DUN'S REVIEW TRADE

Heavy Holiday Business Increases Total of Year's Turnover.

COLLECTIONS ARE STILL SLOW

More Wage Earners Are Unemployed Than at Any Time This Year-Factories Prepare to Resume.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27,-R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow

Will say:

Holiday trade was very heavy during the last few days before Christmas, raising the total for the season above expectations, although comparisons with last year's figures are unfavorable at most points. General business has been quiet, as is customary at this time, and manufacturing plants have increased the percentage of idle machinery. Drygoods jobbers stimulated trade by special clearance sales.

The banks furnished currency more readily for payrolls, but little improvement is recorded in mercantile collections. More wage earners are unemployed than at any provious time this year, yet many factories and mills announce resumption early to the sale and carly consumption of staple 1908 and early consumption of stapl commodities is not perceptibly diminished because of the savings of the preceding extended period of full occupation. A large percentage of the nation's iron

A large percentage of the nation's iron and steel producing capacity has closed down until Janussy 1, and in a few cames quotations are fower; but there is confidence in an early resumption of activity. Restoration of normal conditions is based on the knowledge that stocks are low in all positions and the belief that financial conditions will be sufficiently improved to encourage new undertakings and the completion of work on abandoned extensions and improvements. Textile production has been curtailed still further through concerted action by New England cotton apinners, and diminished output, together with absence of any efforts to force sales, has sustained quotations. It is still the fundamental factor, that buyers in the primary market are not in position to operate beyond current needs on account of difficulty in securing financial accommodation, although advices from the west down until January I, and in a few cases quotations are fower; but there is confidence in an early resumption of activity. Restoration of normal conditions is based on the knowledge that stocks are low in all positions and the belief that financial conditions will be sufficiently improved to encourage new undertakings and the completion of work on shandoned extensions and improvements. Textile production has been curtailed still further through concerted action by New England cotton spinners, and diminished output, together with absence of any efforts to force sales, has sustained quotations. It is still the fundamental factor, that buyers in the primary market are not in position to operate beyond current needs on account of difficulty in securing financial accommodation, although advices from the west testify to some improvement in this respect. Apathy continues in the export divisions, conditions in China having become less satisfactory. No increase has occurred in the movement of new lines of woolens, and many descriptions are still held back. It is expected that more interest will be shown after January 1, so that the balance of new lines will not be opened before that date. There is still much uncertainty as to the grades that will attract attention, but sentiment favors the cheaper heavyweight woolens.

The year draws to a close with brighter prospects for spring business in footwear than have been seen for several months. New business has been secured at the expense of values, however, quotations for most varieties of boots and shoes being moderately lower. Leather is more active, union backs being freely taken by sole cutters and shoe manufacturers and there is talk of an advance in prices of heavyweights. Hides are quiet. Stocks have accumulated and tanners believe that better terms may be obtained by delay.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW OF TRADE Business Becomes Quiet and Industry

is Slackened. NEW YORK, Dec. 27 .- Bradstreet's will say tomorrow:

Trade as a whole is quiet and industry has slackened perceptibly, but the financial situation has eased, except where, as in the case of New York, large end of the year's disbursements have to be provided. Mild weather is still complained of as affecting retail trade in seasonable goods such as clothing, since rubber fortwar. anch as clothing, sines, rubber feotwear and kindred lines. At some cities the usual January reduction sales were held in De-cember, in many instances occurring be-fore Christmas. Jobbing trade was quiet ill after the latter date, when the usual clearance sales of wash and other dress fabrics were made, arousing a fair amount of interest. Wholesale business has been quiet and both this line and the jobbing trade note the receipt of many requests to delay shipment of goods.

Dr. Sargent, who is a director of the department of physical training at Harvard, dwelt at length on the condition of scholarship men as compared with the college athletes, the comparison being much to the disadvantage of the "grinds." In the last twenty-five years, he pointed out, physical improvement has been made by all classes of college men, except those holding scholarship.

"If scholarship men cannot be induced to take time to improve their physique for fear of lowering their college standing." said Dr. Sargent, "then make physical training a part of the curriculum and give them credit for their standing in their physical work." take physical training as a part of the Ceremony Takes Place in Spite of Opposition of Her Family. HE IS CHIEF OF SANTA CLARAS

Acquaintance Formed While He and Tribeamen Were Encamped in City Park About Five Years Ago.

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 27.-News has been scelved here that Miss Cora Marie Arold of this city was married last Monday in Santa Fe, N. M., to Albino Chavarria, a full-blooded Indian. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Rehdon, a Presbyterian ciergyman, and was witnessed by the bride's sisters, Miss Lillian and Geneva Arnold of Denver. Chavarria is chief of the Santa Clara Indians, a tribe of the Pueblos in New Mexico. With a large number of his tribesto the camp Miss Arnold invited the Intian to call at her home. She lived at the time in a fastionable flat with her sisters and her stepfather, George Wilder.

The Indian's first visit to his sweetheart was the cause of a disagreement between amily. Objection was made only to the Indian's race, his character being above Fire Occurs in Early Morning in reproach. Miss Arnold, however, ancounced her intention to marry the Indian despite the objections of her family and Ministers Would Not Act. Several local ministers were asked to perform the ceremony, but all refused. Then an attempt was imade to have the ceremony performed in Santa Fe, but there also the clergymen refused to officiate, Miss Arnold returned to Denver sione, but the Indian made frequent visits to this city, each one of which was the cause of new outbursts of gossip.

In April, 1906, Mr. Wilder jumped overboard from a steamer in the Gulf of Mexco and was drowned. He left a will, in which he disinherited the present Mrs. Chavarria because of her refusal to give and two boys, but the mother and little girl up her Indian lover.
