

SOCIETY RUNS FROM LENT

Fashionable Make Ready to Leave Town Before Quiet Sets In.

MANY DEPARTED LAST WEEK

Given-in-Honor Affairs for Wharton-Kirkendall Bridal Party Conspicuous Events of This Week's Calendar.

Heaven. Together on the earth they dwelled A Woman and a Man Who agreed in thought and deed: Conceive it if you can.

And lo, this Man and Woman died. To Heaven went the two: Surprised they started, then declared, "Why this is nothing new!"

In anticipation of the Lenten calm, society is already beginning preparation to get out of town and a good part of the fashionable contingent will not return until the cold weather and March winds are all over. The Gulf and Pacific coasts are claiming the usual number this winter, but Europe, the Mediterranean and even the places beyond have attracted unusual numbers and last week saw the departure of several prominent members of Omaha society who will not return until late in the spring. Cuba has also attracted an unusual number. This week will take off another large party bound for Europe and the Mediterranean and several will circle the globe before returning. A number of others have announced their intention of going abroad next summer and the prospects are that the fashionable set will be pretty well scattered for at least a year to come.

The coming week promises much social gaiety. The principal event of the week will be the wedding of Miss Ada Elizabeth Kirkendall and Glenn Carlton Wharton, which will take place Friday evening at 8 o'clock at All Saints' church and will be followed by a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kirkendall. Every day until the wedding the young people will be honor guests at some social affair. In fact, their time is so far engaged that the ushers have had to defer their entertainment until some time after the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Kirkendall have as their guests this week Mr. and Mrs. Legman Spitzer of Toledo, O.; Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Grove of East Orange, N. J.; and Miss Edna Keeline. Sunday Miss Kirkendall will entertain her wedding party informally. Monday evening Miss Edna Keeline will give a theater party at Boyd's, followed by a supper at the Omaha club. Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Latham Davis will entertain at a bridge supper. Wednesday Miss Mary Lee McShane will entertain the wedding party at dinner Thursday evening they will be the guests of John Wharton at dinner at the Omaha club, which will be followed by a rehearsal at All Saints' church.

GOSSIP OF THE WOMEN'S CLUBS

General Federation Finds Sentiment Does Not Mix with Business.

MRS. DECKER NOT AFTER HONORS

Objects to Being Retired from Active Work by Being Made Honorary Member of National Organization.

That sentiment and business make a dangerous mixture is one of the truths of which men have long striven to convince women, and just now the General Federation of Women's Clubs, perhaps the least sentimental and certainly the most parliamentary and businesslike of all organizations of women, is threatened with a serious illustration of this truth. For the last ten years it has been the custom of the General Federation to make its retiring presidents honorary presidents of the organization. This custom is still taken at Denver ten years ago, and the women have followed it ever since, well pleased with the compliment they conferred. It has remained for Mrs. Sarah Platt-Decker, the present president, whose second term expires next June, to object to this courtesy, and she objects on the ground that the compliment, great as it is, hardly compensates for the loss of the privilege of participating in the activities of the convention. Briefly, Mrs. Decker objects to being shooed just yet. As a matter of fact, it seems that few if any of the club women have realized that the courtesy they went to much trouble to establish a few years ago is in reality but a poor reward for the arduous work of the chief executive office of the General Federation, and now that the question has been raised it is doubtful whether Mrs. Decker will ever have the honor conferred on her. That she is one of the most valuable women in the woman's movement today all club women know and they will be slow to retire her.

Her Friends Will Help. Appreciating that it would be awkward to decline this compliment should it be offered her in the Boston convention, Mrs. Decker has stated her position to many of her friends and asked that they prevent this matter coming up. It requires the unanimous vote of the convention to make a woman an honorary member, and there are few if any who would care to offer the necessary objection to prevent the passage of such a motion if it were made. Mrs. Decker discussed this matter with the Omaha women during her recent visit here and requested them as "neighbors" to vote against the motion should it be made. The same request has been made in other states.

It is being whispered by those in the general Federation's industrial committee and others among the more liberal or aggressive, hoped to make Mrs. Decker the head of the woman suffrage movement in the General Federation. There is now little question but suffrage will become an issue at the Boston convention. It is generally believed that Mrs. Decker is the only woman in the organization who can hold all factions together if it does. If the Boston biennial endorses woman suffrage it will probably appoint a committee to take up its agitation through the clubs and state federations just as child labor reform and other matters have been agitated by the clubs. Mrs. Decker, it is said, will be selected as chairman of this committee and when she has laid down the duties of its president the General Federation she will be at liberty to take this chairmanship.

To be sure, this is only gossip, but it is gossip in a circle that usually knows what it is talking about.

Club Notes. Omaha's need of settlement work will come up for discussion at Monday afternoon's meeting of the social science department of the Woman's club, the session convening at 3 o'clock. Judge A. L. Sutton, Miss McCarthy, principal of Pacific school; Miss Nellie Macee, city missionary; Rev. Robert H. Bell and some representatives of the association of College Alumnae will be the speakers of the afternoon.

The literature department will meet at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon with Mrs. W. M. Alderson leader. Emerson will be the author of the afternoon. Mrs. Anderson giving a paper on "Emerson and His Friends." Mrs. Mary G. Andrews will speak of "Emerson, the Poet," and Mrs. Albert Edholm will give readings from some of Emerson's best known poems.

The musical department will present a program of the compositions of the late Norwegian composer, Edward Grieg. Thursday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock. Mrs. C. W. Hayes will give a paper on Grieg; Miss Lillian Bookmyer, Miss Louise Gertrude Ernst, W. R. French and Sigmund Langberg will give piano numbers; A. W. E. Poole will give a violin number and Miss Vera Allen and Miss Myrtle Moses, vocal numbers. An informal tea will follow the program.

The current topics department of the Omaha Women's club will meet Tuesday, February 11, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. J. E. Garney will be assistant leader and the following program will be given:

"Is a Scientific Demonstration of the Future?" by Mrs. Frank P. D. Reading; "The Philosophy of the Fragment" by Mrs. C. R. Glover; "The Philosophy of the Fragment" by Mrs. C. R. Glover; "The Philosophy of the Fragment" by Mrs. C. R. Glover.

Woman's Club Notes. The philosophy and ethics department of the Woman's club will meet Tuesday, February 11, at 4 o'clock when Mrs. M. G. Andrews will give a talk on "Fragmentation."

Owing to the damage by fire to the parlors of the Young Women's Christian association, the meeting of the Omaha Women's Christian Temperance union will be held at the Young Men's Christian association Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The postponed meeting of Frances Willard Women's Christian Temperance union will be held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Freeman at Forty-ninth and Underwood avenue, Dundee.

Mr. and Mrs. Myles M. Standish announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Frances E. Standish, to Mr. Sterling Hugh McCaw. The wedding will take place in the spring.

Mr. Brown is a graduate of the Nebraska State University, 1905, specializing in chemistry. He immediately went to Cornell university, New York, to teach and continue research work in his chosen theme, where he has been for two years at a half. He is well known in the younger scientific circles, and is a leader in Young Men's Christian association work.

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Wallace announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Beth Wallace, to Mr. Mortimer Jay Brown. The wedding will take place March 2. On March 10 they will sail from San Francisco for Tientsin, China, where Mr. Brown has within the last three weeks been offered and accepted, an important position in the Chinese imperial university. This has delayed the date of the wedding several months.
