera, and especially the comic roles. So she forsook Conradi, and her first tour of America as a comic opera star was an ovation. Since then she has continued her triumph. Last season she was in New York all winter in "Mlle Modiste," but this season her tour is a continuation of her experience of three seasons ago. Fraulein Scheff will begin her engagement at the Boyd on Friday evening, playing three performances, a matinee on Saturday. The fourth act of "His Last Dollar," which comes to the Krug for four days, starting Sunday matinee, representing an actual racing scene, is one of the most realistic of its kind ever staged. However, this one act is not the only bid the play makes to the emotions, for the story throughout is told in that crisp, terse and invigorating fashion so appealing to the center of the nervous organism. The play not only tells a charming love story, but is profuse in fresh and well-done comedy. David Higgins, co-author of the piece and the creator of the leading role, again needs the company. Low Railroad Rates to Hot Springs, Ark. Beautiful October and November are the most desirable months at Hot Springs, Ark. Low railroad rates based on 2-cent fare now in effect. Lemon, 134 Davenport street.

TALK OF THE POLITICIANS

Andy Gallagher's Campaign Recalls His Work Four Years Ago. REFLECTION FROM COURT RECORD Feet is Brought Out that "Andy" Was Not Very Scrupulous How He Framed Up Witnesses for His Chief. The candidacy of "Andy" Gallagher for clerk of the district court is recalling the active part of the present democratic candidate in the campaign for the same office four years ago and the contest over the office in the courts which followed the election. It was brought out that Gallagher was very eager to shape up witnesses for his chief and not very scrupulous as to the means employed. When Thomas T. O'Connor, a notary public of South Omaha, was put on the stand during the questions propounded to him were ruled out, but the purport of their bearing on the fitness of Gallagher for the office he is seeking is disclosed by these excerpts from the court record: Questions by B. G. Burbank: Q. Your attention for some time called to Andy Gallagher, is he the same Andy Gallagher who is now in the court room and who is one of Mr. Barrett's clerks in the office of the district court of Douglas county? A. Yes, sir. Q. What did Andy Gallagher say to you that evening, and what, if anything, did he say you to do for him that evening? A. He said you sign, and what, if anything, did he say you that evening, and for whom, if anyone, was he to do anything? A. He was asking Mr. Burbank: The contestant offers to show by the witness that on Saturday evening last, in the city of Omaha, Andy Gallagher found him, and after being with him in the city for some time, three hours finally took him into the office of the clerk of the district court of Douglas county, in the court house building in Omaha, and said to him that the incumbent, Mr. Broadwell, did not want him to testify in the case to be presented to him, written statement, and in it was a statement to the effect that Mr. Broadwell, under the motive of Frank Gallagher, had been elected chairman of the board and judge of election in the city of South Omaha. The witness interlined and changed the written statement, which was typewritten, so as to modify and eliminate the signing of Andy Gallagher, and the witness a roll of money, which later in the evening the witness counted and found to be $50; that he was requested by the said Gallagher to leave the city of Omaha and not return until after this trial had been concluded. Q. You may state, Mr. Witness, whether you had a further conversation with Andy Gallagher on yesterday—that is, Sunday, and if so, where, and what was said by him, and what you did, and what he gave to you, and what you did with reference to it and the answers you made to him? A. Mr. Burbank: The contestant offers to show that on Sunday afternoon Andy Gallagher visited the witness at his home in South Omaha and there stated to the witness that he understood that the witness was going to testify in this case; that the incumbent did not want him to testify, and suggested to him that he leave the city and go to Lincoln and stay there until the trial was over, and that if he returned to the city, the witness immediately returned to him, and told him that if he was subpoenaed in this case, he would come into court and testify to the truth. Q. Mr. Witness, you may state what, if any, conversation you had with Andy Gallagher today, before the opening of court this morning, concerning your being a witness in this case for the contestant, and the offers of money, if any, he made to you, and what you did with reference to it and the answers you made to him? A. Mr. Burbank: The contestant offers to show by the witness that this morning, in the city of South Omaha, before the opening of court, Mr. Andy Gallagher came to the witness and told him that the incumbent did not want him to testify in the city of Omaha, and suggested to him to come in and testify, and that if he testified, the witness would be paid $50, and that although he offered him any sum of money, it would not be sufficient to induce him to come in and testify in the case he was subpoenaed.

DOUBLE-BARREL SEWER POOR

System Never Was Adequate in Omaha, Says City Engineer. REPLIES TO LEE BRIDGES Refutes Statement that Many Sewers Will Be Rendered Useless by Construction of Isard Street Outlet. At the meeting of the city council Tuesday night Councilman Bridges said with the construction of the proposed Isard street sewer outlet, sewers existing in the city $75,000 would be rendered useless. In reference to this statement City Engineer Rosewater says the only piece of sewer which will be absolutely disused is a four-foot, eight-inch sewer which was laid two or three years ago on Fourteenth street, between California and Webster streets, which will be incorporated in the new line of sewer, and the double-barrel six-foot, three-inch sewer which was laid in 1881 at the eastern end of Isard street. He says the other sewer which opens at the mouth of the double-barrel sewer will be maintained as a district sewer and connected with the new sewer near its outlet by a thirty-inch pipe. "This double-barrel sewer was always inadequate," says Mr. Rosewater. "When it was built I protested against it and, as a private citizen, informed the contractor, Hugh Murphy, that he was in danger of high water at any time. He stopped work, but the man who was then city engineer and the Board of Public Works paid no attention to the case and Mr. Murphy went ahead with the work. Luckily for him no storm came, but a few weeks after the city had accepted the work a heavy rain fell and the predicted result occurred. The entire northern part of the city was under water, one of the sewers burst open and the repairs cost the city considerable money. Since that time the sewer has been unable to carry its indicated capacity of water for the reason that it is so low at its mouth that mud backs up from the river and stands at least half the depth of the sewer at times." Incidentally, the city engineer recalls the fact that the new sewer is an integral part of a sewer system designed by him in 1881, but which was never carried out, as the plans were not satisfactory to the Union Pacific Railroad company and the council of that day. Since then the company has agreed to those plans and has a contract with the city for the construction of the sewer, which, in the opinion of the engineer, will make it practically impossible for any considerable change to be made in the plan as submitted to the council. One change is, however, absolutely necessary, because of the laying of railway tracks in the alley between Thirtieth and Fourteenth streets, from California to Webster streets. These rails make it necessary to take the sewer out of the alley and place it in Fourteenth street. The change reduces the length of the sewer about eighty-five feet and makes easier construction. MAYOR ENTITLED TO EXTRA Decision of Judge Estelle is Against Caters in His Prolonged Fight. In sustaining a demurrer to the petition in the case of J. T. Caters against the late Mayor Frank B. Moore, Judge Estelle has decided the mayor is entitled to $400 extra compensation for his services as member of the fire and police board. Caters appealed to the district court from the action of the city council in allowing the claim of the former mayor for his services. B. G. Burbank, attorney for Caters, said Wednesday the case would probably be taken to the supreme court by his client. The Canadian Pacific has made an increase in the pay of telegraph operators of 1 1/2 per cent. The Santa Fe has increased the pay of telegraph operators an average of 8 per cent and of apprentices in the shops 2 cents a day. Conductors of the St. Paul in Wisconsin have received a circular calling attention to the legal liability of conductors who carry passengers, either adults or children, at less than the published rates. Stoves in ground on carrying children over 12 years at half-face rates. Lines of the Central Traffic association have announced the restoration of low rate excursions to southern Illinois points, which were withdrawn July 1 when the 2-cent passenger law went into effect. The railroad announced that 2 cents a mile was to be the minimum as well as the maximum rate. The lines of the Western Passenger association have declined to date to follow the lead of the other lines. Because Yardmaster John Collins was removed from the Cleveland yards to another point, 250 switchmen struck in Cleveland Tuesday. The men returned to work pending an investigation of the matter by the officials. Harriman has ordered a retrenchment on the Texas lines of his system and to that end a dozen train crews were laid off on the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio road, running into El Paso. The Milwaukee brought in a special tourist car of travelers enroute from Cedar Rapids to Chicago. They went west via Denver over the Union Pacific. THIEF LEAVES GOOD CLUES Denotes by His Theft He is a Bachelor, Fond of Dress and Opera. A burglar raised a window in Leo Boroch's residence, 1501 William street, Tuesday night and got away with one dozen pairs of pants, six coats, six vests, a pair of opera glasses and a thumb. There were other articles of more value in the house which he might have taken, says Mr. Harroch, but which he left unharmed, the fact given the police a cue that the thief is fond of good clothes and opera. With this clue to work upon the police believe they may get him. The only puzzling feature in the case is, what did the man want with the thumb. It is that matter can be straitened out satisfactorily the police say they will have little difficulty in locating the burglar, and they believe his taking the thumb offers another clue, namely, that he is a bachelor. Charcoal Kills Bad Breath

Bad Odor of Indigestion, Smoking, Drinking or Eating Can be Instantly Stopped. Sample Package Mailed Free. Other people notice your bad breath when you are talking. It is nauseating to other people to stand before them and while you are talking, give them a whiff, or two of your bad breath. It usually comes from food fermenting on your stomach. Sometimes you wake in the morning, that awful sour, bilious, bad breath, and you can stop it at once by swallowing one or two Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, the most powerful gas and odor absorbers ever prepared. Sometimes your meals will reveal themselves in your breath to those who talk with you. "You've had onions," or "You've been eating cabbage," and all of a sudden you belch in the face of your friend. Charcoal is a wonderful absorber of odors, as everyone knows. That is why Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are so quick to stop all gases and odors of odorous foods, or gas from indigestion. "Don't use breath perfumes. They never conceal the odor, and never absorb the gas that causes the odor. Besides, the very fact of using them reveals the reason for their use. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges in the first place stop for good all sour breath and belching of gas, and make your breath pure, fresh and sweet, just after you've eaten. Then no one will turn his face away from you when you breathe or talk; your breath will be pure and fresh, and besides your food will taste so much better to you at your next meal. Just try it. Charcoal does other wonderful things too. It carries away from your stomach and intestines, all the impurities there massed together and which causes the bad breath. Charcoal is a purifier as well as an absorber. Charcoal is now by far the best, most easy and mild laxative known. A whole box full will do no harm; in fact, the more you take the better. Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made of pure willow charcoal and mixed with just a faint flavor of honey to make them palatable for you, but not too sweet. You just chew them like candy. They are absolutely harmless. Get a new, pure, sweet breath, freshen your stomach for your next meal, and keep the intestines in good working order. These two things are the secret of good health and long life. You can get all the charcoal necessary to do these wonderful but simple things by getting Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. We want you to test these little wonder workers yourself before you buy them. So send us your full name and address for a free sample of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges. Then after you have tried the sample, and been convinced, go to your druggist and get a 25c box of them. You'll feel better all over, more comfortable and "cleaner" inside. Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample of Stuart's. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 209 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Both parties are working over time to get voters to register next Saturday.

There is a strong impression that a large number of the people who voted at the primary election in September are of the opinion that by reason of such vote they obtained the necessity of registering, and the records show that in several precincts the number of persons voting at the primaries was in excess of those registering on the first day. It will be well for all persons, who voted at the primaries to again ascertain if they were really registered at the same time and to pay attention to the cards sent out by the committees, for it may be that their names were never placed on the registration books. THIEF LEAVES GOOD CLUES Denotes by His Theft He is a Bachelor, Fond of Dress and Opera. A burglar raised a window in Leo Boroch's residence, 1501 William street, Tuesday night and got away with one dozen pairs of pants, six coats, six vests, a pair of opera glasses and a thumb. There were other articles of more value in the house which he might have taken, says Mr. Harroch, but which he left unharmed, the fact given the police a cue that the thief is fond of good clothes and opera. With this clue to work upon the police believe they may get him. The only puzzling feature in the case is, what did the man want with the thumb. It is that matter can be straitened out satisfactorily the police say they will have little difficulty in locating the burglar, and they believe his taking the thumb offers another clue, namely, that he is a bachelor. DOUBLE-BARREL SEWER POOR

System Never Was Adequate in Omaha, Says City Engineer. REPLIES TO LEE BRIDGES Refutes Statement that Many Sewers Will Be Rendered Useless by Construction of Isard Street Outlet. At the meeting of the city council Tuesday night Councilman Bridges said with the construction of the proposed Isard street sewer outlet, sewers existing in the city $75,000 would be rendered useless. In reference to this statement City Engineer Rosewater says the only piece of sewer which will be absolutely disused is a four-foot, eight-inch sewer which was laid two or three years ago on Fourteenth street, between California and Webster streets, which will be incorporated in the new line of sewer, and the double-barrel six-foot, three-inch sewer which was laid in 1881 at the eastern end of Isard street. He says the other sewer which opens at the mouth of the double-barrel sewer will be maintained as a district sewer and connected with the new sewer near its outlet by a thirty-inch pipe. "This double-barrel sewer was always inadequate," says Mr. Rosewater. "When it was built I protested against it and, as a private citizen, informed the contractor, Hugh Murphy, that he was in danger of high water at any time. He stopped work, but the man who was then city engineer and the Board of Public Works paid no attention to the case and Mr. Murphy went ahead with the work. Luckily for him no storm came, but a few weeks after the city had accepted the work a heavy rain fell and the predicted result occurred. The entire northern part of the city was under water, one of the sewers burst open and the repairs cost the city considerable money. Since that time the sewer has been unable to carry its indicated capacity of water for the reason that it is so low at its mouth that mud backs up from the river and stands at least half the depth of the sewer at times." Incidentally, the city engineer recalls the fact that the new sewer is an integral part of a sewer system designed by him in 1881, but which was never carried out, as the plans were not satisfactory to the Union Pacific Railroad company and the council of that day. Since then the company has agreed to those plans and has a contract with the city for the construction of the sewer, which, in the opinion of the engineer, will make it practically impossible for any considerable change to be made in the plan as submitted to the council. One change is, however, absolutely necessary, because of the laying of railway tracks in the alley between Thirtieth and Fourteenth streets, from California to Webster streets. These rails make it necessary to take the sewer out of the alley and place it in Fourteenth street. The change reduces the length of the sewer about eighty-five feet and makes easier construction. MAYOR ENTITLED TO EXTRA Decision of Judge Estelle is Against Caters in His Prolonged Fight. In sustaining a demurrer to the petition in the case of J. T. Caters against the late Mayor Frank B.
