Hearty welcome is extended to the college set and visitors accompanying them who have arrived to spend their Christmas vacation in Omaha. They are losing no time heralding their determination to make things "hum" socially. They will be partially held in check until after Christmas day, when there will be a regular crush of all things that can develop into a good time. Their stay in Omaha is limited, and it is to be one joy of joys for them, as everyone seems eager to join them in the whirlpools. So it is to be expected that they will descend upon dining parlors and the city at large for the next ten days and the town and hospitality thereof in their socially, uninterupted and undisputed.

The beautiful old custom of keeping open house on New Year's day promises to be observed quite generally in Omaha this year. While but few have made formal announcement as yet, it has long been the custom of several prominent families of the city to receive informally the first day of the year and gradually the custom is spreading. In several homes of the city boisterous young women will receive tonight. Several such announcements have already been made and plans are materializing that will doubtless bring other announcements soon. One of Omaha's best known matrons has frequently suggested that those expecting to receive New Year's day so announce through the society columns, a plan that has ever met with hearty approval of men, women and others who still keep up the old custom of making New Year's calls.

Weddings and Engagements. Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Blanche Howland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hastings Howland, and Mr. Edward P. The wedding of Miss Emma Jaque and Mr. Frank L. Rowley was solemnized Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Piesak, Rev. S. D. Dutcher officiated. Miss Maud Rock acted as maid of honor and was becomingly gowned in pale blue. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white messaline silk over white silk, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Mr. Earl Sherman acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Rowley have gone on a wedding trip and on their return will be at home to their friends after January 1 at 107 North Twenty-sixth street.

Mr. Ephraim W. Dixon, who lives at the Omaha club, will not reside there long after Christmas, though the exact date of his leave-taking is not known among his friends. WORK OF THE WOMEN'S CLUBS

Judge Ben Lindsay Defends Women Voters of Colorado.

WOMEN OPPOSE CHRISTMAS TREE

Concerted Action by Forestry Committee Begins to Have Its Effect—General Suspension of Clubs During Holidays.

A noticeable feature of the present holiday season has been the general agitation against the use of the forest Christmas tree, which is the direct outgrowth of the interest club women have taken in forestry and forest preservation. In almost every club of any size or influence the cutting of young evergreen trees for use as Christmas trees has been the subject of discussion and the great majority of the clubs have condemned this needless sacrifice of valuable young trees. The effort to bring about a more intelligent understanding of forest preservation and its necessity and the necessity of tree planting has engaged the efforts of large and energetic committees of women in every state. Educational work for several years past and the result is beginning to be evident.

The General Federation has an active forestry committee with Mrs. P. S. Peterson of Chicago as its president and during the last eighteen months an extensive program of work has been carried out under her direction. The government forest service has recognized the work of the club women to the extent of hiring a lecturer whose services are at the disposal of the clubs and who is engaged for months ahead by the various state federations. The bureau further announces that it will advise, assist and co-operate with the clubs women, while the magazine of the National Forestry association devotes one section to what the women are doing and accomplishing along this line.

Ben Lindsay on Woman Suffrage. Before the Era club of New Orleans, the strongest woman's club of the south, Judge Ben Lindsay of the Denver juvenile court, made the defense of woman suffrage in Colorado recently. The New Orleans Picayune quotes Judge Lindsay as follows: "Ninety per cent of all the ballot box stuffing is done by the men, and the bad politics of my state are not because of woman suffrage, but in spite of it. Politics there, as in many other cities, are in the hands of men of moneyed interests, and until the women can get a primary vote, they must vote for either the set of candidates put by the democratic or republican machine. I expect to see woman suffrage in every state in the union inside of the next fifty years. The child in the state, and the interest of the child can only be defended by women; since it is only women who have taken any interest in safeguarding the child. I do not favor the millenium suffrage because I expect the millenium woman suffrage in Colorado, where it has been in existence for the last fourteen years, has resulted in nothing good. I have some opportunities of knowing; I have been with the gang and against them, and I do not think through it all, I have been on the republican ticket and on the democratic ticket, and on both at the same time. I have run alone. Judge Lindsay went on to tell of some cases of graft and fraud in his state. "People ask why, if the women vote out there, do not put a stop to these troubles? They are not representative, but in an effort to get moneyed interests, that are in politics for gain instead of for sacred and service. Though women vote in Colorado, they must be remembered that men control its politics, and women cannot work impossibilities. "I defeated for United States senator by the women of Colorado, because of an immoral record that made them see the danger to the boys from such an example. Since the women have been voting in Colorado, boys are not in gambling saloons, no girl in a wine room; but it was hard and bitter fight. In great crises and moral issues women are always on the right side. Human nature makes the mistake of judging all new things by the flaws in them, and so it is with woman suffrage.

Wage Earning Women. There are 25,000,000 women in Germany. Twenty-five per cent of them are wage earners. There are 3,000,000 women in the United States, 125 per cent of whom are wage earners. In this connection it is significant that while Germany last year had nine women physicians, there were at the same time 5,000 women practicing medicine regularly in the United States. Also it is matter for thought that Prussia last year had over 700 women doctors. One-third of Germany's working women are garden and farm workers.—The Courant.

What North Carolina Asks. Education has always constituted a large part of the work of the southern women's clubs, but of late this work has met serious handicaps because of the need of other reforms and the women are beginning now to ask for these. The educational committee of the North Carolina Federation has recently asked the co-operation of club women in obtaining legislation along the following lines: "A maximum limitation of pupils to each teacher in forty per cent, particularly in the primary grades. An increase in salaries, particularly among the women teachers, so that teachers, travel and other educational opportunities tending to raise their efficiency may not be sacrificed to them. The lengthening of the school term in rural schools. The establishment of rural agricultural high schools. Compulsory education laws which will in a larger degree solve the problem of child labor, which is a definite work of the federation. Apportionment of women on school boards. Formation of mothers' clubs, whose work will bring about a closer union between home and school.

Club Notes. Owing to the many other demands upon club women at this season there has been a general suspension of meetings until after the holidays. There will be no meeting of the current topics department of the Women's club Tuesday afternoon. The next meeting will be held January 14, and an attractive program has been arranged under the direction of Mrs. James B. Garnsey. The Women's auxiliary of the Episcopal church of Omaha and South Omaha will hold its monthly meeting December 27 at 2:30 in the crypt of Trinity cathedral. Consultation will be held with the clergy regarding holding these meetings at one central place or with each parish in turn.
