COUNTY AS AN ACCOUNTING

Believes It Has Something Coming from the State.
HASTINGS, Neb., Nov. 19.—(Special Telegram.)—The supervisors of Adams county will ask the Hospital for the Insane at Lincoln for an accounting of funds given for the care and keep of persons committed from this county to that institution to be treated for either the liquor or the drug habit. The superintendent requires an advance payment of $45 for three months' board and treatment at the time a person is committed. Many persons have been paroled or discharged in much less than three months, but the state has made no refund nor reported that the county has been credited with any unused balances. When one man remained longer than the three months period an additional payment was requested.

Heartless Treatment of Horse

FREMONT, Neb., Nov. 19.—(Special Telegram.)—The worst case of cruelty to animals ever heard of in this vicinity was brought to light Sunday by a couple of hunters across the river in Saunders county. In a secluded spot near the edge of a corn field they found an old horse with his four legs tied together and almost dead. In its struggles to get up the ropes had cut into the flesh.
They loosened the animal, but he was too weak to stand, but ate heartily of corn. They hunted up the owner, who proved to be a rough man living on a farm nearby, and he solemnly told them that the horse was his, that it was worn out and worthless, that five days before he led it out there tied his legs and left it to die of starvation. He seemed to think he had done nothing wrong. The men went back and shot the horse. The neighbors did not know of the affair until today and are highly incensed at the man's actions. Besides prosecuting under the statute they are threatening to run him out of the county, and it would only take a leader among them today to do the business at once.

NEW HEARING FOR CLARKE

up to a time beyond the adjournment of the next legislature, notwithstanding the legislature in making its appropriation limited them to the biennium ending March 21, 1908.
The regents will base their claim on the decision of the supreme court in the case of State ex rel Ledwith against Searle, auditor of public accounts, in which it was held: "When the auditor of public accounts has duly audited and allowed a claim payable out of the said funds, and there is an unexpended balance therein of a sufficient amount, it is his duty to draw a warrant therefor in favor of the claimant, although there may be no money actually in the treasury belonging to said fund." The court also held that the original act creating the 1 mill levy for the maintenance of the university is not repealed by implication by the revenue law of 1907. The last legislature passed an act approved April 4, 1907, appropriating the proceeds of the 1 mill tax for the years 1907, 1908 and so much of the proceeds of the 1 mill tax for the years 1905 and 1906 not heretofore appropriated, to the use of the university for the biennium ending March 31, 1909. In the Ledwith case the court held that this amounts to a specific appropriation within the meaning of the constitution.

For the erection of the store house $4,000 was allowed. There were five bidders. Merten was lowest on the wing to the hospital when the bids were opened and agreed to take the other two buildings at the figures of the lowest contractor, George Beringhoff, who superintended the work. The legislature appropriated $6,000 for the erection of the buildings.

Omaha National Bank

Capital, $1,000,000.00

13th Street, Bet. Farnam and Douglas

Chief Deputy Oil Inspector A. E. Allen and Secretary Dimmy of the governor's office have gone on a week's trip to Oklahoma where they will prospect and possibly invest in land.

In the letter sent to Mr. Pierce by Mr. Drake the following statements were made: "That feature printed on the face of the membership certificate you sent me, reading thus, 'Incorporated by act of congress and approved by the president of the United States' is false, and in my judgment steps should be taken by the government should be taken immediately to have those misleading documents recalled, and, if, after investigation, it should be found that the company has no legal existence, the offenders brought to book."

"From the outset I have been firmly of the opinion, and I still maintain, that no provision was made in the district code for an insurance company to insure bank deposits. In further support, too, of my position, I invite anyone to cite in a single instance a company that is legally organized in the United States to exclusively do a business of this kind or incidentally, without having first procured special legislative authority."

Insurance Deputy Pierce has information that the company is trying to do business in Nebraska, though it has no authority to do so.

University Wants Credit for Tax

An employe of the State University has requested the state auditor for credit for the temporary university fund credit for the total proceeds of the 1 mill levy for 1907, as well as 1 mill on every dollar collected on back taxes. The regents desire to issue warrants against this book account and have the same registered. Should the auditor grant this request a similar request could be made next year for the proceeds of the 1908 tax, which was also appropriated by the last legislature. As the tax on real estate for the year 1908 is not delinquent until May 1, 1909, this would in effect, be appropriating the 1 mill levy beyond the present biennium and
