TIMELY REAL ESTATE GOSSIP

Heirs of William Cullen Bryant Own Much Omaha Property.

WOODRUFF MAY SPEAK HERE
Real Estate Exchange is Trying to Secure Secretary of Municipal League for Address on Civic Beauty.

With the death of Julia S. Bryant in Paris several weeks ago some $25,000 worth of Omaha property passes into the hands of new owners, heirs to the estate of Miss Bryant. The Bryant estate at one time owned more than $100,000 worth of Omaha property. Julia S. Bryant was the youngest daughter of William Cullen Bryant and held a large part of her share of the estate in Omaha property. Other heirs of the great newspaper man and poet have bought real estate mortgages of Omaha agents for a number of years and not long ago two large mortgages were sold to heirs of the estate. But the property has gradually been sold at good prices and the old family realized handsome profits on some of the investments made in Omaha. Agents handling the property in Omaha have received notice to sell none of the property until the estate is settled and the $25,000 worth of property has been temporarily withdrawn from the market.

President W. T. Graham of the Real Estate exchange is in correspondence with Clinton R. Woodruff, secretary of the National Municipal League, with the hope of arranging to have Mr. Woodruff speak here during February. The secretary is to speak in Kansas City on February 25, and it is possible that arrangements may be made to have him visit Omaha either on his way to Kansas City or after his date there. Mr. Woodruff is a speaker with a national reputation and has been active in the work of the league for some time. It is in the hope of securing an address by Secretary Woodruff that real estate dealers and those active in the improvement clubs of Omaha will start a local branch of the municipal league in Omaha. The local branches have done much in various cities of the United States to improve the physical appearance of the city, securing legislation looking to restriction of bill boards, removal of unsightly architecture and other work similar to that sought by the improvement clubs.

Work will be started at the next meeting of the Omaha Real Estate exchange on the arrangements for the annual banquet of the exchange. This is usually held early in February, but owing to the fact that the exchange has been busy discussing many important subjects for the last few weeks no attempt has been made to arrange for the banquet. The annual dinner and speechmaking carnival will be especially brilliant this year, as the real estate dealers anticipate an unusually good year and the general feeling has never been better. The interest in the exchange has also reached a high point and the organization is in active working condition.

Joseph Leahy, a railroad contractor, bought through Hastings & Heyden, last week the home at 3124 Blumet street, Kountze Place, for $4,200. With the sale of the property to Mr. Leahy, Omaha real estate dealers have sold more than $40,000 worth of Omaha property to railroad contractors who have made their money in the west during the last summer. Mr. Leahy is the fifth contractor who has bought residence property within the last five weeks, and announces the intention of making his future home in Omaha. The Blahough flats were sold to a railroad contractor and his son for $10,000 as a home and investment.

Acres of tracts will be quite popular during 1908 from all indications and more country homes are promised than during any other year in the building of Omaha. Harrison & Morton have announced they will open at once the 25-acre tract west of the Field club golf links and extend Woolworth avenue through the acreage tract. This piece of real estate is near the highest points of the city, and a view is obtained of Dundee, East and West Ambler places, the broad fields of the county farm and the Hanscom park district. Ground is being broken for one or two new homes in the place and it is selling for $1,000 an acre. W. T. Graham has more than twenty acres in a fine tract northwest of the end of the Ames avenue car line, which he contemplated opening later. George & Co. have Fairacres, west of Dundee, and one 25-000 residence is being erected on the tract. Florence will undoubtedly retain its popularity as a rural residence place, while Gould Dietz has secured many acres of "abandoned" land on Thirty-eighth street graded and otherwise improved during the summer.

"I believe private money will be easier soon and there are plenty of demands for it," said S. P. Bostwick of the firm of Payne & Bostwick, in speaking of the inquiry being made for loans. "I know of a number of applications for 5 per cent loans which are wanted on Omaha real estate, and when it has been brought to the attention of individuals having capital to loan on such securities, the loans have been favorably considered. These loans are usually made for three or five years, and many times it is made optional with the borrower to pay $100 or multiples of $100 on each interest date after the first year. This makes private money very convenient and the outlook is that many such loans will be made. More inquiry has been notified in the last week. Things are looking better and while deals are not being made very fast everything has the appearance of health and strength in the real estate business. I believe it will be a year of small home building, the tendency being to build five and six-room cottages. I do not look for many large and expensive homes, but the numerous small ones may cause rents to decline from 15 to 20 per cent. Rents have been a little high for the cottage property and they will adjust themselves as more people get their own homes."

Bertrand W. Page bought two lots on Twenty-fifth avenue north of the fort of Hastings & Heyden during the week which will improve. Bert Smith of the Missouri River Lumber Company has bought lots on Spencer street, in Kountze Place between Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, of the same firm, which he will improve. F. C. Best bought the cottage at Thirty-seventh and Dodge of the firm for $1,500.

Harry Tukey, secretary of the Omaha Real Estate exchange, is spending a week in Chicago. A. L. Reed, accompanied by Mrs. Reed, left during the week for Florida coast points and Cuba, where they will spend several weeks.

A resolution will be introduced at the next meeting of the Real Estate exchange asking the exchange to endorse a plan for the state of Nebraska to guarantee bank deposits in institutions chartered by the state. Though no failure of a Nebraska bank has been recorded during the recent past many real estate men are of the opinion that an additional feeling of security would be added by the state providing a fund in some way which could be used to pay depositors in the event of a failure.

GIGANTIC DIGGING AT PANAMA

Great Battle Between Man and Nature is Being Fought to a Finish.

It is one thing to blast and shovel a million cubic yards out of Culebra, but it is another problem so to place the excavation that it will be out of the way for all time or so to place it that it will protect the canal channel on the lowlands of the eastern portion of the waterway.

The investigator at Culebra, as on other portions of the ditch, is impressed at the outset with the fact that the railroad is the key to the situation both from an engineering and a sanitary standpoint. This canal cannot be constructed upon a trunk sewer plan. All of us have intelligent friends who seem to think that it is only necessary to excavate and throw the dirt along the banks of the waterway. But as the tourist obtains his first view of the cut at Empire he observes that the rapidity with which the dirt trains are enabled to move out is the measure of the day's achievement.

Through this region, in order to assure a prism of definite width, it has been found necessary to increase the proposed width from time to time as one landslide followed another, and while that increases the total amount of the excavation it renders possible the placing of tracks one above another to accommodate the dirt trains.

During the month of July, 1904, 21,000 cubic yards of dirt were excavated at Culebra; cut: a year later the monthly excavation was upward of 50,000 cubic yards, and during the month of July, 1906, 187,000 cubic yards were removed from the nine-mile strip.

It is worthy of note that on March 14, 1907, the daily excavation was greater than

SUNDAY LAW TO TAKE A REST

Police Will Not Interfere with Those Who Wish to Open for Business.

"So far as the police force is concerned, there will be nothing doing toward enforcing the Sunday blue laws tomorrow," said Captain Dunn yesterday. Carriages, street cars, pool rooms, barber shops and everything else except saloons may run to their heart's content. There will be no special officers detailed to gather evidence, and neither will the regular patrolmen be instructed to gather evidence against Sunday violators on the boats. There are several hundred reports in the hands of the city prosecutor now, with evidence gathered by the police against Sunday violators, and until he begins to do something with those reports no other reports will be made.

CURSED BY MAN HE SAVES

Reward of Watchman Who Wakes Fellow Lying Asleep on Railroad Track.

Hans Hall was found lying asleep on Union Pacific railroad tracks, Batur morning by Special Watchman Tabor, awoke him only a short time before passing of a train and sent for the wagon. Hall was not especially to the man who probably saved his life and cursed him until the wagon arrived. Hall was in possession of a watch and a pocket watch and received a thirty days' sentence.
