The mayor instructed the chief of police to suspend operations under the ordinance until further notice, depending upon the dealers to make arrangements to obey the ordinance as soon as possible. AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Treasurer Provides for Maturing Obligations of the City.

NO NECESSITY TO MAKE LOAN

Banks Which Own the Bonds Will Carry Them Until the City is in a Position to Take Them Up.

The city treasurer, C. A. Melcher, announced yesterday that he had perfected arrangements with the banks owing the city securities in the grading and paving districts which are in default, so that it would not be necessary to make the emergency loan as he had been instructed in the order of the city council. The amount he was to draw was $3,593.73, mostly for the delinquencies in the Thirtieth street paving. The taxpayers have refused to pay the special assessment in these districts and the same is true of several grading districts. To meet these deficiencies the order for the loan was given last Monday night. The treasurer stated yesterday that there was enough in the various funds to pay the interest due, and that the statute provided that the unpaid bonds would stand as valid claim of the parties holding them until paid. The treasurer expressed the opinion that the emergency loan was a power of the city to be used very sparingly and that it was not necessary at this time. It will not be necessary for the council to take any further action. The interest from the city on $4,000 on such a loan would offset that coming to the city from the banks on $20,000 on deposit.

Missed Ill-Fated Boat. Word comes from Miss Maude McDowell and Miss Jeannette Rogers that they narrowly missed being on the ill-fated steamer Columbia which sank off the Mendocino coast last Saturday. They were scheduled to take the boat at Seattle, but were delayed en route. They have been entertained at the expense of the steamship company near Seattle since that time, waiting the sailing of the Elder, which sails today. The young women consider themselves fortunate that their stops in the Yellowstone and Billings, Mont., made them late. Letters from the young women have revealed some anxiety on the part of parents and friends here.

Two Arrests for Embezzlement. George Moffitt and John Pastelvo, two Roumanians, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Sheriff T. B. Wilson of Ray county, Missouri. The men are wanted at Hannibal for alleged embezzlement. The sheriff and his deputy came to South Omaha in search of them, and he, with the aid of the South Omaha police, located the two men. The two had been acting as treasurer of the Roumanian colony at Hannibal, and it had been the custom for these people to pay their earnings into a common treasury. The first is charged with having abstracted $100 and the latter $200, making in either case a felony punishable by a penitentiary sentence. Both were lodged in the city jail. Both of them were brought to free them and made an attempt to get counsel with which to fight extradition. While they were going to consult an attorney the sheriff took his prisoners in charge and left for Council Bluffs. Soon after the departure of the sheriff the wife of John Pastelvo arrived at the city jail. She could speak no English and her grief at finding her husband gone was pitiful. She was finally taken home by members of her own people.

Clerk Keeps the Books. The mandamus case of W. H. Queenan against J. J. Gillin, the city clerk, action being taken to compel the city clerk to bring the tax commissioner's books into the custody of the commissioner, was heard before Judge Kennedy and decided in favor of the clerk. The clerk maintained that it was his duty to receive and keep possession of the books when the commissioner submitted them as required by law before the first Monday in July. He held that these books then became part of the records of his office for which he was responsible. In this view the court upheld him.

Covicted of Appropriating Chickens. The two men from Dolly & Moody's camp who made inroads on Mrs. Peter Lenagh's chickens a few days ago, and who were captured in a week's patrol by Hank Elie after a chase by the entire neighborhood, were fined in police court for their propensities for "spring fries." Frank Smith, who pulled the heads off the chickens, was sentenced to fifteen days in the county jail. James Shannah, his companion, was sentenced to four days for the same offense. He established the fact that he was mainly on "a bender," and not bent on chicken stealing.

Suspend Y. M. C. A. Campaign. The local Young Men's Christian association has closed the campaign for the new building until September 1. The reason for the ceasing of active operations is that during the month of August many of the business men and others most interested will be out of the city. In the one month of the campaign over $5,000 was subscribed. While this is not as large as was hoped, the directors say they have no cause to complain of the results. In the interval between now and September 1 the attention of the promoters of the association will be turned to the membership. It is hoped that the membership may be brought up to 400 or more.

GARBAGE LAW MAKES TRADE

New Ordinance Forces All to Have Proper Sort of Cans.

BECOMES EFFECTIVE AUGUST 1

Health Commissioner Expects Difficulty at First, but Will Give Time to Learn Requirements of Law.

The new garbage ordinance, which goes into effect August 1, has created considerable activity in the hardware stores, as on and after that date every household, if he would comply with the law, must place on his premises a can of tin or other material of like nature of at least ten gallons capacity, in which must be placed all refuse of refuse other than that from stables, broken pottery, ashes or tin cans. The contents of these cans are to be collected free of charge by the Omaha Rendering and Refining company, which holds a contract with the city for this purpose, effective for fifteen years from August 1. By the terms of the contract the household must separate his real garbage from the indestructible sort and when he has done this he can insist upon its removal by the company within twenty-four hours after it has been notified of the existence of the garbage, or the company will forfeit $5 to the city for each and every time it neglects or refuses to so move the matter. On the other hand, if the garbage is mixed the company may refuse to handle it and the household will be forced to devise some way of his own for disposing of the material and run the risk of collision with the city ordinance, which grants a monopoly to the contractor. There is one phase of the ordinance which may meet with some objection on the part of some householders. In many of the flats into which garbage chutes are provided into which are indiscriminately dumped all sorts of refuse. These have been removed by the old garbage company without trouble to the residents of the flats, but under the new ordinance each flat must be supplied with a tin can and the garbage chute can be used for indestructible garbage. The commissioner of health expects that the law will be slowly enforced as people must become familiar with its operation before they will know their rights and responsibilities. Sufficient time will be given them before the penalties of the ordinance are imposed.

ORCHARD HILL IMPROVEMENTS Andrew Rosewater Talks on Public Improvements and Mayor on Taxes. The Orchard Hill Improvement club met with a large attendance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Richards, 3507 Seward street. The regular proceedings were quickly disposed of, after which came a program of addresses and music. The principal speakers were City Engineer Andrew Rosewater and Mayor Dahlman. Mr. Rosewater spoke upon city improvement in general and the possibility of securing a sanitary sewer for the Orchard Hill district in the near future, but did not think there was any prospect of securing a storm sewer for that part of the city for some time to come. He gave some valuable information as to the proper method to secure sidewalks along nonresident property, which will be promptly availed of by the residents of that section. He gave much other valuable information on matters that were attentively listened to and he responded to a number of inquiries regarding the delay in certain improvements, the cause thereof and of street repairs in general. Mayor Dahlman talked some on taxation and said that next year he would sign the tax law ordinance to the limit in order that every part of the city might have its necessary improvements. Following the speechmaking a pleasant musical program was given. Miss Stevens gave a piano solo, as did Mrs. Weishana. Miss Margaret Richards and Miss Florence Lawson, Miss Elizabeth Hutcheson sang a couple of solos and Homer Conant sang a couple of baritone numbers, all the musicians acquitting themselves very creditably. The Orchard Hill club will hold its annual picnic at Lake Manawa next Saturday. All are requested to bring baskets of provisions and luncheon will be served at the pavilion at 5:30 in the evening. The next meeting of the club will be held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hubson, 3530 Franklin street, the evening of August 3.
