

led by his remarkable performance last year, when he won twelve races without being beaten and cleaned up more than $17,000 for Mr. Keene. Since then turf bettors have predicted that the son of Commodore, Factoria, would become the greatest 3-year-old that has ever been to the post on any race track. In fact Colin already has been pronounced a more wonderful colt than Mr. Keene's lamented Byonby.

If there is no accident in training this spring it is generally believed that Colin will make practically a clean sweep of all of the rich 3-year-old specials, for which he will receive a careful preparation. But it is hardly probable that he will start in either the Brooklyn or the Suburban handicap, both of which races, it is thought, will be run on practically the schedule prepared for Peter Pan last year, which got that superb colt up to the Brighton handicap in such magnificent condition that he won the race of his career—a crowning event immediately preceding his retirement to the stud. Weights for the Classics. Since the announcement of the weights for the three handicaps the allotments have been closely studied, with the result that little or no adverse criticism has been levelled at Mr. Vesperburg, one of the really conscientious officials in racing. While some exacting critics sometimes differ with Mr. Vesperburg, it generally turns out that the official handicapper has had some excellent but selective reasons for supposed errors of judgment. It is not an easy task to arrange a set of weights that will satisfy everybody, but in the case of the Jockey club's handicapper it may be said that he has a record for satisfactory allotments that has never been equalled. Herewith is a comprehensive table showing the differences in scale weights in May, June and July, which will illustrate the concessions made by Colin, Ballot and the other crack horses to the cheaper class of racers who will pick up more favors in the way of imports:

SIX BOWLING CONGRESSES Herrmann Presents His Solution of Sectional Fights.

These to be Called Southern and Pacific—Winners in Each Congress to Meet in an International Match.

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 15.—(Special Telegram.)—Six congresses working in harmony was Garry Herrmann's solution of the sectional fights that have occurred in national bowling circles in past years, as presented by the president of the American Bowling Congress at its first meeting yesterday afternoon. His plans are being considered by the American, National, Western and Canadian bodies as now constituted, with the addition of two to be known as the Southern and Pacific.

Each congress will have entire jurisdiction in its own field and a member of any of them will be eligible to bowl in the annual tournaments of any other body on payment of an entry fee, without the formality of joining more than one city association. Every club in any of these associations will pay an additional fee approximating $200, which will be thrown into a general fund to pay the traveling expenses of the winners of each tournament to roll off for the national titles at one of the congresses.

The international match, as it will be called, will be rolled alternately at each of the various congresses, which will be handled by a national commission composed of a member from the six congresses and a chairman, who will also make rules and handle the finances. The American championship will go with the winners of these matches instead of with the American Bowling Congress as formerly. Mr. Herrmann's proposal was adopted at a gathering of delegates from the four congresses now in the field and will be subject to ratification on the floor of the American Bowling Congress tomorrow. Rumors that Chicago would bid for the 1910 convention, with forty allies laid in the Coliseum and $10,000 in prizes, were denied by the Chicago delegates.

which will be vivid for many years to come. The game that first opened the eyes of Minnesota and the other conference schools to the fact that Nebraska is a factor in foot ball occurred on Nebraska's 1907 team. It was the Cornhuskers and the Gophers. The students here never will forget that game. Each season the new arrivals at Nebraska are told the story of the big contest of 1907. That year the Gophers came to Lincoln confident that they would keep Nebraska from scoring and at the same time put a large score on themselves. With them they brought a trainload of supporters who carried several thousand dollars which they bet, giving big odds that the Cornhuskers would not score. Well, Nebraska showed great strength and scored not once but twice, the game resulting 20 to 12 in favor of Minnesota. The Gophers turned home "broken many of them being forced to borrow money to buy transportation to Minneapolis. The northerners have not been to Lincoln since.

Probably the most exciting game played in Nebraska field, with the exception of the Nebraska-Ames game, was the first game. Thanksgiving day contest of 1904 between Nebraska and Illinois when the final score stood 16 to 9. In this contest each side fought like men struggling in deadly combat and the game was anybody's until the second half closed. Illinois and Nebraska each scored a touchdown in the first half and Nebraska made two in the second, but Illinois scored only one. Benedict and Bender won the game for Nebraska. Hepeatedly the victors carried the ball down to Nebraska's five yard line and each time the two Cornhusker stars kept them from scoring.

Plain Facts About the Hair

It is the duty of everyone who is interested in hair preservation to learn enough about the subject to tell whether an advertisement for a hair remedy is reasonable or unreasonable. In this connection the United States Post Office department has begun a much needed campaign against false and misleading statements in advertisements in general. While this work is highly commendable, and should be greatly extended, still at the same time it tends to paternalism rather than to personal self-reliance. If YOU know that the claims for a hair remedy are unreasonable and untrue, that knowledge will save you money and prevent disappointment.

The trouble lies in the fact that certain over-ambitious Proprietors employ advertising writers who do not know the composition of the remedies they write about, and even if they did, they are not expected to know the therapeutic action of the various ingredients. Two very familiar and oft repeated statements are, that the hair must be watered and fed just like a plant, and that the color of the hair, once destroyed, can be restored, by natural process. While both of these statements are false in every particular, it requires some little knowledge of the hair follicle to understand why the statements are false.

The hair follicle is a pear shaped sack in the scalp that holds the hair root. At the bottom of the hair follicle and extending up into it for a short distance, is a nipple shaped projection that remains in the scalp when a hair root is forcibly pulled out. This projection is the hair papilla from which the hair "root" grows. The continuous addition to the bottom of the hair root, forces the hair proper out through the scalp.

The hair papilla is surrounded by the hair root, which takes a bulbous form. Above the hair root or bulb—which occupies about three-fourths of the entire follicle—is the neck of the hair follicle, below which the most penetrating fluids known to Medical Science cannot penetrate. Therefore the story of feeding the hair is a myth.

FARMER BURNS THE VICTOR Speed and Science Too Much for the Indian's Superior Strength.

Farmer Burns showed the giant Blackfoot Indian, War Eagle, a few things about wrestling Friday night that he had never heard of before. Burns clearly demonstrated that he completely outclassed the Indian in the science of the game, even in spite of his handicap of ninety pounds, he won the bout in straight falls of 10:30 and 12:00 minutes.

was concerned. In the opening of each round the Farmer would secure some fair holds on the Indian, but the giant strength of War Eagle would permit him to get away. Nelsons were of no avail, as both were extremely wary and would squirm away before a fatal hold could be secured.

The finish of the first fall was a truly whirlwind affair, with the vast crowd standing on its feet and yelling itself hoarse. Farmer Burns started by trying for a hammer lock. The Indian was able to resist that and then he hit Burns at the tooth and nail. Burns had the upper hand for most of the last two minutes and got the Indian to bridging, but at the end of the ten minutes the Indian was apparently all in from the ferocious rushing tactics of Burns and had to succumb. The fall was won by the Farmer getting the Indian on his back, then securing a crotch hold and forcing him to break his bridge and fall to the mat. Time: 10:30.
