finance its requirements." Mr. Stickney, addressing the noteholders, explained the circumstances of the railroad. He dwelt on the financial conditions in America, which interfered with the pay ment of the 5 per cent notes that mature during the present year.

The decision of the finance committee met with the approval of the noteholders. Only one interested firm, Keiser & Co. which has made large sales of the notes maturing in March, opposed the receivership and proposed a different plan. After the meeting President Stickney

"The Chicago Great Western fortunately has no mortgage. It issued a lot of notes which matured during a time of financial depression, and, as usually occurs in such a case, we could not pay them. A great majority of the noteholders were perfectly willing to extend the time of the notes, but some of the holders could not be reached and it was uncertain what they might do. The committee thought it best, under the circumstances, to place the property in control of the court during the time necessary to issue first mortgage bonds and sell them. In ordinary times it would take three months to issue and sell these bonds, but how long it will take to sell them under present conditions is problematical." Mr. Stickney will return to the United States by the Mauretania, which leaves Liverpool next Saturday.

No word was received at the local office, the company being represented in Omaha by G. A. Ellis, general agent, and by W. G. Davidson, city passenger and ticket agent, and several clerks. The holdings in Omaha are quite numerous, as Omaha is one of the few large cities where the Chicago Great Western owns its own terminals. In Omaha a few years ago the company acquired extensive terminals at the north end of the Sixteenth street viaduet, where considerable money was expended in bringing it up to the level with Sixteenth and allowed to stand.

> Second Bishop of Nebraska. The second bishop of Nebraska, Rt. Rev. George Worthington, D. D. LL. D., was born in Lennox, Mass., October 14, 1840. He graduated in Hobart college in 1860 and at the Central Theological seminary in 1863. He was admitted to the diaconate in the Church of the Annunciation in New York, June 28, 1863, by Bishop Horatio Potter, who advanced him to the priesthood in the Church of the Transfiguration January 29, 1864. His charges were St. Paul's, Troy, N as assistant; Christ church, Ballston Spa, N. Y., and St. John's, Detroit, Mich. he being pastor of the last named church for seventeen years, ministering to a devoted and attached congregation, and havng one of the largest communicant lists in the church. While in Detroit he was a deputy to the general convention, president of the standing committee, examining chaplain to the bishop and a leader in church activities in both city and dlocese.

> When he was called to St. John's the parish had 436 communicants and when he left it had 1,400.

> During the vacancy of the Michigan sec 1878-9, the clergy of the diocese elected Dr. Worthington bishop, but he declined. Notwithstanding this declination they elected him twice afterward.

1883 the house of bishops appointed him bishop of China, which he declined also. In 1884 Nebraska elected him bishor of this diocese and he declined, withdrawing his name by telegram from the con vention. The convention then elected the Rev. E. N. Potter, who also declined. In November, 1884, a second special convention was called and a second time Dr. Worthington was elected bishop. This time he accepted and was consecrated in his parish church on St. Matthias' day, February 24, 1885, by Bishops Coxe, Hare, Gilespie, McLaren, Perry, Seymour, Harris and H. C. Potter
