GIANT'S CAUSEWAY TO AMERICA

Rumor Company Has Been Formed to Move Famous Attraction to Coney Island—Irish Mine.

DUBLIN, Nov. 9.—(Special.)—The Irish international exposition has been a source of strife ever since it started and it is keeping up its reputation to the close. At the head of the parade were the Sinn Feiners and a large section of the Parliamentarians are anti-national, it being argued that instead of encouraging the development of Irish industries it only gave foreign firms an opportunity of advertising their wares in Ireland. Now that it is about to close, it has furnished the subject for a bitter controversy between the lord mayor of Dublin—Mr. Nanetti, M. P.—and the traders of the Irish capital. There is no denying that from the point of view of the promoters the fair has been a success. The best of this is that it is expected to be opened next year. It has attracted hundreds of thousands of visitors to Dublin and in view of this fact the trouble which has arisen is all the more surprising.

Nanetti Attacks Fair. A few days ago Mr. Nanetti, in a public speech, a bitter attack on the fair, saying it had wrought nothing but injury to Dublin. If he had stopped with this general statement his position might have been understood, for there is no doubt that the fair attracted a host of undesirable characters as well as of desirable visitors, but Mr. Nanetti declared that the fair had inflicted more harm on the shopkeepers and hotel-keepers. This brought a chorus of denials from the shopkeepers and the hotel men, who declared with one voice that they have never known such a prosperous season since they have been in business, and that they were unanimously in favor of the continuance of the fair next year.

A real and justifiable complaint, however, is that made by several Irish manufacturers against the management of the fair. Many of the exhibitors have taken advantage of the fair to flood the country with cheap foreign goods, and some of them even have palmed off as Irish manufactures the cheapest imitations made in Birmingham and in Germany.

Is the Giant's Causeway going to America? This is the question which is at present agitating the minds of many of those who have visited the marvelous natural formation of basaltic pillars which tradition has it was built by the giant, Finn McCool, from material which his grandmother carried over from Scotland in her apron.

Likely to Be Taken Away. The story goes that the apron strings broke on one of the trips, and this accounts for the existence of a few small islands half way between Scotland and the Irish coast. At any rate, the story which is going the rounds now is that an enterprising American syndicate has bought the causeway, and that an English firm has received a contract to take up the pillars and ship them to America, where the causeway is to be re-erected at Coney Island as some similar amusement resort.

Recruits Well Drilled. A typical complaint was that made by the other day by a senior district inspector, who would correspond in rank to an inspector of one of the American municipal forces. He declared that during the last two or three years the recruits coming to the country districts after a period of training at the headquarters in Dublin were extraordinarily proficient in drill and could go through the carbine exercise beautifully, but they knew nothing at all about police duties and many of them had never even opened the police manual. He declares that the entire time at headquarters is taken up in drilling the military police, and teaching them athletic exercises, but that the authorities seem to have lost sight of the fact that the man who has to preserve order in a bog or mountain district and carry out the multifarious duties that fall to the lot of an Irish policeman has very little use for marching and presenting arms.

Additional point is given to these complaints by the announcement that Colonel Sir Neville Chamberlain, who has been inspector-in-chief of the Royal Irish constabulary is about to retire. Sir Neville is a British soldier, and it is his influence that has been responsible for the military tendency in the training of the Irish police. It is hoped that he will be succeeded by a policeman and not by a soldier.

Another valuable mineral discovery has been made at Carnagh, near Keady, County Antrim. Workmen engaged in building the new Antrim railway found traces of lead and further investigation disclosed a very rich vein of lead. Coal and traces of gold have also been discovered. The railway has secured all the mineral rights and will work the mine itself.

BANQUET MONDAY DRAWS THEM

At Commercial Club Movement Will Be Given Start.

GOVERNOR SHELTON IS ANCHORED

Nebraska Congressmen and Others, with Lawrence M. Jones, Are Coming to Dig Out Snags and Open Up.

Toasts for the banquet of the Commercial club which is to be devoted to the discussion of Missouri river improvement were announced by the banquet committee Saturday evening following the acceptance of invitations by a number of notables, among them Governor Sheldon, Senator Norris of Nebraska, and Congressman E. H. Hubbard of Iowa and Captain G. H. Schultz, Mayor W. G. Stear and C. J. Moore of Sioux City. The coming of Captain Schultz occasions the deepest interest and satisfaction. He is in charge of the river at Sioux City and in view of the old-time activity of some river generals, his anxiety to share in the promotion of this work is a great encouragement.

Lawrence M. Jones, of Kansas city, president of the Missouri River Improvement Association, will respond to the toast, "Kansas City's Fleet." Mr. Jones has been largely responsible for Kansas City having a fleet and is the original Missouri river enthusiast of Missouri.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—A prominent treasury official said today that he had been in communication today by telephone with a number of New York bankers and that they had reported the financial situation there as not very optimistic. The money stringency was gradually but certainly relaxing and the banks were resuming shipments of considerable amounts of currency into the interior. The demand of the banks for additional circulation currency unabated and the amounts already taken up had not yet been repaid, so he was having a marked influence in relieving the present stringency.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The rates for money continued firm under good demand today. Discounts were steady.

Trading on the stock exchange finished the week cheerfully. Yesterday's improvement was well maintained, but a moderate amount of business was transacted in Americans, the fears of a poor New York bank statement restraining operators. Prices ruled around parity and the session closed quiet.

FRANCE WILL MAKE TERMS

Indications Government is Willing to Continue Modus Vivendi When it Expires.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Dispatches from Paris, quoting the semi-official Temps in protest against efforts of high protectionists to prevent the French government from undertaking further tariff negotiations with the United States and other powers, are taken in administrative circles here as possibly presaging a willingness on the part of the French government to extend the modus vivendi which expires on December 1.

No information is obtainable here of the character of the counter proposition about to be submitted by the French ambassador. It is known, however, that his attention has been called to the handicap under which the executive labors in trying to compromise the tariff situation between the two countries. While the Dingy negotiates the president power to make concessions to a foreign government on certain articles in return for concessions made to this country the list is so limited that, so far as France is concerned, it practically is confined to champagne and sparkling wines.

Peristat demands in France that the maximum tariff be applied to articles imported from the United States and opposition among wine manufacturers to a decreased duty on French wines leaves little doubt that President Roosevelt will make trade.

At the French embassy today it was stated that the counter proposition of the French government has not yet been received, but is expected daily.

PRISON TERM FOR RICH WOMAN

Mrs. Evelyn Romadka Stands Excellent Chance to Go to Jail.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Mrs. Evelyn Romadka, the wealthy Milwaukee woman, who informally pleaded guilty to thefts in this city, must go to the penitentiary, according to a declaration made today by State Attorney Healy. The woman, Mrs. Romadka, was arrested in court today when the trial comes up next Wednesday or Thursday he would permit the plea of guilty made by the woman when first arraigned to stand.

Attorney Healy at once asserted that if this was done he would insist upon a penitentiary sentence. Said he: "If Mrs. Romadka pleads guilty she will undoubtedly be sent to the penitentiary for a term of from one to fourteen years. She would be sentenced only on one charge, and the other would be stricken off. Information about them would be sent to the pardon board, however, so that if she endeavored to obtain a pardon, this office would oppose any effort to have her sent to an asylum, and our information is that she was sane when the thefts were committed, and is sane now."

Mayor Becker of Milwaukee was in the court room today. He denied, however, that his visit had any connection with the case and said he had not even acquainted with the Romadkas.

BALLOONING IS A PASTIME

Pomeron Makes Flight from Philadelphia, Carrying Woman as Passenger.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—Carrying a woman among his passengers, the big German balloon, Pomeron, which was part of the recent international balloon race, made an ascension today from Point Breeze, in the southern section of this city. The woman is the wife of Dr. Julian P. Thomas of New York, who recently purchased the balloon from its German owner, and who was also a passenger. The balloon formerly belonged to Ernest Krebsbach, who piloted the bag during the trip. Others who made the trip included Captain T. Lovelace, a member of the Aero Club of America, and Lieutenant Robert Henderson, chief engineer of the battleship Missouri.

Because of Mrs. Thomas' presence in the balloon the trip will be of only one day's duration. The party intends to descend a number of times and make various experiments of interest to balloonists. The balloon sailed toward the northeast.

VALUABLE JEWELS STOLEN

Twelve Thousand Dollars Worth of Gems Disappear in New York.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 9.—The police report that jewels valued at $12,000 were lost in New York last week by Miss L. C. Chalfant of Allegheny.

She is related to the family owning the Spang-Chalfant steel mills of this city. She carried the jewels in a chamois skin bag with a purse under her skirt. The last time she remembered seeing the bag was last Friday, when she left the Waldorf-Astoria for a tailoring establishment. She had a number of dresses fitted and returned to her room at the hotel and later started for Pittsburg.

Miss Chalfant did not discover the bag was missing until she undressed to get into her berth on the train.

IMMIGRATION BOARD AT WORK

Progress Reported by Senator Dillingham During Visit to President Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—A preliminary report was made to President Roosevelt today by Senator Dillingham of Vermont, William B. Wheeler of California and Prof. John J. Jenks of Cornell university, members of the immigration commission, authorized by the last congress. Senator Dillingham, who is chairman of the commission, said the commission had just begun its investigation of the domestic situation and that the report to congress would not be completed for at least a year and that the foreign work was very well in hand. The investigation, he said, would require considerable time. No forecast of the report, he said, would be made at this time.

CAR SHORTAGE IS SERIOUS

Pittsburg District Suffers Because of Demand for Them to Move the Crops.

COUNT HEIRS AGREE

Beneficiaries of John A. Creighton Settle Terms of Will.

DOCUMENT READY TO SUBMIT

May Be Presented in Court First Thing on Monday.

SIGNATORIES TO THE AGREEMENT

Shelby and McCreary Heirs Get Fifty Thousand Each.

INSTITUTIONS ARE IN LINE

Terms Agreed on Are Satisfactory to All Concerned in the Estate and Will Offset Extended Litigation.

According to information which is believed to be authentic the seven Shelby heirs and the two McCrearys will receive $20,000 each from the estate of the late Count John A. Creighton under the terms of the compromise agreement which is now being signed by the legatees and heirs. The agreement is said to have been finally made at a meeting of the attorneys Friday afternoon, although compromise had practically been reached by the time the legatees and heirs who started the contest, are said to have already signed the agreement and the institutions interested are now signing it. It is not thought possible to have the agreement in shape to present in court Monday when the case comes up before Judge Leslie and a further postponement will be asked. The delay will not amount to more than a few days, however.

The agreement which is now being signed is satisfactory to all those interested in the estate and will prevent any extended litigation. There are two or three questions which will not settle however, and these will have to be presented in court. One of these unsettled questions relates to the bequest to the Little Sisters of the Poor. This organization is not operating in Nebraska at present. One of the rules of the order demands that it enter a city without funds and support itself entirely by contributions. It is asserted it would be in violation of the rules of the order for it to accept the legacy.

Another mooted question is whether the legacy to found a Working Girl's home is valid or not. The legacy is so indefinite as to some of the terms and conditions upon which the home is to be founded that some of the lawyers assert it would not stand the test of a court. It is probable these questions will be presented to the court and a ruling will be asked. In case the legacies are knocked out they will be added to the residuum estate and divided among the other legatees. Under the terms of this agreement $50,000 will be paid to the unnamed heirs leaving a little over $200,000 in the estate to be distributed among the legatees.

GOMPERS VISITS ROOSEVELT

Head of Labor Organization Discusses Industrial Conditions with Chief Executive.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—President Roosevelt today conferred with President Gompers and the members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor regarding labor legislation at the coming session of congress.

E. J. Shepleton and John Hodges, members of the British Parliament and former delegates from Great Britain to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, which is to open at Norfolk, Va., Monday, also were present. After the conference President Gompers said:

"We discussed with the president the questions of labor legislation which have been presented to congress, including the eight-hour day proposition; woman and child labor; employers' liability and its extension; the injunction process and the abuses which it has developed. The president discussed these matters freely with us and treated us with every consideration. As to what he will do for labor in his forthcoming message to congress I prefer he should say himself."

Mr. Gompers would not indicate whether the president had made any promises during the interview. He regarded the interview, however, as "satisfactory."

It was stated at the White House that the president would take the committee requests under consideration.

BOYCOTT AGAIN IN COURT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Suit was instituted today in the supreme court today by a dozen masters building twenty-eight defendants allied with the building trades council of the district for an injunction to restrain them from interfering with or molesting the employees of the builders or from using force or boycott methods in carrying out the strikes initiated by the building trades council.

The petition alleges union men have paid bribes to employees of builders to induce them to break contracts.

DES MOINES, Ia., Nov. 9.—Harry H. Grahl, a prominent club man and contractor, fell eleven stories while working near the top floor of the new building today and was instantly killed. He landed on his head on the top of the elevator cage, which rested in the basement. A two-inch plank, upon which he fell, was broken to bits by contact with the falling body.
