In his address President E. H. Merriam urged the necessity of a larger membership of the business men of the city and a bigger revenue for the club to work with, say-

I believe every member will admit that a commercial club, or an organization similar to ours, organized for the express purpose of building up a city, is a necessity, and that towns of 1.500 or more inhaditants throughout this broad land have found it necessary to maintain some kind of an organization to look after the interests of throughout this broad land have found it pecessary to maintain some kind of an organization to look after the interests of their town. With this fact admitted, you will agree with me in the statement tout funds must be provided if organization is to be maintained, and I believe and hope that in the near future all of our members will consent to contribute a much larger amount than $12 per year. If we had a revenue three or four times as large as our present one, a great deal more could be accomplished, and this is a matter that should be taken up and carefully considered without delay. With an organization with as much money behind it as they ordinarily have in cities of this size, great good could be accomplished, but a great deal can be done if each member of this club will make it his business to educate all of our city. Educate yourself first, then your wife and children and neighbors, to swear by all that is good and great that Council Bluffs is the greatest city they ever saw, or ever expect to see; teach everyone to buy everything they need in Council Bluffs; keep this campaign up, and Council Bluffs; keep this campaign pp, and Council Bluffs; keep this campaign pp, and Council Bluffs; keep this campaign pp. and council Bluffs; keep this campaig

NEW MEN GET LARGEST INCREASE

Progressives Receive a Setback in Green County, Which Has Been Considered One of Strongholds of that Faction.

DES MOINES, March 5 .- (Special.)-The the city. The required filling, Mr. Graham Des Moines street railway employes won before the board of arbitration on the Regarding the acquirement of the forty acres, he said:

If these forty acres could be bought by the city, the only way we could get the money would be by an act of the legislature. One mill for three years, I think, would pay for the ground. Then, after that, it would be taken care of the same as all other parks. Ten acres of this ought to be laid aside for playgrounds and thirty acres for the rark proper. In less than five years this park would pay for itself by the increased valuation of the surrounding property on account of park location.

Twenty years ago the city council procured eighty acres, now Fairmount park, by condemnation, paying at that time something like $1,500. The present value of the park is at least $200,000. It is hard to estimate the value to this city, of the park and its citizens, the value of having had access to such a park not only for the children, but parents as well, for both health and recreation. The same would undoubtedly hold true in case we purchased and improved a park as proposed in the western portion of the city. With the assistance of the $15 members of this Commercial ciub it ought not to be a hard matter to bring about the legislation necessary to authorise the levying of tax necessary to purchase this property at its present extremely low value. question of wages and were given an advance of about 13 per cent. The results of the deliberations of the board were announced this morning at II o'clock. The board consisted of N. T. Guernney, attorney for the street rallway, who was selected by the company; Senator Thomas Cheshire, attorney for the employes and selected by them; and Right Rev. Mgr. Fisvin, suggested by the company and accepted

The men asked for an increase amounting to considerable more than what they are given. The company asked the board to lower their wages, claiming its earnings were not sufficient to pay the present wages. Father Flavin, pastor of St. Ambrose Catholic church, had the deciding vote on the board. The increase is chiefly to the men working for the first two years The men now work under a sliding scale, getting more each year up to the eighth year, when they get a little more than $16 week by working seven days.

The claim of the men was that after working one year they are as proficient as they ever become and the chief complaint of the men was the wages they received for the first years of their employment. The board gave these men the highest increase, amounting to nearly 15 per cent over their present wages.

It is understood that the decision of the board will be accepted by both sides. It will take effect at once and be operative for two years. The strike-breakers who were brought to town by the company to be used in event of a strike will at once be sent back to Chicago.
