PUMPHREY DENIES CRIME

Man on Trial for Murder Places Blame on State's Witness.

ATTORNEY SPRINGS A SURPRISE

Laborer at Hospital Says Ham Pak Was Not Killed by Robbers' Blows, but by Chloroform.

Charles Pumphrey, on trial for his life in district court, charged with the murder of Ham Pak, went on the witness stand Thursday afternoon and denied having anything to do with the murder or robbery of the Chinaman. He placed the entire blame for the tragedy on Basil Mullen, the 17-year-old boy who testified yesterday that it was Pumphrey that did the killing. Another startling feature of the trial was the endeavor of Attorney Yeiser for Pumphrey to show that Ham Pak did not die from the seven wounds in his head or the double fracture at the base of the skull, but from the effects of chloroform administered by the surgeons who were attending him.

This evidence was given by George W. Weigel, a laborer, who said he was at the hospital when Pak was brought in and placed on the operating table. He said he saw the surgeons wash the blood from Pumphrey's face and start to sew up some wounds in the forehead. The Chinaman, he said, raised up and put his hands up to his forehead, interfering with the surgeons. One of them, he said, administered chloroform and in a few minutes Pak quit breathing. The surgeons worked over him trying to bring back his breath, but failed.

On cross-examination Mr. Weigel testified he was positive this happened on Sunday, about July 5, while Pak was found and the operation on him performed Thursday, July 11.

Pumphrey Takes Stand.

Pumphrey was the second witness. After reviewing his previous life he said he had spent the afternoon of the day previous to the night of the murder with his sister, where he helped drink several pitchers of beer. He said he was at the Ham Pak restaurant about 5 o'clock in the evening and went with Almack to a saloon, where they drank. Then he went to his room and about 7 o'clock went to call on Anna Parr, whom he testified he was engaged to marry. He said he remained with her until two minutes before 12 o'clock, when Almack called for him and they went away together. He said Almack had called for him about 8 o'clock, but he had refused to go away with him. The second time he called they went out and got a drink and landed at the restaurant about 12:40 o'clock.

He denied the testimony of Mullen that he had been at the restaurant all the evening. The three of them, he said, played cards until half an hour or so after that time to sleep, waking up about 1:30. He declared that a word had been said about robbing the Chinaman.

At 3 o'clock, he said, Almack turned out the lights and he heard a scuffle in the kitchen. Going back he saw Mullen beating Almack. He said he saw Mullen beat Almack and he heard Almack say "I'm not a word but I will hit you."

Skull Evidence in Trial.

Ham Pak's skull was one of the gruesome features of the trial Thursday morning. It was taken to the court room by Dr. Lavender, pathologist, who performed the post-mortem examination, but was not placed on exhibition by the county attorney. It remained on one of the tables wrapped up in an old newspaper. Dr. Lavender testified that there were seven wounds in the head and that death was caused by a double fracture at the base of the skull. Detective Mitchell, who went to St. Louis to get Almack, testified he found the watch and ring stolen from Ham Pak's trunk in a pawn shop, where Almack had secured money on it, and Detective Drummy told of securing Pak's watch from Pumphrey on their way home from Pochontas, Ark., where Pumphrey was arrested.

Considerable amusement was caused by the examination of Jack Maul, a Jap, who identified the watch and ring taken from the trunk as his. He said he gave them to Ham Pak to keep two days before the murder.

Heathens May Testify. Attorney Yeiser for the defense objected to Naol testifying for the witness, who is a member of a heathen nation and not competent to give evidence. The objection was overruled. Naol gave his direct evidence through an interpreter, asserting he could not understand English. Mr. Yeiser in the beginning of the cross-examination talked English directly to the witness, who answered in English. When Yeiser asked him if he had not been asked to contribute to a fund to prosecute the slayers of Ham Pak, the witness shook his head. "No understand," he said.

"Don't you know what money is?" asked Yeiser. "No understand," said the witness, blankly. "What's this, is this money?" Mr. Yeiser asked, holding up a dollar. "No understand," repeated the witness, and the cross-examination closed.

NO DEFICIT AT FIELD CLUB Only House Committee Comes Out on the Wrong Side of the Ledger.

"The impression that there is a deficit in the finances of the Omaha Field club is wrong," said Secretary W. W. Hughes, Thursday. "The club has paid of $1,000 of bonded indebtedness during the year and has a balance on hand of $1,000, showing an excess of income over current expenses of $4,000. The impression that there was a deficit was caused by the fact that the statement shows the house committee to have exceeded its apportionment about $500."

The Lunch Counter Is the Cause of Dyspepsia and Indigestion, Catarrh of the Stomach and Heart Disease.

Five-Teeth of Those Who Eat There Bolt Down Their Food.

The next time you eat at a lunch counter just you watch the people opposite. Look down the whole line and notice how they bolt down their food, washing it down with hot coffee or cold water. First they take a large bite and then a drink, a bite and a drink, hurrying through their meal in five or ten minutes.

Many of them don't know the correct way to eat, while others are so intent on money-making that they will not take the time to eat properly.

The lunch counters create a great demand for Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, for every one now knows that they assist the stomach in digesting the food that has been suddenly forced down into it.

Health should be the first thing sought for in the battle of existence. With a sound body all things are possible to man, while ill-health handicaps him.

The dyspeptic is usually grouchy and cannot meet his fellow-man in the proper spirit to win his confidence and esteem. Many a fine proposition has failed because a dyspeptic was back of it.

Your brain does not work right where dyspeptic conditions prevail, neither does any organ of the body.

Get your digestive apparatus in perfect condition first and all will go well with you.

Take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets until you cure yourself of indigestion, catarrh of the stomach and dyspepsia, and your heart, liver, brain and all the organs of the body will perform their functions properly and you will be in sound health.

Don't give up in despair, but get right and all things will come your way and fortune will again smile on you.

You can purchase Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets anywhere on earth. They have become a family necessity everywhere. They are 50 cents per package. Send your name and address to-day and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 129 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mo.

No Fever at Dairy. OMAHA, Dec. 3.—To the Editor of The Bee: Will you please permit me to correct, so far as I can through the columns of The Daily Bee, the falsely wrongful and injurious impression that has been given publication in the daily papers by Health Commissioner Connell to the reporters of the press throughout the city on matters concerning the typhoid fever at the residence of C. S. Montgomery and Euclid Martin, not alone for us, but in justice to the Omaha General Hospital and the able physicians who attended and discharged Mr. J. P. Jensen.

Most sympathetically and positively there has never been any case of typhoid or other fever at or near our dairy at Fifty-first and Dodge, as reported. We are not new and never have been quarantined. Mr. J. P. Jensen, who was discharged from the Omaha General Hospital, was for a few days after his discharge at the residence of Mr. C. A. Christensen, but he never was at the dairy or near the cows or the milk and was not in our employment. He had no indication of any fever when at the house of my brother.

We did at one time deliver milk to the residence of C. S. Montgomery and at Mr. Euclid Martin's, but neither they or anyone else ever contracted any fever or other contagious disease from any milk, wagon or person connected with us or our business. The Martin and Montgomery families are related to each other and live near each other on Thirty-sixth street.

We deliver our milk to some two hundred different families in this city and it is a little significant that of these the Martin and Montgomery families or those in their neighborhood are the only ones affected if the disease is to be attributed to us. But the health department does not seem to be worried over these two or three cases, as they are not quarantined.

It has been reported and published in the papers that Christensen Brothers were to be arrested for not having reported to the health department that there was such a disease at our dairy, and yet no warrants have been issued or steps taken toward it. We are ready when the opportunity comes to prove to the satisfaction of the court, the public and the Martin and Montgomery families that no such disease ever emanated from us or our dairy. We believe in sanitary measures. It is to our interest to keep and maintain a sanitary dairy. We have spent much money to improve every situation concerning our cows and dairy. Not only this, but have been and are ready to assist in stamping out and destroying any contagious or infectious disease. "Cowsy" seems to be a misunderstanding and wrong impression given by the health inspector, and the daily papers about milkmen generally. There are no more loyal, sanitary or health-promoting business men than the milkmen, and yet none are more misrepresented or misunderstood.

We keep a sanitary and up-to-date dairy, inspected by the state and local officers, and all of our attention is given to its interests. Dr. Connell, the head of the health department, comes out to our dairy last Monday, the 25th of November, after having heard of the sickness in the Montgomery and Martin families, and ordered us to buy milk from the country for our customers, but having made something of an examination as to Mr. Jensen's condition and learned that Mr. Jensen had nothing to do with our dairy or milk, the following day he countermanded the order and told us to sell as before, but the newspapers have, either from Mr. Connell's report to them or by the imagination of the reporter, falsely reported that the disease at the above named places was traced and attributed directly to our dairy, and that we were quarantined both of which statements are false and injurious, and we are trying to locate and fix the responsibility. Respectfully, CHRISTENSEN BROS., By John Christensen.
