JULY JOBBING BEATS YEAR AGO

Improved Crop Conditions in Western Country and Resulting Good

Feeling in Tributary Territory.

Omaha's jobbing business in we weather goods ran higher in July this y than for a number of years and the mand for fail was correspondingly heavy. The outlook is exceedingly bright. The week has shown improvement in the crop situation west of the Missouri. The recent rains, while to some extent they have in-terfored with the harvost, have been a great help to the corn crop, which promises an enormous yield. The oats and wheat coming to the local grain market are of mand for fall was correspondingly heavy an enormous yield. The oats and wheat coming to the local grain market are of high grade and the dealers say their coun-try reports indicate the yield in both is much larger than was predicted. The farmers are in good spirits, and perhaps the best indication of this is in the report from the implement jobbing houses that the farmers have bought a larger number of implements and of higher grade than ever before. The implement demand for fall is heavy.

han ever before. The many for fail is heavy. Late developments in the dry goods situa-tion are ground for the prediction that there will be advances soon in almost there will be advances soon in almost there will be advances soon of a few weeks or a few weeks there will be advances soon in almost every line, in spite of the fact a few weeks ago buyers were slow in placing orders, believing that prices had reached the high level and would be easier within a short time. The jobbers who were waiting to buy are now getting their goods as fast as they can. On raw colton the market is strong, labor is high and scarce in the manufacturing districts and the demand for goods is so heavy that the factories are taxed to their capacity. These are the fac-tors that indicate higher prices. The local jobbers are shipping out their tors that indicate higher prices. The local jobbers are shipping out their fall orders and have had to hire extra help. Businesss in winter goods has begun and iberal orders in all lines are being taken from the retailers. One jobber says the increase in local dry words business for the year will amount to 30 per cent.

Hide Market is Weak.

It is an unusual thing, but the hide mar-ket has been weak lately. This is not likely, though, to affect the price of shoes. ough the manufacturers have been a little backward about placing orders for isather, hoping a decline will come, the jobbers are not wasting any sleep thinking about lower prices for the finished product. The local jobbing business in summer foot-wear has been heavy and the winter pros-uents are alluring.

wear has been heavy and the winner post-pects are alluring. The demand for sugar has not grown as fast as was anticipated and refined is still week. A week ago the Federal company made a reduction of 10 points and this was followed by the beet sugar companies of the Missouri valley district. A stronger market is bound to come soon, say the jobbers, for a lot of sugar will be needed in the pack-ing of fruits. A reduction has been made of 2 cents a scheme exists. A limited supply of the new crop of teas is on the market. There is a strong te-mand and higher prices are predicted. Rice crop conditions in the south are sat-isfactory and in all probability this means lower prices. A company has been formed in Louisiana and Texas for the purpose of establishing uniform grades and marketing the product. It proposes to put up rice in packages and being extensive advectising of the as a food. That Matter of Salubur.

A reduction has been made of 2 cents a pound in roasted Brazil package coffees and a corresponding reduction in all kinds of bulk roasted coffees. The visible supply greater than a year ago and the pro-icts for this year's crop are good. The arket is consequently sluggish, though a rm undertone, due to the valorization charne exists.

That Matter of Sulphur.

That Matter of Sulphur. A Washington dispatch to the New York Ommercial gave the producers of Cali-ornia dried fruits will not be held to too rist observance in 1965 of the provision fibe pure food law relating to the use f sulphur in their industry. The Depart-ant of Agriculture, while insisting on bedience to the spirit of the law, is not imposed to be unreasonably exacting dur-ing the present season, for the reason that he producers of dried fruits were not pre-ared to carry out the provisions of the twe without incurring great danger of Jose well need a season's experience, before the prodenariment is satisfied that the pack-vil need a season's experience before can determine exactly how little sub-can be safely used in curing fuits, the packers have been warned. In to their inquiries, to essencise as much as possible and to be a searing as be in the use of sulphur.

It is reported that Maine corn prospects are brighter and that the pack is likely to be larger than estimated a few weeks aro, but prices remain firm. There has been some activity in spot tomatoes and full standards are in demand on a 23g-cent basis at factory. The southern pack of tomatoes promises to be better than ex-pected a week ago, weather conditions being more favorable. All lines of canned vegetables will demand higher prices than a year ago, owing to the necessity of greater care being exercised in the packing by the national and the different state purp by the national and the different state pur food laws. So far there is no intimation as to when the opening prices on the 1907 pack of Alaska saimon will be made by the Alaska Canners' association. News from Alaska is discouraging, telling of a probable light pack on red. It is too early to get news regarding pinks and chuma.

Hardware Deliveries Prompter.

Hardware Deliveries Prompter. Hardware houses are able to report that they are now in a position to deliver cer-tain lines of goods, notably builders' hard-ware, more promptly than they have done iately. There has been an unusually heavy demand in this line all summer, and during the same time that the jobbers were ship-ping out in large quantities, they were un-able to get fresh supplies from the fac-tories. This situation is somewhat relieved. The buying of winter lines is now more liberal and the buyers generally express a desire for early shipment. Brugs and Chemicals.

Drugs and Chemicals.

Drugs and Chemicals. Opium still continues decidedly strong. There has been no changes in quotations during the past week, though cablegrams from the opium producing countries indi-cate that the top of the market has not yet been reached. Quinine continues feature-less, at the lowest basis quoted in many years. The market is quiet, but steady. There has been a slight decrease in prices of menthol, and it is believed that further concessions will be made, though holders of stocks, in many cases, refuse to sell at quotations now in forre. There is a good consuming demand for gum arabic, which is showing up firmly. Peppermint oils have been reduced 5 cents a pound. Paints, Oils and Glass. Paints, Oils and Glass

Early in the week there was a drop of 2 cents a gailon on all grades of linseed, brought about by an easter feeling in the seed market. Throughout the west there is an active demand for oil, and for tur-pentine. The market on the latter is easter, but there has been no change in prices dur-ting the week. There is a larger demand for window glass and the market is firm.
