PRESENT SALES METHOD WILL DO

Nebraska Product Has No Need of Being Shipped East, for Prices Are Fully as Good at Home.

Attempts of eastern wool buyers to or ganize a wool auction sales company, which will sell in New York or Boston at anction the product of the western runges as the wool of foreign countries is sold in London, are resented by Omaha buyers. who declare the present method of buying and selling wool is satisfactory, and the plan is attempted simply to make large commissions for New York merchants. For the auction sale of wool F. J. Primrose of Philadelphia argues that the grower will get the true value of his wool and get the cash when the wool is sold. Mr. Primrosa delivered an address favoring such sales at Holena, Mont., recently, and secured a resolution from the National Wool Growers' association, recommending his plan for "favorable consideration."

"Buch suction sales would not be as salisfactory as the present method of the buyers for eastern manufacturers going to the ranges of the west and dealing with the growers direct," said a buyer for Bolles & Rogers, "It seems to me it is but a plan to get good commissions on the wool. The growers get the cash on delivery and pay no commission. It seems satisfactory to all concerned. As for Nebrasks wool, there is little need to ship b it to New York. Our prices are correspondingly good in Omaha and very little Nebraska wool ever goes east of Chicago, The enormous amounts shipped by the growers of Mentana, Utah, Wyoming, Idaho and the west, might justify them shipping to an auction sale, but I doubt

THOUSAND HORSES FOR ARMY

Animals Wanted by Uncle Sam for Use in the United States.

One thousand horses of the proper caliber can secure prompt and permanent employment in the army service of Uncle Sam. They are for peaceful purposes, though, and not to help put down the "war with Japan," waging in the yellow journals, according to Major Thomas Swobe, chief quartermaster of the Department of the Missouri, who has advertised for sealed proposals for these horses. They are wanted for cavalry and artillery in the United States. The horse market has been subject to extensive recruitment ever since the heavy drafts caused as a result of the Spanish-American war and Uncle Sam seems to be in need most of the time for the right sort of animals.

The bids will be opened March 3. The call is for 456 cavalry, five artillery, thirtyfour riding horses of standard size and for 376 small horses or ponies for messonger and courier service. The desire of the quartermaster department is to seoure western horses where possible.
